Misses Pearl Lewis and Garnet Holsclaw came down from Chadron last Friday morning and spent several days visiting in town. Miss Lewis had been visiting in Chadron.

The dance given by Fischer's orchestra Tuesday evening was fairly well attended. Joe Westover, violinist of Rushville, led the orchestra. H. C. Jennings took a flash light picture of the dancers.

Superintendent Stanion was down from the boarding school the first of the week. D. L. McLean and John Anderson of Rosebud and Robt. Emery and John Neiss were also in town several days the first of the week.

A big blaze was started near Hackberry lake last Friday when Joe Thackrey carried out some ashes and dumped in the yard by the house. 30 men were out to fight fire and soon run it into the lake where for lack of fuel it went out.

W. L. Puckett has accepted a position in John Kazda's barber shop, Elmer D. Bolt having resigned and gone back to his home at Ainsworth. Mr. Puckett comes from the Millard Hotel barber shop in Omaha preferring to live in our thriving village.

Geo. D. Huggins and daughter are in town this week. Mr. Huggins owns a moving picture machine which he has rented to the young man who operates the show for Obe Church which started Monday night. People remarked that Monday night's audience was the largest ever in the hall and best show of the kind given in Valentine.

C. B. Kincaid is in town today.

Col. Quigley went to Lincoln this morning.

Andrew Schatzbauer of Wood-Lake was in town yesterday.

C. H. Cornell received a telegram Monday morning that F. A. Gunnison of Boston, the husband of Mrs. Genevieve Adams Hewett, well known to Valentine people, died Sunday night. Mrs. Gunnison is a sister of Archie Adams.

W. E. Case of King brought in 47 wolf scalps yesterday and transacted business in our city. We acknowledge a pleasant visit with him. He has a good homestead and does considerable farming and raises a fine garden. Glad to hear it and to see these western farmers.

Miss Anna Boltz goes up to her home at Nenzel today and in a few days goes to Crawford where she joins Mr. and Mrs. Ferdon who are going up into Wyoming to visit, and Mrs. Ferdon expects to remain at a friend's home during her absence visiting in England. Miss Boltz is to remain with Mrs. Ferdon.

Mrs. L. C. Sparks gave a little girls party yesterday afternoon in which the ladies about town dressed like girls of 12 and went forgetting their age. We suppose they talked about school and fellows and dolls and romped all over Levi's blue grass yard and there's lots of room, too. They had a swell time and the novelty gave spice to the occasion.

M. V. Nicholson and daughter Estelle went down to Lincoln Monday morning where the latter takes a course in a business college. Mr. Nicholson has since his departure been delegated to represent Valentine before members of the legislature in the interests of an appropriation for continuing the fish hatchery here and to ask that an agricultural experiment station be established here.

Pole Hudson was back to town Saturday and says the wind blowed hard enough to twist his windmill and when he and the Mayor got to Sparks with a load of coal and a barrel of coal-oil one of them had to hold the wagon and the other the team and there was no one to unload the oil so he hauled it home and unloaded coal first and hauled the oil back when the wind went down the following day. Strong wind.

To those who sometimes forget the printer.

Several persons forgot to call and settle the first of the year and others who like to pay in advance have neglected to do so. We would like to have all accounts past due for THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT settled at once. Those who pay in advance should call and pay. We don't like to present a bill for something they have not received. Don't forget this notice.

THE PALACE SALOON,

JOHN G. STETTER, Propr.

Col. Jas. H. Quigley and M. V. Nicholson have been delegated to represent the commercial club at the legislature favoring favorable cattle inspection for this western country and other interests of Valentine and Cherry county people. We will need some money to pay their expenses, they donating their time. All who are willing to do something should see that their names are enrolled for a dollar or two or as much as they feel disposed to release.

