Democratic National Ticket

For President:
W. J. BRYAN
of Nebraska.

For Vice President:
J. W. KERN
of Indiana.

Democrats Take Notice.

The Democrats will please bear in mind that we have no candidate for county attorney—the republican party has three who are all wanting the nomination at the coming primary election. It is their fight and not ours. Remember we have state officers to nominate and it is necessary for all Democrats to vote directly for their party candidates, as under the primary law in casting your ballot you must declare yourself a democrat, republican, prohibition, or socialist; in such declaration you are handed a ballot by one of the election judges to vote. Do not say to yourself, well we have no candidate for county attorney I will help Heath, Tucker, or Easley, as your choice may dictate. In so doing you will not vote your party ticket.

Have you read about the republican State Auditor, E. M. Searle, being arrested in the "red light district" of Lincoln? We believe if the search light was put into operation we would find a worse condition than existed under the reign of Bartley, Moore, Savage, Dietrick and a host of other like republican scoundrels.

Already some manufacturers are putting up posters telling what good things will happen after election if Taft is elected. The tariff will be revised after election; the laborer will get better treatment after election; the campaign contributions will be published after election; the suckers will bite—before election. Now honestly doesn't that old gag make you tired? Why haven't all these things been done before?—It does seem that the people have heard so much of what would be done after election that its force would be spent. The people are not going to swallow it this time—third time and out.

Mr. Taft Against Guaranteed Deposits.

In his speech of acceptance Mr. Taft puts himself squarely on record as being opposed to guaranteed deposits. He says: "The democratic platform recommends a tax upon national banks and upon such state banks as may come in, in the nature of enforced insurance to raise a guaranty fund to pay the depositors of any bank which fails. The proposal is wholly impracticable unless it is to be accompanied by a complete revolution in our banking system, with a supervision so close as practically to create a government bank. If the proposal were adopted exactly as the democratic platform suggests, it would bring the whole banking system of the country down to ruin." Why seek to confuse the people on a simple proposition? We are supposed to have government supervision of national banks now. Supervision does not mean a government bank; it simply means that the national bank inspectors will do just as they are expected to do under existing law—make their examination of banks thorough and make prompt and effective correction of any irregularities discovered. So it will be difficult to frighten the people by the claim that guaranteed deposits means thorough supervision of banks. That's just exactly what the people want.

It is absurd to say that guaranteed deposits would "bring the whole banking system of the country down to ruin."

What does "guarantee deposits" mean? It means that the savings of the masses shall be secured so that when men and women deposit their hard-earned money in banking institutions, they need not worry for fear it will be lost through the recklessness and dishonesty of bank officials. The federal government demands of these banks security for the money it deposits. As a rule state governments and county governments and municipal governments make similar requirements. But now that it is proposed that depositors generally shall have some such assurance for the safe keeping of their wealth, we are told by the republican candidate for presidency that the adoption of such a plan "would bring the whole banking system of the country down to ruin."

It is to save the banking business and to save the people's money that the plan of guaranteed deposits is advocated by democrats. It is strange that Mr. Taft and the big bankers for whom he speaks can not see that the guaranteed deposits system is absolutely necessary for the prevention of panics, for safe keeping of the money of the masses and for the preservation of the banking business in the hands of individuals.—Commoner.

In one of the fastest baseball games of the season Valentine defeated Ainsworth last Thursday 4 to 3.

Mrs. G. A. Heitman of Pender, Nebr., says Mr. Neal Nye will make a splendid senator. Mr. Nye is a gentleman of culture and refinement, one of the best real estate agents in Nebraska and vice president of the Pender National Bank. Mr. Nye is running for senator on the socialist ticket.

The Dennison, Iowa, baseball team, who is touring the northwestern part of this state will play our local team here the 26th. The Dennison boys are fast ball players and Valentine people will have a chance to see one of the best games of the season. We all know what our boys can do when we get down to business and with our pitcher, Luke, who will pitch this game, will give the Dennison boys a run for their money.

Ainsworth played Valentine yesterday on the local diamond and defeated our boys in a score of 11 to 3. Some blamed the "human hat pin" as they called the umpire whom they blamed for rank decisions. But the Hat Pin got angry and ordered any of 'em to come out and scrap with him so they say. Our boys got beat and there are a lot of boys sore that bet their money on the home team. We're sorry that we can't play the game out on paper but space forbids.

Knows How To Vote.

The Standard editor heard an argument one day last week between two farmers that puts to sleep all the arguments written by the greatest editors of the country or all the speeches made by stump orators. After talking a while one of them said: "I'll admit that prices of cattle and grain have been more satisfactory during the past few years than for some years back, but consider the reasons. It is because there has been a shortage of crops in certain sections of the country and our war period, disturbances in foreign lands, which has created a demand for our products, horses, cattle etc. But on the other hand look where prices on everything we have to buy have soared. Almost out of sight; while taxes have increased, until we almost have to pay in taxes rent on the land. You undertake to do a little building and see where you will land. Why one of our local lumber dealers told me the other day that he had to pay $14 per 1000 feet freight on lumber shipped in here, and that coal that cost him $2.00 per ton at the mines, he had to pay $4.50 per ton for freight to get it here, and we all know that it is the republican party that fosters corporation and the railroads and all the rest of the great money factions of the country. I have been voting the republican ticket because I believed they meant what they said about reducing taxes and railroad rates and making the big trusts let up on oppressing the people, but they have lied, and never intended doing what they promised. The decision of the court of appeals on the Standard Oil Co. last week proves all this. The republican party is long on promises and d—m short on performances. I shall vote for W. J. Bryan and dozens of my neighbors will do likewise, as it is impossible to worse ourselves and we stand a rattling good chance of getting something better."—Rushville Standard.

I. M. Rice and John Lynde returned Tuesday evening from a trip through the country south to the lakes, Kennedy and Brownlee country. They enjoyed splendid fishing at Hackberry lake, stopped at the homes of Milt Latta and E. Stillwell. They found people busy putting up hay between showers of rain and at Kennedy visited W. M. Erickson one of the early settlers of Cherry County who together with Chas. Sherman and Nels Rowley were the first to settle in that part of the county. W. M. Erickson now owns a fine home which when completed will be one of the best in that section of the country. D.M. Sears was working a lot of men that know how to put up hay. Ed Richards and the Piercy brothers were busy haying. Along the way toward Brownlee we came upon a lonely windmill tower that had recently been built but the wheel had blown off and lay at the foot of the tower.

"John Lynde," I said, "please make a note of what you see prophetic."
"That was he said: 'I cannot quote that which is not poetic.'"

In verses then I set this down,
The sight that met my vision:
When I can't drink I do not frown,
But John laughed in derision.

Near to a sand hill on the flat
There stood the windmill tower;
The well was useless but stood pat,
Nor watered beast nor flower.

The weary traveler in this dell
Marked it as well the first,
And water from this lonely well
Had often quenched his thirst.

The lowing herds that found this well
Convenient to their grazing,
Now bellow mournfully to tell
Their thirst which is amazing.
