

BUILDING WRECKED IN CHICAGO BY TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Believed by Police Object of Attack Was the Coliseum, Where the First Ward Ball Has Been a Source of Contention for Some Time.

Two buildings are wrecked, several people are believed to have been killed and windows were shattered for blocks around by the terrific explosion of a bomb in an alley in Wabash avenue, near Sixteenth street, Chicago, Sunday night. The wrecked building adjoins the Coliseum, where the first ward ball, the annual revel to the holding of which there has been much opposition, was scheduled to be held Monday night.

The report of the explosion was heard for a mile. The congregations of Grace Episcopal and Wabash Methodist Episcopal churches and guests of nearby hotels rushed to the streets in a panic. A two-story frame building at 513 Wabash avenue, which adjoins the south wall of the Coliseum annex, immediately collapsed and took fire.

The fire leaped across an area and spread to another frame building, also wrecked. Properties of the Coliseum stored in the two buildings added fuel to the flames. Crowds of excited people, believing that the Coliseum had been blown up, rushed to the scene.

It was at first believed that several persons were killed by the crash, as a number were in the vicinity at the time. Careful search of the debris by the police and firemen, however, failed to reveal any bodies.

That the bomb was intended for the Coliseum the police express little doubt. An examination of the premises, the police say, shows that from the top of one of the wrecked buildings the bomb might have been dropped through a skylight of the Coliseum. One theory is that the bomb was thrown as another chapter in the "gamblers' war," which has been marked by the throwing of a series of bombs in the vicinity of alleged gambling resorts. The Twenty-seven explosion in that series occurred a few weeks ago.

EXILES RETURN TO AU PRINCE

Gen. Firmin is Welcomed at Palace by Simon.

The steamship Virginia, with 116 exiles aboard, including Gen. Antenor Firmin, arrived at Port au Prince, Hayti, Sunday. Immediately upon arriving, Gen. Firmin landed, and was welcomed in the name of Gen. Simon by Gen. Hyppolyte and Minister of Finance Chapotiau at the office of the collector of that port. Gen. Simon had placed the presidential carriage at the disposal of Gen. Firmin, and the distinguished revolutionists and exile at once entered and was driven to the palace. At the palace, President Simon welcomed Gen. Firmin, who at once declared that he had surrendered all ambition of political preferment. He had attempted to rid the country of the despotic tyranny exercised over it by Nord Alexis, he said, and had failed, and it was only natural that Gen. Simon, who had succeeded in the same effort, should be rewarded. He urged all Haytiens to rally to the support of the liberal government, and predicted that Gen. Simon would lift the country to prosperity and power by achievements of peace and labor.

LABELS MUST BE CHANGED.

Pure Food and Drug Board Renders an Important Decision.

Unscrupulous and otherwise misleading phrases in guarantee labels used by manufacturers are barred under a decision promulgated recently by the pure food and drug board with the approval of Secretaries Cortelyou, Wilson and Straus. The decision conforms to the recent refusal of Commissioner of Patents Moore to register trade marks which include the phrase "guaranteed under the food and drugs act, June 30, 1906," on the ground that it is misleading.

Effective January 1 next new guarantee labels must be changed so as to show plainly that the guarantee is that of the manufacturers and not of the government, because of the large sums invested in good faith in labels and plates. The old form of labels now in use representing guarantees already filed with the department will be recognized for a term of two years.

FAST WORK IN HOUSE.

Breaks a Record in Passing an Appropriation Bill.

A new record in the transaction of the public business was established by the house of representatives Friday. The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which usually excites considerable discussion lasting several days, was passed with little debate and practically in the shape in which it came from the committee. An unusual feature was that no member asked for time to indulge in general talk. The facility with which the bill of 165 pages was put through was the subject of much comment on the floor, and the members of the appropriations committee felicitated themselves on the outcome. The bill carries an appropriation of $31,665,329.

The house, immediately after convening, unanimously and without debate adopted a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee of five to consider the reference to the secret service in the president's message and to suggest what action, if any, should be taken in the matter.

In submitting the resolutions Mr. Perkins said the statements by the president could not be lightly disregarded, as they might impair the usefulness of congress; that undue obtuseness might argue a lack of proper self-respect.

When the provisions for increasing the salary of the commissioner general of immigration was reached Mr. Macon, of Arkansas, made a point of order against it, and the increase was not allowed.

Mr. Fitzgerald, of New York, criticized the appointment of Daniel Keefe to be commissioner general, remarking that he had no sympathy with what, he said, was the "movement to pay political debts in this manner." There was a lot of hypocrisy, he said, "about the whole business."

