Prosperity Valley.

Introduction: Prosperity Valley is a fine undulating flat valley lying just west of the sand hills in the western part of Cherry county about 12 miles east from Gordon, Sheridan county, and 6 miles south from Irwin, Cherry county, and 2 miles north of the Niobrara river. This place comprises a small tract of this vast area of Cherry county and is one of the most "garden spots of Eden," which can be found in the western part of Nebraska, and of which the resources and advantages are unexcelled. The people that comprise this community are one of the most generous hearted and benevolent class that can be found anywhere; also a clean and prosperous class.

The bright sun falls heavily down upon the earth and causes the domestic crop to shoot forth and spread its foliage abroad. Corn and oats are making great headway, potatoes are all blooming and in fact all crops in this vicinity are strictly up to date. Better prospects never existed before in the history of Nebraska.

The "Big Elm" pulled off their big time the 3rd. Everything proved well. On the dawn of morning the mist and rain was very dense but about 9 a. m. the clouds cleared away and all turned bright. The crowd began to gather and about noon full 500 persons had gathered together to celebrate the freedom anniversary of our country. Before noon a neat and well ordered program was turned out. Hon. I. M. Rice of Valentine delivered the oration and did full justice to the occasion. Upon his close cheer upon cheer was given which gave vent to the feelings of the people. After noon horse races, ball games and numerous foot races was indulged in providing a program until dark. After that time a grand display of fireworks was the order. When this was finished dancing was the program until the small hours of the morn and everyone went home sleepy, but saying I had a good time.

Ira Johnson is doing carpenter work for Wm. Beamer this week building a new barn.

George Beamer had the misfortune to have a herd of Peter Thorsen's cattle get in his corn field and do serious damages which Mr. Thorsen squared up right.

Grant Warren from Kelly Flats passed thru the Valley enroute to Gordon Tuesday to do some trading.

Fred Janssen passed through the Valley Wednesday going to the south hills.

A. Roberts is building a new house.

Lincoln News Letter.

For the first time Nebraska will vote for candidates for the nominations for officers under an open primary. When the voter asks for his ballot he will not be given a republican, a democratic, or other party ballot but he will be given a sheet upon which are all the candidates under their separate party heads. Then he is at liberty to vote any ticket he desires. He must, however under the law, confine his voting to one political party. He cannot vote for one candidate on one ballot and then skip over and vote for someone else of another party. Should he do this his vote will be lost. Under this law it is possible for a life long democrat to vote in the republican primary or the reverse. Friends of the measure which was passed by the late legislature insist however that very few voters will get out of their regular party. Others are fearful that one party will endeavor to nominate weak candidates on the opposition ticket. Harvey E. Newbranch, editor of the Omaha World-Herald has been appointed a member of the board of regents of the state university to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Fred H. Abbott, editor of the Aurora Republican, who has been assistant commissioner of Indian affairs. Mr. Newbranch is a graduate of the state university. During the legislature he opposed vigorously the acceptance of the Carnegie pension fund for the state university teachers.

The section of the pure food law which prohibits prizes in food packages is to be tried out in the courts. A friendly suit has been started in the Lancaster county courts against J. R. Burleigh, a grocer, charging him with violating the law, in that he is selling a food package in which there is a certain number of which entitled the holder to certain books free. The complaint was filed by Food Commissioner Mains.
