Organized labor in New York took advantage of the drift of popular sentiment the other day in a novel way. At Coeymans and Glasgoe, on the outskirts of Gotham, there has been intermittent warfare for twenty years between the employers and the unions, with the unions a poor second. Recently the employers appealed to the International Brick, Tile and Terra Cotta Workers, who, in turn, engaged former State Senator Cantor to prosecute the brick manufacturers for violations of the anti-trust laws, whereupon the latter capitulated, signed an agreement with the union and discontinued the alleged illegal practices.

During the first quarter of this year the average earnings of 333,000 workmen in New York State, according to the bulletin of the labor department, were $2.33 a day, or $212 for the quarter. No women or miners are included in this statement. The average wage for this period was $3. as compared with $2.88 for the same period last year. The extraordinary demand for labor is not confined to the building industry, where it is most marked, but is felt in all lines. The membership in labor unions now aggregates 394,270, an increase of 11,034 in the half year. The estimated cost of new buildings in New was $50,000,000.
