SCHOOL NOTES

By FLORENCE JACKSON and
KATE HELZER

Eugene Taylor has resumed his studies in the eleventh grade.

Wm. Heelan from Arabia was enrolled in the 5th grade Monday.

Leotta Bowin is threatened with typhoid fever. We miss Leotta.

A new sand table is a much desired addition to the second primary room.

Roberta Veach and Ardell Handy of the second grade are trying third grade work.

Katherine Howe from the Fremont school entered the third grade last Monday.

Jim Church started to take a course of studies in the High School last Monday.

Burton Howe entered the 7th grade this week. He brings his credentials from the Minneapolis schools.

The Basket Ball girls and Baseball boys went to Johnstown Friday to take part in the celebration. The basket ball score was 17 to 10 and the baseball 8 to 4.
Johnstown winning both games.
Although Valentine was beaten in both games, they had an enjoyable time and were pleasantly entertained by the Johnstown people.

A glee club has been partially organized for the Valentine High School, which will be very instru-tive and beneficial to the members.

Three more Basket Ball teams were chosen in the High School, electing Alice McLane general manager, Hazel Carlson, Blanch Hutchinson and Bertha Helzer captains. This makes a total of four teams now and we expect in the future to have some fine games.

Lots of new type at THE DEMO-CRAT office.

deen via The Chicago & North-

The value of weather forecasts to the stockmen, farmers and gardeners of this section of the country are invaluable to say the least and specifically would mention the statistics as published in the Valentine Democrat each week from our local Weather Bureau which furnishes valuable data as to the conditions existing in our own country and teaches our farmers when to look for extremely hot and dry weather, the late and early frosts so damaging to crops planted out of season. Some seasons are earlier and the climatic conditions so favorable that a crop planted early or late does well and any body can raise a good crop if he only plants and cultivates during the season but the close observer and student of weather conditions may raise a crop any season in this part of the country if he plants at the proper time, barring accidental storms of hail and wind.

We deem as especially important the forecasts of early or late frosts in which our farmers are given opportunity to protect tender plants, also the cold wave forecasts which enable stockmen to get feed together and gather in their stock from the prairies to prevent great and hazardous losses as in the early days when vast herds of cattle were swept from the Nebraska prairies and well to do ranchmen were left without stock necessary to secure their commercial paper.

Those early days were hazardous alike to stockmen and banks which loaned money on stock.
The thrift and heart of the stock business on the western prairies owe much to the local Weather Bureau and its timely warnings which enable many ranchmen through the telephone system to spread the news from Valentine of the approach of a storm which means instant activity at all well regulated ranches to gather in the stock. But no less valuable is the data published from week to week in the Valentine Democrat giving the correct conditions of the weather from which valuable deductions are made by intuitive farmers and stockmen who in natures field are made better weather prophets than Hicks or Devoe.
