A Good Job.
Jacob H. Schiff, at a dinner on the yacht Ramona, condemned a concern that had gone up.

"Straight business methods are the only ones," he said. "There is a moral in the receiver story."

"A man, you know, said one day to a little boy:

"Well, Tommy, what are you going to be when you grow up?"

"A receiver, sir," Tommy answered promptly. "Ever since pa's been a receiver we've had champagne for dinner and two automobiles."

Telephonic Reply.
The elderly stranger, by invitation of the superintendent, was addressing the Sunday school.

"How many can tell me," he asked, "which is the longest chapter in the Bible?"

Many hands went up.

"This little boy may answer," he said, pointing his finger at an urchin in one of the seats near the front. "Which is the longest chapter in the Bible?"

"Psalm double one nine!" shouted Tommy Tucker.

It is a shame for people who have in their lives a consciousness of love and character and courage, to fall into the wasteful folly of unhappiness about the unimportant.—Margaret De Land.

Consulting the Playwright.
"My star can wiggle his ears and whistle through his teeth."
"Um."
"Now, can you build me a first-class comedy around that?"

The average married man kicks because his wife worries because he doesn't get home right on time, but suppose she didn't care whether he ever came or not?

FOR WINTER HATS
FEATHERS OF ALL SORTS ARE TO BE ADORNMENT.

Last Word as to Millinery for the Coming Season Has Been Said—Profusion of Strange and Beautiful Things.

No work has been too intricate or painstaking for the maker of fancy feathers for the coming winter season. Women will certainly be a feathered throng, so far as their millinery is concerned, for the stores are deluged with wings, bands, pompons, sprays and even ostrich plumes with new and strange markings or branched with airy aigrettes.

One wonders where all the ideas came from and it is certain that an army of people must have been long busy, fashioning these new and strange and beautiful feather decorations.

Smart, to the last degree, is the pompon (military style) of Spanish coque, such as the Italian army officers wear on their hats. Miladi has borrowed this crisp, dignified decoration for her turban of fur or velvet. The coque feather is an expensive luxury, but it is elegant and never out of style.

There are innumerable made wings in which each separate feather is sewed to a foundation. They are single and in pairs, and many members of the world of birds who are natural enemies, are represented in these creations. They lie down in "piece" together, as the facetious express it.

Among the ariest are the new mountings of ostrich into sprays or aigrettes. They will form a substitute for the aigrette which is forbidden in some states and which one may not wear with a perfectly easy conscience. The made fancy feathers are nearly all the result of intelligent designing, with feathers of domestic or other edible fowls, and their manufacture gives work to thousands of families. No one need have scruples against wearing them, or against the ostrich plume or fancy ostrich feathers.

The pieces pictured, and others like them, make the work of the home-milliner easy. Given a good, graceful shape and one of these feathers, the trimming problem solves itself.

VOGUE FOR BLACK VELVET

Use of the Supple Material for Garments of All Kinds Has Now Become General.

The vogue for black velvet reached its height when some Paris designers allied it with English eyelet embroidery. People gasped, stared and then as quickly as possible went and did likewise. It is not surprising to see how general the use of this supple material—for it must be supple—is.

It edges the filmy materials of evening gowns. A broad band of velvet is used at the hem or to gather in the fullness of a tunic. This note is repeated on the sleeves that might suggest too little strength of weave to sustain the weight, but it can be done with safety and undeniable effect.

Black velvet with lace is another combination that is charming. Spanish lace, in white, black or colors, is relieved by strips and panels of velvet that gives a rich body to any filmy gown and affords contrast in textures.

As rosettes, girdles or pipings the use of black velvet is without limit. The color itself serves to bind together two contrasting shades into a veritable harmony. Again, it gives a line of contrast between two tones of one color, thus strengthening a scheme and emphasizing lines.

Sashes are a dominant note this season. Of black velvet, fringed with heavy silk or allied in unexpected ways with chiffon or tulle, a sash will add distinction to the simplest frock. The sensible way is to make it adjustable, for the friendly black can be taken from one frock and used on another gown with great effect.

Black velvet hats for afternoon and evening are undoubtedly the foremost ranks. They are shown in some advanced openings in large, box shapes with oval crowns. Frequently there are contrasting under surface of bright satin.

For evening gowns the black velvet models bid fair to carry the laurels. They are combined with gold or silver embroidery or with wonderful beaded plastrons that reflect the colors of the rainbow.

When you discover the magnificent evening wraps of black velvet that are friendly in that they will grace any colored costume, then, indeed, the full significance of beauty will burst upon you. These can be lined with metallic tulle under chiffon; they can be lined with soft hand-painted satin or brocaded silk, and are so lovely on the inner surface that many owners will be tempted to turn them inside out for a change.

But remember that black velvet is the fabric for this autumn and winter!

VALUE OF THE CRASH APRON

Smart Garment Especially Adapted for the Girl Who Is Fond of Fancy Work.

Infinitely practical looking and, therefore certain to be of comfort to the average fancy worker, are the cretonne headrests in flowered and Dutch patterns, which need merely to be braided outlined, or the French linen block print table and pillow covers, which come in cretonne patterns and require only to be braided and fringe finished.

To keep these "unspotted" from the world while in the course of their putting together, some young women are making for themselves white and blue crash aprons furnished with four deep pockets formed by simply turning up the lower edge to the required depth and edging it with wide braid.

