

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better. The doctor, on the wrong treatment, but probably worse, a proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription directed to the cause would have effected the cure, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," run-down, debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

By Proxy.

He was a man with a large, rotund personality, and he stood at the head of a long line of impatient men, women and children who were waiting for a chance to pay their fares and get past the turnstile of the elevated railway at Madison and Wabash.

He was searching leisurely in his pockets for the necessary nickel, but it wasn't in any of them.

Finally he produced a $5 bill, which he slowly and methodically unfolded and passed over to the monopolist inside the ticket office.

"Dom his bastely hide!" fervently exclaimed a man with a strong Tipperary accent, half way down the line.

"O, you mustn't talk that way!" said a sweet, feminine voice directly behind him; "but thank you, ever so much!"—Chicago Tribune.

"But, Tommy," said his mother, "didn't your conscience tell you you were doing wrong?"

"Yes'm," replied Tommy, "but I don't believe everything I hear."—Philadelphia Press.

ELEVEN YEARS OF ECZEMA.

Hands Cracked and Bleeding—Nail Came Off of Finger—Cuticura Remedies Brought Prompt Relief.

"I had eczema on my hands for about eleven years. The hands cracked open in many places and bled. One of my fingers was so bad that the nail came off. I had tried so many remedies, and they all had failed to cure me. I had seen three doctors, but got no relief. Finally I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent Pills. Of course I keep Cuticura Soap all the time for my hands, but the one cake of Soap and half a box of Cuticura Ointment cured them. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all suffering with eczema. Mrs. Eliza A. Willey, R. F. D. No. 2, Liscomb, Ia., Oct. 18, 1906."

A Bumper Crop.

A Kansas man was telling stories with reference to the propensity of farmers to overstate the size of their wheat-crops, says a writer in the Sunday Magazine. He told of an elderly man in "Popok," who was engaged in the hardware business. A farmer, who was always giving skillfully padded accounts of his wheat-harvest, called on the hardware dealer one day, and began his usual boasting.

"You don't tell me!" was the polite rejoinder of the hardware man. "Well, I have been doing some farming this year myself."

"I didn't know that," said the farmer. "I always supposed your interests were confined to the city. So you have a farm, eh? What do you raise?"

"Wheat, just wheat," was the reply. "Good crop this year?"

"Fine!"

"How many bushels?"

"I don't know just how many bushels," replied the hardware man, in a slow, hesitating tone, calculated to impress every word upon his listener; "but my men stacked all they could outdoors, and then stored the rest of it in the barn."

Almost Envious.

In 1885 there was a great celebration in London in honor of Dr. Samuel Johnson, and among those in attendance was the Australian "crack" cricketer, Bonner, then at the height of his fame.

As one of the guests, says the compiler of the recently published "Letters" of the late Dr. George Birkbeck Hill, Bonner's health was proposed. His response was noteworthy.

"After seeing the way in which Dr. Johnson's memory is revered," he said, with great simplicity, "I am not sure that I would not rather have been such a man than have gained my own great triumphs in cricket."

TWO TERRIBLE YEARS.

The Untold Agonies of Neglected Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. James French, 65 Weir street, Taunton, Mass., says: "When I began using Doan's Kidney Pills I was so run down and miserable that I could hardly endure it. Terrible pains in the back attacked me frequently, and the kidney secretions were much disordered. I was a nervous wreck, and there seemed no hope. Doan's Kidney Pills brought my first relief and six boxes have so thoroughly cured my kidneys that there has been no return of my old trouble."

The Story of a Charm.

A titled English lady has a story of a woman who had a little Japanese charm given her. Every time she wore it some mischance happened, and she generally fell ill. Her son at last took the jewel to the keeper of the Japanese curios in the Paris museum and requested to be informed what the charm represented. "This," said the expert at once, "is the emblem of sickness." The woman never wore it again.

The Walter's Explanation.

"I'll have some poached eggs this morning," said the thesplan, as he seated himself at the breakfast table.

"Very sorry, sah," replied the dusky waiter, "but our eggs won't poach."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, sah, you see, dis is a 'dog town' where de theater folks comes to try dere plays, and consequently de condition of de eggs is such as to evade poachin', sah."—Yonkers Statesman.

COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL

CHICAGO.