W. T. Brosius' team got gay Saturday evening while turning up Main street off Catherine and one, a colt began kicking and running and ran into a tree at the corner of the Palace saloon breaking the neck yoke and the wagon crowded the horses to each side by closing in on them. The sudden stopping of the wagon threw Roy Brosius a boy 10 or 11 years old, over the dash board between the horses. He crawled out some way without getting hurt while the horses were kicking and caving around. The harness of one horse was broken some and the other horse was scratched and benched on the tree and from kicking the wagon. Little other damage was done.

"Big Jim," the new rural comedy by Chas. A. Gordiner, which will be presented at the opera house Thursday, Feb. 11, is a beautiful blending of comedy and pathos. He has treated the subject in an entirely original manner. There is not a borrowed situation in the whole piece, and it embraces many new ideas in play building. The comedy is clean and screamingly funny, while the more serious scenes are natural and touching. There is, of course, a love story interwoven in the plot, but it is entirely devoid of "mushy" love scenes. The play teaches a beautiful lesson of forbearance, resignation and forgiveness that cannot fail to awaken the better feelings of everyone.

Count Meltendorf and some of his friends were discussing walking last Saturday when the Count remarked that he could walk to Fort Niobrara and back in two hours. The distance is about 4 1/2 miles and some of the gentlemen thought he couldn't do it so a wager of two and a half was made that the count couldn't go on foot to Fort Niobrara and back in two hours. The time then was 3:15 p. m when Mr. Meltendorf started on his journey. He was plucky and was going to make his word good. Lee Shepard and Geo. Corbin started to follow him as soon as they could hitch up a team but the Count beat them to the Post rounded the flag pole and was on his way back in 54 minutes. Promptly on time he came striding up the valley taking always the nearest route and one minute before his two hours expired he clasped his arms around the city flag pole, made his word good and won the bet. Count Meltendorf now declares that he will lay Teddy's ride in the shade. He says he will ride 90 miles in a day and walk 10 miles on each end of the journey. At present he is very much interested in the big wolf chase on the reservation coming off February 22.

Friday morning, our town looked like the morning after hallowe'en.

Jens Thompson and Heinrich Sauerwein of Crookston were in town yesterday.

Frank Fischer's trunk and suit case advertisement will interest everyone who travels. Look for it. 52

It was a mistake, Mrs. Jackson didn't return last week. She stopped in Chicago for a visit with Walter's sister.

Valentine wants the railroad division located here and the Commercial club has delegated Hon. C. H. Cornell to communicate with Ry. officials. All who want to see Valentine get this division should get to town and boost a little for it.

Charles Lower, the mail carrier between Valentine and Sparks was caught on the flat the other side of the Fort and his wagon upset like a toy smashing the top so he took it off dragged it into a valley nearby and went on his way with an open riz. Next day the top was blown out of the valley and half way up the hillside.

That was a false report about John Maxwell being married. John can bring recommendations from many a farm that he never played such a trick. John's letter to Charley Lower was like this: "I suppose you have heard that I am an uncle," and Mr. Lower reading the letter hastily, read the word "married" instead of "uncle."

All special scenery will be used in Gordiner Bros. production of "Big Jim" at Church's opera house next Thursday, Feb. 11, scenery painted especially for the play and correctly depicting the places and scenes represented in the story. Specialties are introduced between the acts, eliminating all tedious waits while the various settings are being made.

Last Thursday the wind blew 56 miles an hour, tore off the porches of the Donohoe hotel and Morey's building east side of main street, blew the VALENTINE DEMOCRAT sign into Chas. Gassan's window, topped several chimneys and blew down a number of wind-mills in town and all over the country. The damage down east was heavier and they had a nine inch snow fall with the wind storm. The hay stacks were blown over in many places.

We want you to come to our moving picture show in the opera house Monday night. We have a special program for this occasion. Mr. Jennings will take a flash light picture of the audience on Monday night from the stage to make souvenir post cards and each person present will receive a post card picture of the audience. Come early and get a good position. A coupon will be handed you at the ticket office which will entitle you to the post card picture. Doors open at 7:00. Moving pictures at 7:30. Flashlight picture at 8:30. Seats for 600 persons.
