United in the holy bonds of wedlock were Mr. Albert Pike and Miss. Alice M. Gaskill, at high noon last Saturday, July 14, 1906, at the home of the bride's parents four miles west of this city.

Owing to the delicacy of the bride's health only a few of the nearest relatives, even, were chosen to witness the wedding ceremony so efficiently performed by Rev. Parsons of Crookston. But on the following day the father and mother of the bride prepared a sumptuous feast to which all relatives were invited, nineteen of whom availed themselves to be present and enjoy the "day of days" with this worthy young couple who so loyally received them, and appreciated so highly the many useful and beautiful presents brought them.

Mr. Pike will immediately take his bride to the cozy dwelling which he has provided for her, and there, her numerous friends trust will be erected a home of enduring hospitality, happiness and success.
