L. H. Bauman is in Sioux city on business.

Frank Westover was down from Rushville Tuesday on business.

Jesse Brosius left a fine sample of sod corn at this office yesterday.

Mrs. H. Hoenig and son departed Monday for an extended visit with relatives in southern Mo.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bullis of Sturgis, S. D. are visiting with relatives and friends in Valentine.

The M. E. Aid will serve a 15 cent supper Friday, beginning at 5 o'clock, at Chas. Anderson's.

Harve C. Shepard and Charles of Crawford were down Monday to register for a Tripp Co. farm.

Judge Zarr returned from the Jake Stetter ranch where he has been working for the past three months.

Mrs. G. Harden returned Monday from Woodlake where she has been for several weeks employed as a nurse.

Miss Alexander of LeMars, Iowa has been in the city for a few days visiting with her schoolmate Mrs. Armstrong.

Mrs. D. D. Seckes of Iowa and Mrs. Frank Wertz of Floreston, Ill. are in the city visiting with their sister Mrs. H. Daily.

Dr. Meeham, osteopath has moved into his new office rooms over the Red Front store. Telephone No. 155.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pray of LeRoy, Ill. arrived Thursday for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. Kincaid. Mrs. Pray is Mr. Kincaid's sister.

Charley Allen, Geo. Stover and Mr. Means, the postmaster at Gamble, S. D. were down last Saturday to register and hear Mr. Shallenberger speak.

Lee Shepard is getting around without crutches now. He stepped on a rusty nail several days ago and for a time had to hobble around or be hauled around.

Al Thacker, Henry Clapp, J. H. Baker, Sam Hudson, the Carr brothers and John Grange, all of near Simcon, spent some time in the city the past week.

James C. Quigley, candidate for county judge by petition on the democratic ticket, and Robert Evans returned Sunday from a trip through the country.

A number of ladies planned a surprise on Mrs. Armstrong Thursday afternoon in honor of her friend and schoolmate Miss Alexander of LeMars, Iowa. The afternoon was spent in playing progressive finch, Mrs. Mark Cyphers and Miss Bates winning the most games. Refreshments were served and a pleasant afternoon was enjoyed by all.

Bruce D. Wyke and Charles Heller of Randolph, Kan., and Lawrence Rice went down to Hackberry lake last Saturday to hunt and visit with J. E. Thacker and family. They returned Sunday evening and the following morning the two former and F. O. Floberg started back to their homes at Randolph. They enjoyed a good visit with ye editor and family and we hope to see them up here again sometime.

Mrs. L. Bivens entertained about 30 ladies Monday afternoon at her home in honor of Miss Mattie Davis and Miss Louise Bates. The time was pleasantly spent in a Menu contest and resulted in Miss Davis receiving the prize, a beautiful china plate, and Mrs. H. Hoenig the consolation honor.

Miss Bates and Miss Davis each was presented with a beautiful souvenir spoon. A splendid two-course luncheon was daintily served.

The registration at Valentine has not been very heavy the past week, less than 200 per day being registered for Tripp Co. lands. In all there will be less than 2,000 to register here unless tomorrow (Friday) should bring a greater number than usual. The men who come to register are mostly young men who have been working some where in the west and come in bunches of five or six from a locality. Wednesday, a bunch of six had travelled together for two or three days from the west and formed a friendship for each other agreeing to notify one another of their successes.

Shallenberger Greeted By Two Large Audiences.

Last Saturday A. C. Shallenberger spoke in our city, afternoon and evening, to large and enthusiastic audiences. The farmers came in to hear him at the afternoon meeting and were with him in sentiment, applauding vociferously during the speech.

Mr. Shallenberger told his audience about the platform that he ran on two years ago and that it was largely due to his campaign that the legislature passed the two-cent passenger rate and which Gov. Sheldon opposed to the very last. Sheldon wanted to leave passenger rates to the railway commission and it was at the very last that he signed the bill, which would have become a law without his signature, and the railroad companies agreed to accept the rate before Sheldon signed the bill. (The railway commission has dilly dallied along with freight rates and left them practically the same as before, but it is different with the passenger rates.)

