THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT

I. M. RICE, Ed. and Prop.

Thursday, April 12, 1906.

El L. Heath announced in last week's Cow Boy that he would run a partisan republican paper after July 4. Mr. Heath tried to convince the people around Cody two or three years ago that a man couldn't be honest and run a partisan paper. How about that Heath?

Considerable interest is taken this year throughout the state in the Omaha campaign for mayor. James C. Dahlman, the democratic candidate, is widely known over the state and his friends everywhere are hoping for his election. Mr. Dahlman, as mayor of Omaha, would increase the interest of people throughout the state in our metropolis and create a more friendly sentiment among the stockmen and others for that city. We hear much favorable comment of Mr. Dahlman and his early life in this part of the state. He came here 24 years ago, and, as book-keeper for an Indian trader at Pine Ridge agency; as stock inspector for the Wyoming Stock association, and as sheriff for six years of Daves county, he won the esteem of law-abiding citizens in his fearless discharge of duties, and did much toward the civilization of the northwest border counties. Jim is a whole souled individual whom the rich and poor alike delight in his company. Courteous and kindly to all, yet with a firm conviction and determination that is admired by his fellowmen.

Farm Land and Farmers in Cherry County

We notice a great many farmers buying new implements for farming and they are better able to buy now than they were when we first came to Cherry county. They are also doing better farming and make more money than formerly. Most of them seem to be in comfortable circumstances and are building better houses and barns. Cherry county soil produces abundantly and the tide of emigration has begun to come in. It will not be long until land will be more than $5 or $6 an acre. Improved farms are bringing $10 to $12 per acre now, and many are not for sale at all. The people who bought land in Holt county a few years ago have doubled their money—and more. It will be so in Cherry county a few years hence. Farmers should hold their farms. Land is getting scarce and soon there wont be any farms to homestead, suitable for farming without irrigation, and a farm watered by nature's rain belt will become more valuable than few have any idea of now.

The price of eastern farms has already gone so high that their value is computed on the per cent of income derived from the crop or annual yield at a lower rate than 6 per cent interest, since a farm is better property than a government bond. It is safely yours without worry of loss, with an increasing value itself and increasing value of products.

The limit of the farm has not yet been reached and each year the farmers learn how to make more out of an acre of ground than the preceding year. Farmers are also studying the value of different crops and the kind of crop that will make him the most in his particular locality. Better horses are being raised and cattle are being graded up. There may be a few fakirs that will reap a harvest here and there, taking advantage of farmers in their efforts to spend their profits to the best advantage to increase their already comfortable incomes. But where one fakir gets in his graft, a dozen or twenty will profit from improved conditions.

Many farmers are buying fruit trees since it has been learned that good, healthy apples grow here and that they are better than those grown in many places where they have so much trouble with insects, butterflies and blight.

Those who have farms for sale can list them at this office and we will offer a descriptive list of farms soon and will advertise them for sale. Bring the numbers of your land and a correct description of it for our records so that we may properly represent what you have for sale. Any other property you wish to sell can be advantageously advertised in this paper. tf
