As has been the case in former years the county exhibit at the Nebraska State Fair this year will be one of the interesting places where the crowds will gather. Everybody likes to look at the products of the farm with its big pumpkins, squashes, watermelons, tall corn and wheat and the other innumerable things which the country exhibits always show. Premiums this year for farm products will total up to $4,200 and will be an inducement for counties and exhibitors to go into the contest. Fair dates are Sept. 5 to 9. Send to W. R. Mellor, Secretary, Lincoln, for premium list.

Jesse McVey, of Wood Lake, was in town Monday attending to necessary shopping, greeting acquaintances and looking after matters of business. He says everything continues lovely in his neighborhood, and though crops fall short of some other years when conditions were more favorable, none have aught of which to complain. Jesse wore an unusually broad smile when he called to renew for this household companion for another year, and the reason for same was that he had in his possession a deed for a fine section located about 20 miles southwest of Wood Lake, having proved up on same that day.

Lightning demolished a barn on the John Jackson place on the north table Sunday evening, together with some harness and furniture stored therein. Mr. Jackson's son and daughter, who drove to town and stopped here over night Sunday were apprised of the fire and loss early Monday morning by telephone. Their absence from home no doubt saved the loss of horses, buggy and harness. The barn was insured. W. E. Studnicka, special agent of the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co., arrived this morning and together with the local agent, I. M. Rice, went out and adjusted the loss, also the Geo. Camm damage by lightning to chimney, which occurred the week previous.

"The Press, a power for good or evil," was the subject of a forceful sermon by Rev. J. M. Caldwell D.D. at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning, in the course of which he said many kind words for the press of the land and the power for good disseminated through its columns. At the same time he paid his respects, in terms not to be mistaken, to the newspapers that exert such a powerful influence for evil. Most all newspapers he said have some of the bad mixed with the good but are not to be dispensed with because of the bad. The press is an invaluable means of communication and education, within the reach of all, and no one is so poor or no one's time so limited that he cannot afford to take and read at least his home paper and one of the dailies. The history and wisdom of the world can be known only by reading and newspapers and good books should be in every home for our own increase of knowledge as well as to enable us to deliver and make out that knowledge to others.

Presbyterian Church, T. M. Caldwell D. D. pastor. Subject of the morning sermon will be "Bezaleel, or God's Plan for Every Life." In the evening Mrs. Dr. Dailey will conduct a service in the interest of the W. F. Missionary society, and will be assisted by special musical attractions. As it will be the last public service conducted by Mrs. Dailey, it is hoped all will attend.
