The Sunday World Herald.

The Omaha Sunday World-Herald has become a veritable magazine. It runs in size from 32 to 48 pages and costs only a dollar and a quarter a year by mail. Besides a vast amount of news, foreign, local and American. It contains a rich variety of splendid features. It is a splendidly illustrated weekly journal for every member of the household.

Sandy Griswold is its sporting editor, and he is famous. He fills a whole page and his matter is illustrated.

Uncle Ross is editor of the children's page—the greatest in the west. His articles and stories are illustrated by Butler, one of the World-Herald artists. Tens of thousands of children read this page every week and so do their parents.

George Ade is the greatest of American humorists. One of his funny side-splitting stories, with pictures, appears each Sunday.

Every issue has one of the famous cartoons by Spencer, the World-Herald's great cartoonist.

Every Sunday Frederic J. Haslin has a highly interesting article on one of the big things of America. These articles are educational and are attracting much attention.

There is always a page devoted to women—fashions, household hints and feminine matters generally.

A new novel begins on the first Sunday each month and ends on the last Sunday, occupying, with pictures, about 14 columns each Sunday. Each story will later appear in book form and sell for one dollar.

Market reports, live stock, grain and Wall street are complete and so is the news of the world.

The famous Roosevelt bears make their reappearance in the Sunday World-Herald on the first Sunday in February. They occupy a page and tell the story of their great trip abroad from Sunday to Sunday.

Send for a sample copy of the Sunday World-Herald, or better yet, send $1.25 and get it for a year. Address World-Herald, Omaha, Nebr.

Wood Lake

Thursday evening, Feb. 14, was the occasion of a delightful supper given at the church by the ladies of Woodlake, the purpose being to raise funds to defray the expense of the finishing and decorating recently done and which makes our church one of the prettiest in western Nebraska.

The reputation for excellent cooking which our housewives have won in the past was more than verified at this time.

The supper was a decided success both financially and socially. The good weather enabled many to come in from the country and several of our bachelor ranchmen did full justice to the good things provided.

The full amount needed to pay off the church debt was forthcoming and as we viewed the neatly and tastefully decorated walls and the finely finished woodwork it was a satisfaction to know the money was at hand to finish paying for it. The ladies who have been so tireless in working to this end deserve much credit. The net proceeds were $37.

Luck and Reputations.

"Nobody gifted with a sense of humor can fall to be diverted by the Pack-like manner in which luck makes and unmakes reputations for business ability," says Will Payne in Everybody's. "Years ago a gentleman named Jennings was an extensive owner of downtown real estate in Chicago. He was the first, I believe, to develop on a large scale the modern system of the ninety-nine year lease, whereby the owner insures to himself and his heirs for a century an absolutely fixed rental, free and clear of all charges. After Mr. Jennings had leased a lot of his lands for ninety-nine years a depression came on. Other people's incomes were curtailed, but his was stable. 'What foresight!' said the town. 'What sagacity!' 'What superb business judgment!' Mr. Jennings' views on the business situation and outlook were eagerly sought. The depression passed. Realty prices advanced immensely. The Jennings lots could have been leased at twice the rental named in the old indenture. The town shook its head sympathetically over poor Mr. Jennings' deplorable shortsightedness."

Woes of a Drummer.

"I'm just a little discouraged with my work," said the tall New York boy who has started out on the road. "I was making my second trip west when I met an old drummer who had been on the road for more than thirty years. He sat with grip between his knees and talked to me. 'Chuck it, my boy,' he said. 'If there is anything else in the world you can do, do it. Look at my gray hairs. I don't know what it is to have a home. For thirty years I have seen my wife about once in five weeks. I know that I've a wife and children in a flat in New York, but that's all I do know about them. The children have grown up and married, but I have not had time to attend their weddings. My wife has grown gray, too, but she has had the best of it. She has had a home and the children. If there is anything else in the world you can do, my boy,' he repeated, 'quit drumming and do it.'"

Curious Blunders.

Some remarkable mistakes in memorials have totally escaped notice until it was too late to rectify them. The spurs on the boots of Cromwell's statue at Westminster abbey, London, are the most interesting feature of the monument, although they generally get no attention at all from sightseers. They are worn upside down. In a painted window on the staircase which leads from the floor of Westminster palace to the committee rooms an inscription on a sword wielded by the "Black Prince" has the words "Prince of Wales." Again, in the fresco depicting the embarkation of the pilgrim fathers in the corridor leading from the outer lobby at St. Stephen's to the house of lords the Mayflower is shown to be hoisting the union jack, a flag which did not come into existence until 250 years after the days of the historic Mayflower.

The Scallop.

The scallop can anchor itself as well as any ship. It never fails to drop its anchor on the approach of rough weather. The scallop, lying in its bed of shooal water, foresees a storm in true sailor fashion and at once puts out a tough and elastic little cable from a point near its hinge. This cable it fastens firmly to the nearest rock. It is then secure in the vilest weather. He who wades through scallop haunted shoals as a storm approaches may see the tiny shellfish mooring themselves on all sides with silent bustle.
