

A Housewife Industry.
The advertisements were the most interesting things in the paper, according to Mr. Hobart's ideas. He read them to his wife as she sat at work on the stockings of their active son.
"No need to spend your time hunting for antiques now," said Mr. Hobart, after skimming the cream from a long article, as was his wont. "Here's a man that will undertake and guarantee to make your new furniture look as if it was a hundred years old, by a process known only to him."
"I don't see any need of processes for our furniture," remarked Mrs. Hobart, as she cast a hopeless stocking to the flames of the Franklin front. "Tommy's feet are all the process we need. Perhaps we could rent him out by the day."

Which One?
"What is the name of this line?" asked the stranger on the front platform, steadying himself as the car bumped along the track, lurching from side to side.
"Out here," answered the motorman of the suburban trolley car, taking a chew of tobacco, "they call it the dairy line."
"Why do they call it that?"
"Because if you bring a bucket of sour cream aboard it'll be better when you get to the end of the run."

Expert Opinion.
What is the use of a child's going to school to learn mere grammar? Such evidently is the opinion of the mother of a girl whose teacher instructed her to purchase a book on that subject. According to a writer in the Burr Oak Herald, Lulu came back the next day with this explanatory letter:

I do not desire for Lulu shall engage in grammar, as I prefer her engage in useful studies, and can learn her how to speak and write properly myself. I have went through two grammars, and I can't say as they did me any good, I prefer her engage in german and drawing and vocal music on the piano.

Did He Tip the Waiter?
Walters do not like the man who tears a bill in halves and gives half of it to the man who serves him, with the promise that he shall have the other half if he gives satisfaction. A veteran waiter describes to a writer in the New York Sun an experience with a man who resorted to this device.

"I took pains to serve him poorly, to show him that I did not care for his money," said the waiter. "I was so careless that when he was leaving he refused me the other half. I was sure he was a miser, anyhow."

"I pointed out to him that the piece he had was no good to him as it was, and offered to buy it from him for two dollars."

"He thought deeply a minute and declined."

"Then I offered to sell him my half for three dollars. Somehow or other this appealed to him, and he bought it and seemed happy."

"I'll bet he hasn't stopped figuring out yet, whether he won or lost. One thing he's sure of, he didn't tip the waiter."

Frightful Possibility.
"But what will you do," asked his confidential friend, "if they imprison you?"

"If they threaten to do that," answered the financial magnate, with a frown, "I'll send orders to my agents to start the biggest panic this country ever saw!"

SAVED HER LIFE.
Newton, Iowa, Woman Restored to Health.

Mrs. Ida Finch, 217 E. Main St., Newton, Ia., says: "I was suddenly taken with pain in my back, so severe the doctor had to inject morphine. My kidneys were in a terrible state, the secretions containing heavy sediment, scalding and passing irregularly. My feet and ankles swelled and puffy spots appeared beneath my eyes. I had 25 smothering spells in one day and thought I would die. I doctored with the best local physicians, but they were unable to help me. Then I started taking Doan's Kidney Pills and soon began to improve. They saved my life."

FASHION HINTS

The back view of this little dress is so attractive that it deserves a word all by itself.
The jackety tab at the waist, and the cute little knot of the girdle that crushes up to it, are very distinctive.
In front, the overskirt finishes in a deep point.

A DETERMINED WOMAN
Finally Found a Food That Cured Her.

"When I first read of the remarkable effects of Grape-Nuts food, I determined to secure some," says a woman of Salisbury, Mo. "At that time there was none kept in this town, but my husband ordered some from a Chicago traveler."

"I had been greatly afflicted with sudden attacks of cramps, nausea, and vomiting. Tried all sorts of remedies and physicians, but obtained only temporary relief. As soon as I began to use the new food the cramps disappeared and have never returned."

"My old attacks of sick stomach were a little slower to yield, but by continuing the food, that trouble has disappeared entirely. I am to-day perfectly well, can eat anything and everything I wish, without paying the penalty that I used to. We would not keep house without Grape-Nuts."