Sustained improvement in the prominent industries imparted a more buoyant tone to current activity. Much of this is due to the favorable weather transition, which is not only proving highly beneficial to the crops, but has also induced unprecedented strength into the leading lines of retail trade here and throughout the interior. Stocks of seasonable goods now undergo sharp and widespread reduction and the fear of carrying over too largely is a diminishing factor. Wholesale dealings for general merchandise, clothing and hardware, there is also an unusually large number of visiting buyers in the markets for general merchandise, and orders by the road salesmen indicate that country storekeepers in the Chicago tributary region do not curtail in their selections of fall and winter needs.

Failures reported in the Chicago district number 22, against 14 last week and 25 a year ago.—Dun's Review of Trade.

NEW YORK.

Long awaited seasonable weather has further improved retail trade and crops, slightly enlarged reorder business with jobbers and made for more confidence in the placing of orders for future delivery. In some sections also collections have responded in a measure to more favorable influences, but payments are still backward. Taking the wholesale trades generally there is a rather more quiet tone perceptible, part of it due to the smaller than expected reorder business and also to the advance of the season of midsummer quiet. There is a disposition this year, more perhaps than in recent years, to await clearer indications of the output of the growing crops, and there is less assurance as to booking ahead in many lines than was quoted at this time in 1906, but the trade situation proper unquestionably shows a more optimistic feeling than was possible a few weeks ago.

Business failures for the week ending June 20 number 163, against 161 last week and 173 in the like week of 1906. Canadian failures were thirteen, against twenty-two last week and nineteen a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada aggregated 2,850,222 bushels, against 3,376,902 last week and 1,750,609 this week last year; for the last fifty-one weeks of the fiscal year 167,172,082 bushels, against 132,716,994 in 1905-6. Corn exports were 988,832 bushels, against 783,455 last week and 522,967 a year ago; for the fiscal year to date, 70,520,313 bushels against 109,380,293 in 1905-6.—Bradstreet's Commercial Report.

WHY ORCHARD CONFESSED.

He Claims It Was for Relief of Conscience and Not for Reward.

Of no less absorbing interest than the story of his crimes was the testimony which Orchard, the multi-assassin, gave in the final stage of his cross-examination at Boise, Idaho. He wept when he told how he came to confess. In opening this part of the cross-examination Richardson tried to show that coercion had been attempted by the penitentiary authorities to obtain a confession from Orchard after his arrest for the Steunenberg assassination. Orchard testified that he was placed in a new cell house, in a steel cage, with solid walls and steel-barred doors. He was taken to the penitentiary without his consent and not advised as to his rights. He was permitted to speak only to the guard and to the man in the next cell, who was Bob Wetter, a condemned murderer. His meals were served in the cell. He was not allowed to exercise nor leave his cell, nor was he permitted to read books or papers. After about ten days Detective McPartland visited the penitentiary and Orchard was taken to the clerk's office to talk with him. He did not know who he was, until he was told that the visitor was a Pinkerton detective. He complained to McPartland about the treatment he was receiving and they had a mutual talk about their past lives, McPartland telling him about his part in the Molly Maguire affair. Later McPartland talked about the Bible, telling how King David was a murderer and had repented and how St. Paul had been transformed from a bad man into a good one. McPartland told him about "Kelly, the Bum," who was implicated in the Molly Maguire outrages and was permitted to leave the country after turning State's evidence. Orchard said McPartland had not been the first to turn him to thoughts of religion; he had been thinking about them himself. McPartland told Orchard that he believed he had something to do with the Steunenberg murder and that he was aided by officers of the Western Federation of Miners, but made no promise to him if he would confess.