Mr. Mann, of Illinois, defended Mr. Keefe, and asserted that whatever may have been the reasons for his appointment, he was well qualified and would perform his duties with fidelity.

HEGEMAN IS NOW FREE.

Life Insurance Man is Discharged from Custody.

John R. Hegeman, president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, who was arrested last February on the charge of perjury in connection with the report of state insurance department, was discharged from custody Friday at New York.

Hegeman wears his hair long and his face resembles that of the traditional pictures of William Penn. In the insurance examinations, while Mr. Hegeman was on the stand, a friend of Mr. Hughes leaned forward and said in a low tone to the counsel for the committee: "That is the face of a saint."

Mr. Hughes replied softly, "But no saint was ever as holy as Mr. Hegeman looks."

Mr. Hegeman's influence with New York bankers was great. It was shown in the insurance trials that he could borrow money at 4 1/2 per cent and receive a 3 per cent rebate. At times his personal account amounted to $500,000.

INSANE MAN CAUSES PANIC.

His Wild Career is Ended When He is Shot Down.

Shouting that he was "John the Baptist, come to save the world," an aged insane man held the town in terror for nearly an hour Friday afternoon at Edgewater, N. J. He rushed down the main street, waving a revolver and shouting, held up half a dozen citizens, robbed the tills of three business establishments, stole a team of horses and exchanged many shots with a hastily formed posse. His wild career was checked when he was shot twice by the posse. It is believed he escaped from a sanitarium at Stamford, Conn.

FLEET TO SEIZE SHIPS.

Will Be Real Blockade of Venezuelan Ports.

The government of the Netherlands has no intention of being negligent in the matter of the blockade of the Venezuelan coast inaugurated by three of its warships recently. A battleship and cruiser left Willemstad Friday morning for Venezuelan waters, cleared for action. It is believed they will demonstrate off La Guaira and will probably begin seizing Venezuelan merchant vessels, thus putting a stop to trade between Venezuelan ports.

A clash between the warships and the coastal forts of Venezuela is liable to follow any radical action.

ABRAHAM RUEF CONVICTED.

Former Frisco Political Boss Declared Guilty.

Abraham Ruef, former political boss of San Francisco, was convicted Thursday of bribery. The verdict was returned exactly upon the stroke of 4 o'clock, when the deliberations of the jury had been prolonged throughout a period of twenty-four hours. The warnings of Judge William P. Lawler and the vigilance of the police checked all attempted demonstration, although the excitement in the court room was so intense that men were thrust down into their seats or held in the grasp of detectives as they rose to obtain a better view of the proceedings.

The trial, which has been in progress 106 days, ended with surprising abruptness. The day had almost passed without a sign of intimation from the curtained chamber on the upper floor of Carpenter's hall. The hope of Ruef and his attorneys had risen with every hour of delay, and the adherents of the prosecution were proportionately discouraged. With numbers and interest undiminished, the hundreds of spectators who have hung about the court room during the closing days of the trial retained their seats in the chamber or stood patiently in a long line opposite the entrance with a strong detail of police watching vigilantly for the first sign of disorder inside and patrolled every approach to the hall. The jurors had scarcely taken their seats in the box before the brief proceedings were at an end. The judge glanced at the verdict and handed it to Clerk Welch, who read it aloud.

Attorneys, defendant, spectators, detectives and police held their breath as the clerk slowly and deliberately, yet with apparent agitation, unfolded the paper, and then, as every eye in the court room was riveted upon him, read the fatal words: "We, the jury, find the defendant, Abraham Ruef, guilty as charged."

Part of Message Regarded as Offensive May Be Expunged.

The leaders of the senate and house were in conference in Speaker Cannon's room Thursday afternoon to consider what action, if any, shall be taken concerning that portion of Roosevelt's annual message which relates to the secret service.

Among those present were Senators Hale, Aldrich, Speaker Cannon, Representatives Tawney and Perkins. The last named has prepared a resolution providing for the appointment of a select committee of the house to consider that part of the president's message regarded as offensive to the members of congress. The question of expunging from the Congressional Record all the alleged offensive matter has been suggested.

SNOW SAVES THE TRAIN.

Jumps Track While Going Fifty Miles an Hour.

The wreck of the westbound Northern Pacific limited at McKenzie, twenty miles east of Bismarck, N. D., Wednesday night may be considered one of the lucky wrecks in the annals of railroading, according to the railroad men. The fact that almost the entire train, going at a rate of fifty miles an hour and containing more than 200 people, could turn over and go down a ten-foot embankment without killing anybody is marvelous. The train struck a broken rail. The packed snow saved the train from destruction. Eleven passengers were seriously injured, while many were cut by broken glass and bruised by those on the upper side falling on them.

