A GOOD POSITION

can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of railroad and wireless officials and place all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Davenport, Ia., Cincinnati, O., Portland, Ore., or Memphis, Tenn.

HILDA THE HELPER

I.—The Town Can't Do Without Her

Hilda the Helper is a girl who has a way about her that makes her precious as a pearl. THE TOWN CAN'T DO WITHOUT HER.

She's always ready on the spot where anything is doing, with all the energy she's got her share of work pursuing.

Hilda the Helper HELPS THE TOWN in many lines of action. (No wonder young Philander Brown admits she's his attraction.)

In Bradstreet's report of bank clearings for the week ending December 9, 1909, all but ten cities show greater or less increases. Out of the ten cities showing decreases, four are in prohibition states. The greatest falling off is in Alabama and Mississippi, states which adopted prohibition about a year ago.

Discussing the subject of crime in prohibition states, the Chicago Record-Herald, in an editorial, makes this statement: "In Jefferson county, Alabama, the county that includes Birmingham, there were thirty-four murders in the first twenty days of April."

After Lincoln went dry, the largest hotel there was compelled to pay an increased tax of $1,400 a year, besides forfeiting the business of transients who will not stop at a Saharan hotel.