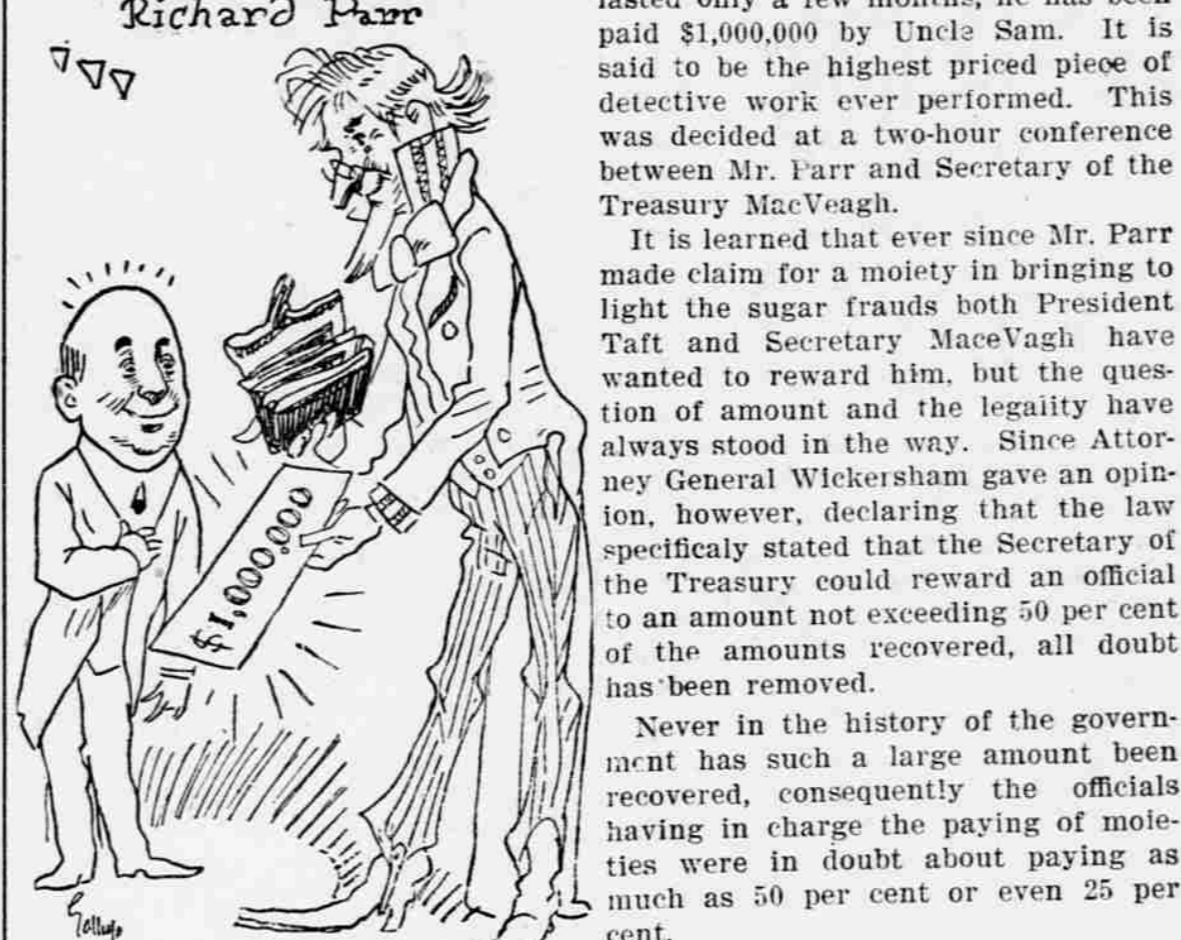

"My husband was so delighted with the benefits I received that he has been recommending Grape-Nuts to his customers and has built up a very large trade on the food. He sells them by the case to many of the leading physicians of the county, who recommend Grape-Nuts very generally. There is some satisfaction in using a really scientific prepared food."

PROBABLY WORLD'S HIGHEST PRICED DETECTIVE.

Richard Parr

$1,000,000 FOR PARR.

Great Reward for Informer in the Big Sugar-Weighing Scandal.