It is said that $16,000 was secured, but postoffice authorities will not verify the report.

DAVIS FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Defendant Released When Verdict is Read.

"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the case of Charles E. Davis, accused of the murder of Dr. Frederick Rustin, a prominent Omaha physician, on September 2. The jury was out thirteen hours. The case, which was given to the jury at 5:15 o'clock Wednesday evening, had been on trial for ten days and had attracted widespread attention.

The verdict was delivered as soon as court convened Thursday morning. Four ballots were taken on the question of first degree murder and four on the question of second degree murder, one or two men holding out for conviction in each case. When the question of manslaughter came up the one juror was hard to convince and it was only on the eleventh ballot that he gave in.

It is understood the absence of positive proof that Davis was in the neighborhood of the Rustin home at the time of the tragedy is what prevented the jurors from convicting him.

Davis spent the night in custody of a deputy sheriff at his own apartments in the Shatham. He slept well and after being advised that the jury had agreed, ate a hearty breakfast before appearing in the court room. He was released from custody as soon as the verdict was read, and within half an hour was at work at his desk in the woman's department of the First National bank, showing not the slightest concern.

Throughout the trial Davis has remained absolutely unmoved, never betraying the slightest sign of emotion and even seeming to be entirely disinterested in the evidence or the outcome.

"I should say not," was the emphatic reply of County Attorney English, who conducted the prosecution, when asked whether Mrs. Abbie Rice, the star witness for the state, would be charged with the murder of Dr. Rustin. "She will be released. The case which the state made against Davis contemplated, if it did not establish the innocence of the woman as to the commission of the murder. I thought it was a case that demanded the most vigorous prosecution and I exhausted the resources at my command to give it that. Everything the state could do to subserve the ends of justice was done."

Mrs. Rice will be allowed to rejoin her husband.

STOLE COAT; GETS ONE YEAR.

Lincoln Woman Shoplifter is Sent to Penitentiary.

Pale and trembling, her slight form shaken by sobs, Mrs. Mildred Boles, a pretty woman of 21 years, heard Judge Frost pronounce her sentence of one year in the penitentiary at Lincoln.

Grand larceny was the charge, to which the prisoner pleaded guilty. The plaintiffs were the firm of Rudge & Guenzel, from whom the defendant about a month ago stole a mink fur coat valued at $325 and a pattern hat worth $28. She managed to smuggle the coat out of the store in a valise and wore the hat away, leaving the old one in its place. A few days afterward Mrs. Boles wore the hat to a local theater. An employe of the millinery department of Rudge & Guenzel recognized the hat and had the woman followed home by a policeman. This resulted in Mrs. Boles' arrest and that of a friend, Mrs. McConnell, who is now serving a thirty-day sentence in the county jail, and the recovery of a quantity of stolen goods.

Nearly $400 Worth of Stamps Are Taken.

The safe blowers got away with $90 in cash belonging to the lumber company, and $21 in cash and between $350 and $400 in stamps belonging to the postoffice, which is in the same building. Although the explosion attendant upon the blowing of the safe must have been a terrific one, the presence of the cracksmen was not discovered until they had made good their escape.

Thomas E. Brents, a secret service employe, has filed a complaint before County Judge Smith charging W. J. Paasch, a liquor dealer of Pender, with violation of section 7159, under the Slocum law of 1907, which reads: "Every person so licensed who shall sell intoxicating liquors to any Indian, insane person or idiot or habitual drunkard shall forfeit and pay for each offense the sum of $50."

SWITCHING CHARGES RAISED.

Railway Commission Permits Omaha Stock Yards to Increase Rate.

After criticizing the attitude of the railroads in the controversy with the Union Stock Yards company, of Omaha, the state railway commission permitted the stock yards men to increase switching charges 100 per cent. This advance, the commission asserts, must be borne by the railroads. Switching rates were formerly 50 cents a car for empties and $1 for loaded cars. The new schedule provides for $1 for empties and $2 for loaded cars.

Commissioner Clarke wrote the opinion. He characterized the attitude of the railroads as "enigmatical and a times amounting to lukewarm opposition" to the proposed increase.

The stock yards men filed a complaint several months ago and demanded the rates be raised.

The mystery as to who he is as dense as ever and bids fair to remain one for awhile, as no clues as to who committed the murder has been found as yet.

These cases are brought under the state Slocum law and not under federal jurisdiction.

School for Deaf.

C. E. White, superintendent of the institute for the deaf, in his biennial report to Gov. Sheldon, asks for an appropriation of $50,000 for a new building.

