FARM AND GARDEN

Protect the meadows when they are soft. Tramping injures them.

For a healthy growth of chicks, a warm, dry and sunny room will compensate for a lack of sunshine.

There is absolutely nothing in common between a dirty cream separator and a gift edged butter product.

In training a horse to walk fast he is not injured in the least for any other gait and can be taught to trot and gallop just as well as before.

The very first symptom of kicking should lead us to dispose of the animal that does it. Life is precious. Never risk it with a horse that kicks.

When a horse gets to gnawing at a manger the best thing to do is to cover everything gnawable with tin. Better do it before the habit is formed, however.

It will be very likely the same chap who failed to test his seed corn before planting it who will be benumbing his hand luck and cursing the weather and Providence next election time.

When an egg containing a live germ is surrounded by a lot of eggs containing dead ones, it is in no condition to get the proper heat, and will have to be a very vigorous germ if it hatches out at all.

In proportion to contents, there is more shell surface in a small egg than a large one, so that to run an incubator to suit the small egg will be too damp for the larger ones, where moisture is used, and vice versa.

Flax undoubtedly has a place as a subduer of newly broken soils, but is a curse when used anywhere else. In European countries, where this plant is raised year after year and primarily for its fiber, an intensive system of agriculture is followed, together with a heavy fertilizing of the soil.

Because some farmers are not getting rich after having had telephones installed for some years, is no argument against the phone. The telephone has simply put him in a position to meet competition of other business men who have taken advantage of the service which may be gained over the wires.

Don't forget in starting the incubator to clean out the heat or flue pipe into which the lamp chimney extends, to put in a brand new wick, to clean all the parts of the lamp thoroughly, having the burners as near as possible as bright as when they are new. Use good sewing machine oil on all the bearing parts of the machine after first carefully removing the dust and dirt.

A simple system of crop rotation that is generally recommended and that not only tends to conserve the fertility of the soil, but results in a maximum destruction of weeds, consists of corn two years, oats one and clover one. Coupled with the points mentioned, the clover, in addition to being a soil renovator, imparts a physical texture that makes it possible to put it in the best possible condition for succeeding crops of whatever kind.

The farmer and gardener, even though he may not have an aesthetic taste which would cause him to protect bird life for its sake alone, if he has but a thought for the size of his pocketbook will do all he can to shield the birds of the community in which he lives from their many enemies. Never before has the place of the birds in the system of nature's economy been more fully appreciated than now and never so high a value placed on the service which they render to man.

In judging horses, like men, you can generally depend a good deal on your first impression. When the first impression is good, you may sometimes discover things that for a while will lead you to think contrary to your first conclusion. However, later on there will, as a rule, be discovered evidences to support the good impression at first gained. By the same process one may start with a poor impression, be argued into a better impression and possibly discover too late that the horse business is fraught with many disappointments.

We are learning that cattle are sure to take the feed we give them if they are lean and in poor rig and lay it on their backs, first of all; then after they are in good condition they will apply the surplus to the milk pail. It is always the surplus that we get. And there will be no surplus if we keep our cows just on the verge of hunger. The Farmers' Voice well says that it is the cow which has been kept well that puts the money in our pockets. Cows poorly treated are our farm charges, to be maintained at the cost of what the best cows do. There should be no such charges; every cow should be a producer.

Keeping the Soil Loose. Until the ears of corn shall be well filled out, the crop may depend on one or two showers. If the rain shall fall a day or two before the silk appears the corn grains will be full. The crop is one that is subject to many circumstances, but rain at the proper time will make a great difference. This shows the importance of keeping the surface of the soil loose, thus affording a mulch and preventing loss of moisture.

Cattle Short, Meat Up.

The report comes from Chicago that dearth of shipments of the prime grade of cattle is responsible for the advance on meats, according to the packers. They assert that competition for the choice cuts is stronger now than before the financial pinch. Beef, veal and pork have been soaring upward in price for a week, but with "dressed sheep" quoted at 13 cents a pound to the wholesaler, chicken is cheaper than lamb or mutton chops.

George Duddleston, a veteran wholesale dealer in the meat business in Chicago since 1870, says this is the first time sheep have been quoted at 13 cents. Dressed beef has advanced $1 a hundred. The latest jump in lamb and mutton was from 3 to 5 cents, and pork was increased 2 cents a pound. Veal is the only meat that has not increased.

Profit in Poultry.

One farmer down East, in order to find out where the leaks and where the gains were, kept an exact account with every department of his farm. He discovered that he was losing money on his beef cattle, that hogs just paid for themselves, that sheep were good if his lambs came early, and that the poultry made the largest per cent of profit of any feature of his farm. The result was that he quit fooling with beef and hogs and put more money and time into poultry. The increased prosperity on that farm was so marked that he wrote out for publication his experience.

Because a hen is small and a steer is big is a child's reason for having contempt for the former and respect for the latter, says Farmers' Voice. One of the biggest money makers in the world is the street car business, which depends entirely upon its income of 5-cent sales. A stick of chewing gum costs but a penny, yet just recently a syndicate was organized with over $1,000,000 capital to make "trust chewing gum." It will pay the farmer and his wife to consider the money there may be made in poultry if wisely directed. Organize the hen on a business basis; put up new, clean, airy quarters; get proper egg-making feeds; learn the value of cleanliness, light, warmth and sunshine in winter; get a good incubator and control your hatches so that you will have winter layers, broilers, etc., when they are most profitable. You will soon learn that for the money invested and labor required, the hen is the most economical and highly efficient converter of rough feeds into money you have ever tried.

