The I. O. O. F. gave a banquet last Saturday night to a lot of Ainsworth and Woodlake members who came up to help initiate eight new members that were taken into this lodge. A banquet was served at the Valentine House at 11:30 to 75 persons. Work at the Fraternal hall was again resumed, and, after the Third degree work was finished, the lodge enjoyed a good time visiting and at social games, meanwhile Geo. Corbin furnished music on one of his new style pianos. Some of the boys formed into a quartet and gave a grand concert to the remainder of the audience. During the early part of the evening the whole crowd was taken to the wrestling match at Church's hall. They departed on the early morning train for their homes with promises to return next summer to an Odd Fellows picnic. Our local Odd Fellows are royal entertainers and provided liberally for the comfort of their guests.

Many Color Lines in Cuba. There are social distinctions in Cuba based upon color. There is not one but several color lines, though these are not eternal, hard, fast and unchangeable, as in the United States. In Cuba social life is run largely by social clubs. There are in almost every town and village negro clubs, two or three grades of mulatto clubs and white clubs. In one and at its functions may appear the husband, excluding the wife; in another, the wife, but not the husband; in a third, their children, but neither the father nor mother. To the world this will appear incredible, almost incomprehensible. Here it is convention, fixed, settled, accepted and operative. These distinctions, however, run but for a lifetime. —Aray and Navy Life.

Too Much For Him. "Andrew," said a devoted wife to her husband, "I want a hundred." "A hundred what?" exclaimed the husband. "Dollars," she replied calmly. "What for?" "Oh, a whole lot of things." "Um-um," he hesitated. "I guess I shall have to check your extravagance, my dear." "Do," she smiled, "and make it payable to my order, please." He collapsed then and there.—Brooklyn Citizen.

The Persian Language. Persian is said to be not a very difficult language. The modern Persian is very much like the English in its sensible rejection of the inflections that burden so many of the world's tongues. There is no difference of termination to mark the gender either in nouns or adjectives, and all inanimate things are neuter. In other ways the Persian language conforms to the English.

WM. FUGATE, Champion Middleweight of Iowa and Nebraska.

The wrestling match between Wm. Fugate and Jack O'Leary last Saturday night was pulled off early in the evening to permit the Odd Fellows to attend in a body, beginning at 7:30. O'Leary got the first fall in 20 minutes and the next two were given to Fugate in about 8 minutes each. John Stetter was referee and Ben Bachelor time-keeper.

Lee Bennett and Al Christensen wrestled, each getting a fall in the preliminary bout, and they had one to go after the main event which drew the attention of the people. Bennett won and got a purse of two dollars.