Lena E. Ward, superintendent of the Nebraska Industrial Home at Milford, estimates the appropriation needed for this institution for the coming biennium at $39,880, divided as follows: General repairs, $11,000; maintenance, $19,000; employes' wages, $5,080; salary of physician, $1,600; salary of matron, $1,200; salary of superintendent, $2,000. The per capita cost for the biennium, based on maintenance, is $437.65. The number of adults in the home December 1, 1906, was forty; the number of adults and children in the home December 1, 1908, is fifty-one; the number admitted during the biennium, 66; number returned to friends, 46; number married, 5; number of adults cared for each year 53; number of children in the home December 1, 1906, 23; at the present time, 23; number born during the biennium, 65; number died, 10. The tornado that struck the girl's industrial school caused damage that leads to a recommendation for the appropriation of $15,000 for repairs and improvements. This is included in the report of Miss McMahon, superintendent of the institution. She estimates that $53,720 will be needed in the next two years for improvements and maintenance. There were 58 girls in the school at the time the report was made. The superintendent details the work of the home, where the girls are taught to do all kinds of housework and are prepared to enter homes as useful members.

The biennial report of Dr. G. A. Young, superintendent of the Norfolk insane asylum, which has been filed with Gov. Sheldon, shows that out of a total appropriation of $229,000, made by the legislature two years ago, there remains a balance of $87,067.36 to pay expenses until next April. There has been expended during the biennium $141,932.64. The estimated expenditures for the coming biennium amount to $292,600. Of this amount $116,000 is for permanent improvements, including $20,000 to complete new buildings in course of construction. The new permanent improvements are enumerated as follows: New building for men, $45,000; one 250-horse power water tube boiler, $4,000; one 75-horse power direct connected Corliss engine and generator, $5,000; nurses' and attendants' home, $12,000; horse and cow barn, $7,500; new farm land, $16,000; tunnels, $1,500; furnishing new buildings, $5,000. For officers' and employes' wages, maintenance and repairs and improvements an appropriation of $176,000 is asked for. On November 30, 1906, the institution had a population of 262 patients, 43 being at home on parole; patients received during the biennium, 227; returned from parole, 4; discharged new cases, 80; discharged cases paroled previous to December, 1906, 41; paroled, 34; escaped, 2; died, 47; deported, 1; transferred to Lincoln, 2; remaining in hospital November 30, 1908, 283, of which 155 are males and 128 females.

The biennial report of E. B. Sherman, superintendent of the industrial school for boys at Kearney, recites a hard luck story, which winds up with everything happy and prosperous. On the day before Christmas, 1907, a new recruit from South Omaha, broke out with the smallpox. The merry Christmas day was spent in vaccinating 130 boys, after which the entire school was placed under quarantine. Seventeen cases of smallpox followed that, which the South Omaha youngster developed. As the school emerged from the smallpox scourge diphtheria appeared, but only two cases were severe. The next calamity was the increase of the price of feed for stock. For ten months the institution has had trouble with its water supply. Fire destroyed the horse barn on November 23, 1908, and 24 horses were lost. And the population has steadily decreased. Mr. Sherman says it is due to the operation of the juvenile court authorities in Omaha and Lincoln. These cities, he says, are taking care of their juvenile delinquents better than ever before. Another reason for the decrease in population is due to the unusual number of paroles. During the biennium there has been received 202 boys and 268 left the institution. Notwithstanding the calamitous hand which has been laid on this institution there will be no deficiency, the report says. Mr. Sherman asks for an appropriation of $108,000 for the next biennium.

Lydia J. McMahon, superintendent of the girls' industrial school at Geneva, in her biennial report, says there were present November 30, 1908, in the school 58. Two years ago there were 63; number received during the biennium, 42; returned from parole, 7; total number cared for, 112; number paroled, 55; cost per capita, $292.42. Miss McMahon estimates the appropriation needed for the coming biennium at $32,751.90.

According to the seventeenth biennial report of the Nebraska Institute for the blind, $44,700 is required for its maintenance and equipment during the coming biennium. The institution has a balance on hand of $12,721, out of an appropriation of $50,000, made two years ago. There were 75 pupils enrolled during the biennium.

The per capita cost of maintaining the soldiers home at Grand Island for the year 1907 was $198.66, according to the report of Commandant D. W. Hoyt.

The population of the soldiers' home at Milford December 1, 1908, as shown by the biennial report filed with the governor by Joseph Pesson, commandant, is 183. There were received during the biennium 100; discharged and died, 132.

County Attorney J. P. Baldwin, of Hebron, has notified the food commissioner's office that Cramer Bros., of Chester, against whom prosecution was brought for selling misbranded and short weight corn meal packages have pleaded guilty and paid a fine.
