In company with John Bachelor, Fred Raubach of the McLeod garage and Chas. Louis of the State bank we took a fourteen-mile spin in the former's automobile the first of the week. We are prepared to state that as a space annihilator and sand gladiator John's mammoth Buick is all he claims for it.

"Weary Willie Walker," one of the newest and brightest musical farce comedies, will be the offering at the Quigley Hall on next Tuesday evening, Oct. 18th. Vic Crane, a well-known comedian will be seen in the principal role of "Weary Willie," a part very well adapted to him in that he possesses the talent necessary to present a good character and carry it properly throughout the action of the piece. He is supported by a large and competent cast. Seventeen special musical numbers will be introduced during the action which are full of spice and ginger from first curtain to the last.

P. F. Nuss of Sutton, special agent for Columbia Fire Ins. Co., visited over Sunday with I. M. Rice and family in this city, and we took him out for a short walk looking over the famous Lake Minnechaduzza, the city park and down to the city's new dam site. He admired the scenery and thought the walk was worth another year's lease of life. Mr. Nuss is a brother-in-law to Mrs. Rice's father, Col. Davis, who, with his wife, visited us last spring and had told him of our beautiful country and enterprising people. He went out Monday to Wm. Anderson's, 25 miles west on the Niobrara, to settle a fire loss.

Charley Jordan, who lives in the west end of town, had the misfortune of being bitten by a rattlesnake last Sunday morning. He was riding along the Minnechaduzza when his team flushed a rabbit which run into a hole, and getting out from his buggy he stooped down to inspect the hole with the idea of twisting the animal out with a stick and when his face was near the opening the snake bit him just below the right eye. He came to town immediately and was attended by Drs. Lewis and Compton. He is confined to his bed and is very much swoolen about the head and neck but it is thought that he will come through alright.