Richardson took Orchard back to his boyhood in Canada and had him tell that he went to a Methodist Sunday school when a boy and to church with his mother and his first wife. He attended Quaker meetings with his mother and had also gone to Christian Endeavor meetings. He never belonged to the Salvation Army. Returning to the first visit with McPartland he said the detective upon leaving told him to think over his past life. The next time the detective came he told Orchard he could do the State and country a great deal of good and that the State usually acted fair with its witnesses. Orchard said he knew what McPartland was after and had no faith in what he said about the State's treatment of its witnesses. On the third visit Orchard commenced to tell the detective some of his wrong doings. McPartland then told Orchard he was a tool of the Western Federation. About this time he had made up his mind to tell all, as he did not care to live any longer. In fact he was tempted to kill himself. He did not want to put the crime on anybody else, but had thought of his past life and what a monster he had been. He did not care much what happened to him and yet he was afraid to die, for he believed the grave did not end it all. A Bible was sent to him by a missionary society in Chicago, and after reading in it he came to the conclusion that he would be forgiven if he freely repented and made a clean breast of his crimes. Since that time he has never been in doubt. He had told Steve Adams, who by this time had been brought to the penitentiary also and occupied the same cell as Orchard, that he intended to kill himself with the crystal of his watch, by cutting an artery. He said he belonged to Colburn Lodge of Masons and knew that Peabody, Bell, Goddard and others whose lives he sought to take were high degree Masons, but did not know that Steunenberg was. Even after he confessed he contemplated suicide. His confession he believed to be a duty to God, country, society and himself. He did not get this language from McPartland. Steve Adams was arrested on the strength of Orchard's confession. Upon his promise to the penitentiary authorities he urged Adams to make a confession and said that the truth would come out some time. He told Adams then that if he ever got out he would "cross the pond," meaning that he would go to Europe. He did not say this because any promise of escape had been held out to him. He had never received a promise of immunity.

Three obnoxious laws were repealed by the Russian duma, as follows: Providing for the punishment of persons expressing approval of political crimes; excluding from military service persons accused of political crimes, or under suspicion, and penalizing private instruction in Poland. The duma voted for the abolition of the re-establishment of field court-martial for the punishment of civilians implicated in spreading revolutionary ideas in the army.

The stakes amount to $32,500, and Mr. Croker is said to have won $100,000 additional in bets at the prevailing odds of 10 to 1.

It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Nothing Too Good For the American People

There is NOTHING TOO GOOD for the American people—that's why we started to make Cascarets Candy Cathartic. The first box made its appearance in 1896, and the enthusiastic endorsement of the people has been bestowed upon Cascarets ever since. The sale today is at the rate of OVER A MILLION BOXES A MONTH, proving that the American people recognize, that what is BEST FOR THEM is none too good.

Why this enormous patronage?

The answer is simple: Cascarets are pure, clean, sweet, mild, fragrant, harmless but effective little tablets for the treatment and cure of Constipation and all Bowel Troubles. They are put up in neat little enamel boxes, easy to buy, easy to carry (in vest-pocket or purse), easy to take and easy of action, always reliable, always the same, they "work while you sleep" and wake you up feeling fine in the morning.

They not only regulate the movement and stimulate the muscular walls of the bowels, but they keep the ENTIRE CANAL CLEAN and antiseptic, forcing out and destroying all disease germs that breed in the accumulated filth unless promptly and regularly discharged. Therefore, they are a great preventive of disease, and may be taken continuously as a precautionary measure.

The new Pure Drug Act, adopted by Congress on June 30, 1906, and in effect January 1, 1907, is a GOOD LAW and means better and PURER drugs for the American People. We endorse it and will live up to it in SPIRIT and LETTER—an easy task, as we have always been actuated by the same principles and no changes are required in our formula or packaging.

We adopted OUR OWN PURE DRUG LAW in 1896 when the first box of Cascarets came on the market and have lived and worked and produced under it ever since.

To-day, after a record of nearly 100,000,000 boxes sold, Cascarets STAND the greater in PURITY, QUALITY and MEDICINAL MERIT than any other preparation for Bowel trouble in all the world.

This should be a great argument for any one, to try Cascarets AT ONCE, and be healthier and happier for it. Some people have CHRONIC CONSTIPATION with all the horrors derived from it; others have HABITUAL CONSTIPATION from carelessness and neglect, but nearly EVERYBODY has OCCASIONAL CONSTIPATION, which, if not promptly taken care of is liable to result in its degeneration into the worse forms and cause great suffering and perhaps death.

Cascarets, if taken patiently and regularly, will remedy all of these awful troubles, but if taken promptly at the very first sign of an irregularity of the bowels, will act as the FINEST PREVENTIVE ever discovered and will keep all the machinery running in good order.

We advise you to get a little 10c box of Cascarets TO-DAY and carry it in your purse or vest pocket. Take one when you feel anything unusual about your bowels. Your own druggist will sell you the little box, under GUARANTY of satisfaction or money refunded. All druggists, 10c, 25c, 50c.
