During the past few weeks THE DEMOCRAT has been filled with campaign material and many news items were either cut short or omitted entirely and some correspondence also was left out to meet the demands of the campaign, and for which we now beg pardon of our readers who may have been disappointed in not finding the usual amount of locals.

L. C. Sparks spent several days up the road last week on business, stopping at Gordon and Cody where he was reminded of his engagement to speak on the immigration question by seeing a copy of THE DEMOCRAT and hastened home on the local. We learn that the talk was so acceptable that Mr. Sparks has been requested to speak again on that subject at the Presbyterian church at some future date not yet selected. (This item was crowded out last week.)

The ninth graders enjoyed a very pleasant time last Thursday evening at the home of L. C. Sparks where they were royally entertained after a jolly ride around town in a big wagon with a hayrack on, during which time they made the air ring with joyous laughter and school yells. Punch was served from a huge pumpkin, sandwiches and cake in orange colored baskets and a big basket of chocolate placed conveniently for all to sweeten a tooth. During the entertainment they told ghost stories and soon departed for another ride in the big wagon with kind remembrances of Mr. and Mrs. Sparks for their pleasant entertainment.
