The boys tell a good joke on a part of the number who went out for a ride in an automobile. Everything went well for a time and John Bachelor's team wasn't in it with the auto and he was going to sell it and buy a machine that wouldn't get tired when he got back home, but the automobile balked just about that time and the boys had to hoof it back to the street car to get back up town. John wouldn't give his team now for a car load of autos.
