Jas. H. Quigley, John Bachelor and Jas. Galloway were down to Omaha last week, purchasing fine stock which they brought to put on their ranches. We notice Mr. Galloway has four fine black cows with good bull calves.

While in Omaha last week we saw several of Valentine and Cherry county people. Al Metzger went down from Valentine with the delegates from here and his brother Will and a sister met him in Omaha. J. F. Young of Cody and W. A. Parker of Wood Lake were also on the same train, together with O. W. Hahn and L. C. Sparks of Valentine. Frank Curry and C. H. Tully were also on the train, going to Omaha. They own the Chesnut and the Morey & Huett ranches in the western part of this county. Mr. Tully tells us that he was one of the organizers of the Red Front store in Valentine years ago and run that store in the early days. Many of the early settlers here remember him. There were 20 people from Cherry county in Omaha.

We are requested to announce that there will be a grand circle wolf hunt Sat. Mar. 21, taking in the territory located between the Niobrara river and the Railroad the west line being about five miles west of Crookston. Everybody is invited to participate. For further information apply to John Adamson, Henry Porath, Max E. Viertel, W. F. A. Meltendorf and Ted Ormasher who will organize the respective lines. If you don't attend this hunt you will miss the best thing of the season. The center of the drive will be about four miles south of Crookston where the different lines are expected to meet to complete the circle. No rifles or six shooters are permitted to be used on account of the danger but bring your shot guns.

Nels Rowley came to town yesterday, and today brought a big grey wolf skin, with head and fore feet attached, to our office. Mr. Rowley intends having the skin made into a rug with head and fore feet mounted as memento. This wolf measures over six feet from tip of nose to tip of tail and weighed about 125 pounds. A pair of these wolves had been doing mischief in the Kennedy neighborhood for some time and Mr. Rowley had called Dan Sears and Will Piercy a few days previous, asking them to join in a wolf hunt as soon as there was a tracking snow, which came last Saturday, and they got together for their hunt, which resulted in the capture of this wolf with the aid of dogs and guns. The biggest of the two which were jumped up was shot and crippled in the foot but he was yet able to whip the dogs and get away before the men could get near enough to lend assistance to the encounter. The party also got three coyotes, beside the big grey wolf.