Judge Westover was with Mr. Shallenberger and made a brief speech outlining his position as candidate for congress. The applause at the close of his remarks showed plainly that the people believes Judge Westover to be the proper candidate for congress. Much different were the remarks made about Mr. Shallenberger's speech from those commenting on Mr. Burkett's speech of the evening before. The one, bitter with ridicule and no argument for his party's platform, while the other stated his platform and gave facts to support his claims. Every republican stated that Mr. Shallenberger's speech was splendid and two in particular said it was the finest they had ever heard.

"Slippery Elmer."

Elmer Burkett, or "Slippery Elmer" as he is oftentimes called, spoke in our city Friday night. There was not a large crowd but a fair sized audience to hear him. The applause did not indicate very much enthusiasm and the audience apparently did not appreciate his denunciation of Bryan. He tried to ridicule Bryan, saying that he had not read the U. S. statutes for ten years and that he didn't have a copy of them. Perhaps not. Has "Slippery Elmer" read them? Or has he a complete copy? Who has read some of the old laws recently? Or, why would a man read them every morning like a prayer book or bible? True, that the trusts probably read over their favorite schedule of rates protecting their business every morning, and have a copy bound in morocco on the parlor table.

The charge that Mr. Bryan wrote the Denver platform and that he asked for a reduction of tariff on logs was like grabbing at a straw for a drowning man. Why didn't Elmer tell us that the platform was made by the Denver convention and that the plank referred to, says: "We demand the immediate repeal of the tariff on wood pulp, print paper, LUMBER, timber and logs, and these articles be placed on the free list." Why didn't "Slippery Elmer" tell us that he was opposed to all these and that his party wanted to continue this tariff. Who could afford to ship in logs? It's lumber we need and if there is no tariff on logs, should we be content with a tariff on lumber and all other products of wood?

All Voters in Favor of Good County Government.

Believing that the primary election coming at the time when all farmers and ranchmen were busy with their work, and with only about one-third of the vote of the county polled, of which John Tucker received 224 votes; that this vote was not an expression of the votes of the county on the office of county attorney.

At the earnest solicitation of his many friends of good government and decency, Mr. Easley has consented to run for county attorney. This is not a matter of his own seeking, for, from a financial standpoint, he will be a loser if elected. But, the same as a host of other good citizens, he recognizes Mr. Tucker's unfitness for the position on account of his well known reputation for immorality, incompetency and dishonesty. During his incumbency of the office he has proven that he stands in with the thugs and lawbreakers, and coward like has left town when reputable citizens attempted to enforce the law. His boon companions and constant friends are men whom all true citizens recognize as the lowest class of the

In view of the above facts a committee of citizens, regardless of political affiliations, request all lovers of purity in politics and honesty in the enforcement of law to do all in their power to elect Robert G. Easley to the office of county attorney.

School Notes

By R. H. WATSON

Miss Collett's pupils are doing some excellent work in vocal music.

Ada Smith, who dropped out of school on account of the tuition question, expects to return to school Monday.

Supt. C. S. Hopper of Sheridan county and two of his sisters-in-law were in Valentine last Saturday to register for the Tripp county land lottery.

A short time ago Lawrence Rice broke a window in Bethel hall. He at once said he would pay for the glass. Mr. McCrea bought the glass and Lawrence paid for it without a word. One day this week Evelyn Barker came to us and said she had climbed up where she should not and had broken one of the paper fixings in the basement. We told her that it was customary for children to pay for things when they broke them.

That night she went to the store and paid 65c for a new paper fixing and brought it to school next morning. Such actions on the part of children certainly show a fine school spirit.

Britt Items.

Lester and Thomas Green, of near Valentine are on the road again with freight.
