Swift & Co., $15,000; Cudahy Packing Co., $15,000; Armour Packing Co., $15,000; Nelson, Morris & Co., $15,000; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R'y., $15,000. The maximum fine possible was $20,000.

George L. Thomas of New York was fined $6,000 and sentenced to four months in the penitentiary.

L. B. Taggart of New York was fined $4,000 and sentenced to three months in the penitentiary.

The corporations, that is, the men who compose the corporations, were just as guilty as the little fellows who went to the penitentiary. They are criminals of the very worst stamp, and yet, under the law made by a republican congress, they keep out of jail and run political parties as usual. Judges and juries may do their duty faithfully, but republican politicians in congress make it impossible to jail the big criminals.

ROOSEVELT TO BOMBASTO

"I have gone over your bill very carefully," said the president to Mr. Wadsworth; and then he proceeded to declare that certain words were in the bill which were not there, and that certain provision was not in the bill which was there. Then he berated Wadsworth in true cowboy fashion; charging him with bad faith and lack of integrity. But when Wadsworth resented the insult and proved that the president was mistaken, there was a very awkward apology and a shifting of ground, and hiding behind a scapegoat, as usual in a Rooseveltian fiasco. "Now," says the New York Evening Post, "this would be a sore discomfiture to a debater on the floor of the house, and when the president comes forward as practically such a debater, he cannot escape appearing discomfited also. But Roosevelt, the debater, rides off on the excuse of a sovereign that the blunder was not his, but that of his advisers. It was Beveridge that misled him. It was Reynolds whose sociological eye failed to find in the bill what the president now confesses was there all the time. Yes, but the president did not say that it was Beveridge and Reynolds who had carefully gone over the Wadsworth bill and found it "very, very bad." He used the "I" and that makes it difficult afterwards to say "they."

The net result of the whole business is that President Roosevelt has gone back to his friends, but has increased by three millions dollars the amount of patronage available to help the trust candidates for congress in Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska next fall, has strengthened the monopoly of the larger packers and hurt the little ones and the cattlemen very badly. The disciple of Kang Hi is a wonderful character.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

campaign committee assert positively that this will not be a money campaign. There will be no effort to get contributions from corporations, they declare."

That, however, hardly explains why President Roosevelt, Speaker Cannon and the other republican leaders objected to the passage by the House of Representatives of the Tillman bill which prohibited contributions from corporations to political parties which was passed by the Senate. Chairman Cortelyou and the other republican patriots who made the corporations "come down" in the last national campaign and who especially bled three life insurance companies of about $150,000 and how much more from others has, so far, not been discovered, are still holding the republican bag with a good deal of this tainted money in it, which will, we are told, be disbursed in the coming campaign instead of being returned to the widow and orphan fund from which it was filched. Such a committee, of course, would make "no effort to get contributions from corporations," but while the committee's morals have become impregnable, how about the corporations?

It would seem quite probable that the railroads, whose rates are to be regulated by the republican party, might insist on making their usual large contributions towards the success of g. o. p. The beef trust may think it advisable to be more liberal than usual, for are not the packing houses all to be inspected by a republican administration. The national banks have always furnished their share of the boodle to keep the party of great moral ideas in power. Does this explain the indifference of the president and the opposition of Speaker Cannon and the other republican leaders of the Tillman bill? The republican national and congressional committees must "fry the fat" out of somebody, or there would be virtually no republican campaign, and, of course, the president and speaker have been guided by the committee's counsel and they cannot shirk the responsibility for the smothering of the measure.

Every Niece and Nephew of Uncle Sam should be deeply interested in what he has said about soda crackers, because they are the one food with which all of them are familiar.

Uncle Sam has given out figures showing that soda crackers are richer in nutriment and body-building elements, properly proportioned, than any food made from flour.

This is saying much for common soda crackers, and much more for Uneeda Biscuit, because they are soda crackers of the best quality. They are baked better—more scientifically. They are packed better—more cleanly. The damp, dust and odor proof package retains all the goodness and nutriment of the wheat, all the freshness of the best baking, all the purity of the cleanest bakeries.

Your Uncle Sam has shown what food he thinks best for his people. His people have shown that they think Uneeda Biscuit the best of that food, nearly 400,000,000 packages having already been consumed.
