WHY NOT?

Our town board had better publish an ordinance declaring the first Tuesday of every month election day.

If they permitted the people to vote upon the question the town board would be compelled to publish a statement of what they are doing and who gets the thousands of dollars spent in our city year after year. Perhaps such a statement would explain to the people who gets more money than he is entitled to and cause a vigorous campaign for more economy in public affairs.

Yes, the books are open for inspection if you want to take the slurs generally offered, upon anyone's questioning or inspecting the books or asking to see them. They should be offered voluntarily for inspection but many people are interested in these matters who would not care to pose as investigators. There are good people who do not like to scrap or quarrel for the assurance that all is well with our city officials and the treasury but they would like to have a statement of the expenditures of the city and what the money buys.

Will they voluntarily give it to us in the form of a statement for everybody to read at their leisure or will they hold the cover down and appear in the role of hiding their actions until an investigation is demanded? It may appear undignified to them to uncover now upon being asked to do so but the people want to know what they are going to do with the $21,420. How are they going to spend it and how much did they spend last year and what for? The people want to know.

Don't get mad at THE DEMOCRAT for asking these questions which seem impertinent only to the town board who might designate us as kickers for wanting to know, but it's a part of our business to know.

File for Representative.

J. F. Carr of Springview has this week filed his nomination with the secretary of state for representative of the 52nd district. THE DEMOCRAT recommended this several weeks ago and we thought at that time there would be no candidate from this county for the place and probably wouldn't have been had Mr. Carr filed a couple of weeks earlier.

Thinking that there was no candidate to oppose him, Martin Christensen of Valentine has in the past few weeks made preparations to become a candidate for representative and this week he also has filed his name for that office.

There will, therefore, be two candidates competing good naturedly for this nomination and it will be their duty to press their claims before the democratic voters for their preference candidate.

Mr. Carr was elected two years ago and is the present incumbent. He made a good record and we were willing to see him come up for re-election in the absence of any demand from a Cherry county aspirant which until recently appeared obvious.

Martin Christensen is an old timer here and recognized as a leading democrat. He is a painter by trade and occupation and during the winter months when the legislature is in session can well spare his time in the service of the state as a law maker, having no work at that time of the year at his trade.

Either Mr. Carr or Mr. Christensen will make an able representative and it's up to the people to select their choice.
