Tom-Tom, the largest elephant on earth, is considered by scientists, to be of the Mastodon specie. He is three inches higher than Jumbo, the Barnum elephant, and is of the India type. His like has never been known before and undoubtedly he is the last mammoth human beings will ever see. He will be in Valentine Tuesday Aug. 18.

Last Saturday afternoon two strangers hired a team of the Star Livery to drive to John Neiss's, expecting to return the next day. Monday morning they had not returned and Mr. Bullis became somewhat alarmed, but thought perhaps Mr. Neiss was not at home and that they had waited to see him when he returned. Tuesday, Mr. Neiss came to town and upon inquiry told Mr. Bullis that the men, who took out some mail for Mr. Neiss, had left it at his son John's but that Mr. Neiss, sr., had not seen them and was told that they had gone on past his place—probably over to Dallas. Mr. Bullis informed Sheriff Rosseter and telegrams were sent to Pierre, Dallas, Bonesteel and other northeastern points to look out for them. They were driving a span of scrrels and had a new buggy. The outfit is valued at about $300.

Three strangers took a team belonging to Arthur Graeff on North Table Tuesday night. Arthur trailed them westward almost to Kilgore, after notifying Sheriff Rosseter who telephoned around over the country. About nine o'clock yesterday morning L. W. Parker telephoned that he had two of the fellows at Burge and City Marshal Hilsinger was sent out to bring them in, and later in the evening Sheriff Rosseter went out to help run down the other fellow, who was hiding in the brush nearby. At different times yesterday afternoon and evening he was seen at a distance, and an Indian was placed on guard, who finally captured the prisoner early this morning by trailing him and shot him in the neck with a shot gun. The two captured by Mr. Parker came to his house horseback to get something to eat, leaving the buggy and harness in the timber with the other fellow. Mr. Parker immediately telephoned his neighbors who congregated to render their assistance and Mr. Parker got them into his house and shut them in a room and stood guard with a rifle while waiting for help and the sheriff. The doctor and coroner were both sent for to look after the wounded man and a rig is on the way now bringing him to town. The two prisoners are locked up in jail and the Indian is held as a witness, but everybody will rejoice at his bravery for capturing the prisoner. All three are young fellows. The wounded prisoner may live.