Farm Profession.

It is well in the higher education that the candidates for all professions drink at the fountain of common knowledge. It is only after acquiring an education that the mind is broadened to choose a profession adapted to its innate taste and qualifications. It were better that the young man make a good lawyer or pharmacist than an indifferent farmer. The professions need to be recuperated from the sources of natural supply, which embrace natural qualifications inherited from national character. The fact that a boy is born on the farm does not necessarily destine him for an agriculturist, and education will bring out his latent talents and reveal to himself the profession to which he is best adapted.

The inhabitants of cities are made up of a population from all sources. The city-born boy may inherit the instinct of a farmer and find his greatest success in life in following husbandry. He wants to get back to nature and live the simple life, free from the strife and tumult of a great city. He should be encouraged to follow his natural inclination and achieve the destiny for which he is qualified by nature.

While philosophy and general knowledge are taught in the public schools, the general curriculum should include a primary course in agriculture. A profession which includes nearly one-third of the population and produces more wealth than any other occupation should be exploited in the public schools. So indolently is agriculture associated with national prosperity in all governments of the world that the leading nations of Europe have added a primary course in agriculture to the common school curriculum. If it accomplishes no other good it will inspire attention to the benefits of farm life as a vocation to many who are pre-eminently adapted to the profession. It gives every boy a chance to see the advantages of husbandry and an opportunity to decide to follow agriculture or some other profession. To one who is adapted to agriculture husbandry is the most exalted and independent of the professions, but to one with innate talents for some other vocation farming will prove a failure.—Goodall's Farmer.

Marriage Dickered in Hungary.

In some parts of Hungary it is the custom for the bridegroom to pay a sum to the bride's parents, and in case the parties cannot agree, the mayor acts as arbitrator. A mayor, who is a cattle dealer, recently had to decide a case of this kind, and after inspecting the bride decided that the bridegroom must pay the parents at the rate of half a crown for each pound that the bride weighed. The verdict was accepted, and the woman weighing eighty-six pounds, the bridegroom handed over the equivalent of $53.75, after which the wedding ceremony was performed.

ALMOST A MIRACLE.

Raised Up When Science Said There Was No Hope.

C. W. L. Nesbitt, Depot street, Marion, Ky., writes: "I was a chronic invalid with kidney troubles and often wished death might end my awful sufferings. The secretions were thick with sediment, my 11 in. b.s. swollen and my right side so nearly paralyzed I could not raise my hand above my head. The doctor held out no hope of my recovery and I had given up, but at last started using Doan's Kidney Pills and made a rapid gain. After three months' use I was well and at work again."

FAMILY'S SKIN TROUBLES.

Eczema, Heat Rash, and Scalp Affections Affect Different Members, but Cuticura Cures Them.

"My wife had eczema for five or six years. It was on her face and would come and go. We thought we would give the Cuticura Remedies a trial. We did so and she has never had a sign of eczema for four years. I myself used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment some time ago for falling hair. I now have a very heavy head of hair. We used Cuticura Remedies for our baby, who was nearly bald when young. She has very nice hair now. She is very fleshy, and we had so much trouble with heat that we would bathe her with Cuticura Soap and then apply Cuticura Ointment, it would dry the heat up so much quicker than anything else. A Remedy for Neuralgia or Pain in Nerves.

For neuralgia and sciatica Sloan's Liniment has no equal. It has a powerfully sedative effect on the nerves—penetrates without rubbing and gives immediate relief from pain—quickens the circulation of the blood and gives a pleasant sensation of comfort and warmth.

"For three years I suffered with neuralgia in the head and jaws," writes J. P. Hubbard, of Marietta, S. C., "and had almost decided to have three of my teeth pulled, when a friend recommended me to buy a twenty-five-cent bottle of Sloan's Liniment. I did so and experienced immediate relief, and I kept on using it until the neuralgia was entirely cured. I will never be without a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in my house again. I use it also for insect bites and sore throat, and I can cheerfully recommend it to any one who suffers from any of the ills which I have mentioned."

Mobility.

Mrs. Vick-Son's eyes flashed, "Johnny doesn't get that weak chin of his from my side of the house," she exclaimed.

"No, my dear," modestly responded he, "Johnny has my chin, but he inherits his mother's tireless capacity for keeping it in motion."

BUYING PAINT BLINDLY.

Many people look upon paint buying as a lottery and so it is, the way they go to it. It is not necessarily so, however. Pure White Lead and Linseed Oil are the essential elements of good paint. Adulterants in white lead can be easily found by the use of a blowpipe. Adulterations in linseed oil can be detected with a fair degree of certainty. See that these two elements are pure and properly put on and the paint will stay put.

National Lead Company, Woodbridge Building, New York City, will send a blowpipe outfit and instructions for testing both white lead and linseed oil, on request.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public."

"Forty-two years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had chosen different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

How to Exercise the Bowels

Your Intestines are lined inside with millions of little suckers, that draw the Nutrition out of food as it passes them. But, if the food passes too slowly, it decays before it gets through. Then the little suckers draw Poison from it instead of Nutrition. This Poison makes a Gas that injures your system more than the food should have nourished it. You see, the food is Nourishment or Poison, just according to how long it stays in transit.

MY CASCARET POCKET

MY WATCH POCKET

Cascarets are as safe to use constantly as they are pleasant to take. They are purposely put up like candy, so you must eat them slowly and let them go down gradually with the saliva, which is in itself, a fine, natural Digestive.