Into such pockets may be placed the materials for tea-cloths to be bordered with the lace crochet, of which there are many beautiful patterns, including a rose design not unlike that seen in genuine Irish crochet.

Cluny machine made laces are used to trim scarfs, tablecloths, luncheon cloths, buffet covers and doilies, while for those women who fancy the quaint rather than the novel are linen illustrating household replenishings with Kate Greenway stories in colors harmonizing one with another.

SERGE DRESS

White serge made up in this style is very useful. The skirt is the favorite pleated style; the little overbodice, which can be worn with separate slips, is prettily braided with white Russia braid.

Hat of mauve straw, turned up both front and back, and trimmed with wide mauve ribbon and small pink roses. Material required, 6 yards 46 inches wide.

A Trimming Revival.

The ribbon lacing of a decade ago is being much revived. This is much used on simple house gowns, tea gowns of negligees. The buttonholes may be cut in the material and worked with heavy buttonhole twist to match or if broad ribbon is used the openings can be bound in bias silk or velvet. These are newer than crochet rings covered with heavy twist or rope silk to match the costume.

A soft, pliable ribbon is used, much wider than the buttonhole, so it falls into folds. The ends are drawn to a point with a gold or silver tassel or ornament.

Braided Rugs.

Braided rugs, round and oval, in blues, whites and blacks, with a faint weaving of rose or soft red, are to be used in front of bedroom fireplaces this winter. College people will delight in the rugs designed especially for them. They are made up in the different college combinations of colors, and any special insignia or year can be woven in to order. These rugs are not expensive.

WHY NEW ORLEANS

CITY IS LOGICAL POINT FOR WORLD'S PANAMA EXPOSITION.

Its Geographical Position and Many Other Considerations Mark it as Most Suitable Spot for Dedication of Great Work.

Public sentiment has decided that the completion of the Panama Canal in 1915 shall be celebrated with a great International Exposition in which all the nations of the world may participate; and the question of where this Exposition is to be held will be settled by Congress at its approaching session.

New Orleans and San Francisco are contesting for the honor of holding this Exposition, and both cities have guaranteed immense sums of money as an evidence of their ability to finance so great an enterprise.

An Exposition worthy of the term "World's Fair," such as New Orleans proposes to build, will be a great educational movement. Its success as such, however, will depend entirely upon the percentage of our population who can secure its educational advantages, this in turn, depends upon its location, as the time in traveling to and from the Exposition, and the cost in railroad and Pullman fares, are the most important factors.

Considering these matters, New Orleans' claims to being the "Logical Point" for this Panama Exposition, seem to be fully substantiated by the following facts:—

New Orleans is 500 miles from the center of population in the United States. San Francisco is 2,500 miles distant therefrom.

Within a radius of 500 miles from New Orleans there are 17,500,000 people. Within the same radius from San Francisco there are only 2,000,000.

Within a radius of 1,000 miles from New Orleans, there are 65,000,000. Within the same radius from San Francisco there are only 6,000,000.

At an average of 900 miles from New Orleans, there are 70 of our principal cities with a combined population of 20,000,000. Averaging 900 miles from San Francisco there are only 8 large cities, with a combined population of just 1,000,000. The average distance of all these cities to New Orleans is 792 miles,—to San Francisco 2,407 miles.

Over 75 per cent. of the people of the United States could go to an Exposition there at an average expense for railroad fare of $12.50, as against an average of $37.50 to the Pacific Coast; and for several millions of our people, the Pullman fare and Dining Car expenses alone, for a trip to San Francisco, would amount to more than all their transportation expenses for a trip to New Orleans.

This is an important public question to be settled by Congress at the session which convenes in December. Many of our readers will wish to visit this World's Panama Exposition, and if held in New Orleans a great many more could spare the time and money for the trip than could go to San Francisco. Therefore, we urge our readers to write to the two senators from this State and the congressman from this district, requesting them to support New Orleans in the contest.

Trouble in the Troupe.
"They've had a frightful time in the No. 5 Tom Company. Hear about it?"

"None."
"Busted an' walkin' back. That's right. Went to smash on the Vincennes circuit. Utility feller they picked up at Sawville got mad 'cause he was doubled as Marks an' a bloodhound, an' sawed the legs off the ladder, an' Eva fell out o' heaven an' landed on Papa St. Clair, an' Simon Legree landed on Unc' Tom, an' the real dog bit a hole in Aunt Ophelia, an' there was merry hades to pay until the local manager called the patrol wagon and had the whole bunch dragged up the pike and dumped in the woods. An' the worst of it was there was a record house, with nineteen good dollars in the box!"

Experience Teaches.
"Sure, and Oi tink it pays to be honest, after all," said Pat. "Oi troled that phoney-wet business in my grocery store lasht year, and Oi losht money by ut."

"How so? Did you get found out?" asked his friend.

"No, sorr," returned Pat. "Oi made the mistake of fillin' me weights wid lead, so that ivery mon that came to me for wan pound of sugar got twenty-three ounces to the pound."—Harper's Weekly.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress.

Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. Apply a match and it is immediately at work. It will burn for nine hours without refilling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. It has a damper top and a cool handle. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font.

It has an automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be quickly unscrewed for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.