Want to make a million? Ask Richard Parr, of the New York customs office. Parr is the man who discovered the frauds by means of which the government was being robbed by the sugar trust. For this, and the work he has done since, he has been paid $1,000,000 by Uncle Sam. It is said to be the highest priced piece of detective work ever performed. This was decided at a two-hour conference between Mr. Parr and Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh.

It is learned that ever since Mr. Parr made claim for a moiety in bringing to light the sugar frauds both President Taft and Secretary MacVeagh have wanted to reward him, but the question of amount and the legality have always stood in the way. Since Attorney General Wickesham gave an opinion, however, declaring that the law specifically stated that the Secretary of the Treasury could reward an official to an amount not exceeding 50 per cent of the amounts recovered, all doubt has been removed.

Never in the history of the government has such a large amount been recovered, consequently the officials having in charge the paying of moiety were in doubt about paying as much as 50 per cent or even 25 per cent.

BIG SUPREME COURT DOCKET.

Gompers Boycott Charges and Panama Libel to Come.

The United States government will figure largely in the business before the Supreme Court during the term beginning Oct. 11. Many of the cases in which its representatives will appear are of general public interest. The court has about 600 cases on the docket. In the first 300 the United States has seventy-two.

Fifty-three cases have been advanced for argument before the court on or before Jan. 30. Among them are a peonage charge coming from Florida, the controversy involving alleged contempt by Samuel Gompers, and boycotts by the Federation of Labor. Two corporation-tax cases touching the application of the law to real estate holding companies, the reargument of the Standard Oil and the tobacco trust issues, cases under the Hepburn railway rate law, and the Panama libel case, involving former President Roosevelt, are on the docket.

Asks Fair Pay for Railroads.
From New York was sent broadcast through the press of the country a statement by the General Executive Committee of the Railway Business Association at the close of its session addressed to Congress and the public, and appealing for fair pay concerning the question of an increase of freight rates. It asks Congress to pass and make effective at once the provision of the railroad bill giving to the Commerce Commission power to suspend and approve rate increases and to appropriate money to enable the commission to cope with the extra work involved. It urges the railroads to have their schedules arranged to facilitate the work of the commission, with reasons fully given, and it appeals to the shippers to consider the necessities of the railroads as going concerns. To the public the association says: "That they frankly concede to the railways the necessity for adequate revenues and await with patience and good nature the findings of the commission as to the reasonableness of the proposed rates." This association claims to represent $8,000,000,000 of invested capital, to speak for industries employing 1,500,000 workers, and upon which 6,000,000 people depend for support. The industries include all the great corporations dealing in railway equipment.

New "Step" Aeroplane.
Mathew B. Sellers, of Baltimore, now claims to have perfected an aeroplane which is the smallest and lightest heavier-than-air craft ever built. It is 300 pounds lighter than the Santos Dumont machine and has a system of automatic equilibrium devices which have not been infringed upon by patent and are a penalty that I used to. We would not keep house without Grape-Nuts.

The bride's gown was of white Duchess satin, made in empire fashion, with drapery of silk malines. She carried a huge shower bouquet of white orange blossoms and the bouquets of the bridesmaids harmonized with their attire. The lace with which the bride's gown is trimmed are heirlooms, but the rest of the materials in the bride's and bridesmaids' costumes were imported for the occasion.

New York society took great interest in the wedding of Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., which occurred soon after the arrival of the young man's father from Europe and Africa. Presents for the bride began arriving at her home over a week in advance of the ceremony.

The Overland

Now the Leading Car

Overland sales now run $200,000 per day. There has never been a record approaching that in the history of automobiles.

When a man sees an Overland, all the lesser cars lose their attractions. For no other car gives so much for the money. And none is so simple, so easy to care for, so proof against troubles.

The Simplicity

The Overlands operate by pedal control, so the hands have nothing to do but steer. One goes forward or backward, fast or slow, simply by pushing pedals. A child can master the car in ten minutes.

The Overlands are free from complexities. A novice can run them and care for them. One of these cars has run 7,000 miles without stopping the engine.

In the Government Postal Service Overlands have run 75 miles a day for a year and a half without missing a trip.

They are as faithful as watches. A man who knows nothing about machinery can run an Overland a thousand miles and back.
