Talk of the Town.

W. H. Wilkinson Dead.

Our friends and readers will be surprised and grieved to learn of the death of William Henry Wilkinson, who died at his home near Kennedy last Friday morning, March 1, 1907, of pneumonia. He had contracted a cold several weeks before, but thought he was getting better and went out among his music class before he was fully recovered, and another cold resulted in his final sickness and death. The family realized that he was growing worse during his last illness and against his protests finally telephoned for a doctor, and on Thursday night he was helped from his chair to the bed and grew steadily worse until morning when he passed away.

The funeral was held at the home Sunday, conducted by the Rev. J. Robert Beale of the Presbyterian church of Valentine, in the midst of neighbors and friends who came many miles to take a farewell look at their esteemed friend and worthy neighbor, among whom we might mention Grandpa and Grandma Wallingford, who formerly lived near Kennedy; Horace G. Wallingford and family, Dan Barnes and daughter Miss May, Enoch Barnes and family, Dan Adamson, Wm. Shelbourn and many others for miles around. Those country funerals where neighbors good and true, congregate en masse to bid adieu to one departed, make death an easier thing and comforts those who are bowed down in grief and sorrow.

Mr. Wilkinson was born in Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1837. In youth he moved with his parents to Rio, Wis., where he was married to Miss Carrie Hite of Illinois in 1868. Two years later they removed first to Iowa and then to Lyons, Neb. About 17 years ago they settled on the ranch at Kennedy.

Three daughters, a son and his faithful wife survive the deceased: Mrs. May Kaulitz of Goodland, Kan., Mrs. Amy Wells of Pilger, Nebr., Mrs. Frank Kime near Kennedy, and Ernest, the son, who has but recently taken a homestead adjoining the home place.

In the death of Mr. Wilkinson the family loses a faithful husband and indulgent father and the neighborhood a genial and hospitable neighbor. Many will remember him as an earnest, enthusiastic musician. For many years he has visited among the settlers giving lessons on the violin, mandolin, guitar, cornet, organ and piano. One of his sunny sayings as he greeted his friends was "how nice it is for two gentlemen to shake hands."

At Valentine, Monday morning, the remains were viewed by many old time friends and by the daughter, Mrs. Kaulitz, who arrived from Kansas the night previous, the other members of the family being also present, and the body was laid to rest in Mt. Hope cemetery with appropriate ceremonies, conducted by Rev. Beale.

THE DEMOCRAT joins with neighbors and friends in sympathy for the bereaved family.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Carrie Wilkinson, and her daughters and their families, and her son Ernest, desire most sincerely to express their thanks to the great number of friends, who in so many ways showed kindness and sympathy with them in their recent bereavement. To those who assisted in the preparation for burial, and to those who drove so far or helped so willingly, and to all who were present with them in their affliction, the bereaved family expresses their grateful appreciation.

C. C. Thompson called on us yesterday while in town and advertised an estray which he has taken up. Mr. Thompson is making preparations to go out west to visit his daughters this spring and will probably be away several months. A son-in-law has recently sold his mining interest in Klondike and will return home with a fortune.

WHITE STAR COFFEES

PURE,
DELICIOUS,
ECONOMICAL, AND HEALTHY

are the four essentials which characterize
WHITE STAR
COFFEES

PURE—Because there was not a single change to be made under the new pure food laws;
DELICIOUS—Because they possess that excellent flavor which only belongs to the White Star brand;
ECONOMICAL—Because they go farther in making a cup of coffee than any other coffee on the market; and—
HEALTHY—Because they are pure.
