Hoenig-Headington.

Monday evening Oct. 17th, at 8 o'clock, Miss Glen Van Natter Hoenig and Clinton G. Headington were united in marriage at the Presbyterian church in this city by the Rev. Caldwell in a beautiful and impressive ring ceremony, in the presence of a number of guests.

The bride marched down the aisle, accompanied by her father, and carried a bouquet of white roses, being preceded by her maid of honor, Miss Lorencia Haley, and were met at the pulpit by the brides-groom, who was attended by Louis Hoenig, brother of the bride.

After the ceremony they repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoenig, followed by their guests, where a reception was given in honor of the occasion, which was Mr. and Mrs. Hoenig's 27th wedding anniversary.

After congratulations were offered and the crowd had taken possession of the house the wedding feast was served by a number of the young ladies present, Miss Marie Wade presiding at the punch bowl and later caught the bride's bouquet as it was tossed away which brought her numerous immediate proposals from the eligible present.

Many beautiful and valuable presents were received, including $50 in gold by two different parties.

The bride grew to womanhood in our midst and no more estimable young lady may be found anywhere. For eight years past she was an assistant cashier in the First National bank, following her graduation from the Valentine high school.

Mr. Headington is a member of Headington Bros. firm as stock raisers and own a fine ranch south of Woodlake.

The bridal couple departed on No. 2 for Chicago and points in Iowa, visiting relatives for several weeks, and will be at home after December 1.

M. C. Carroll, one of our popular real estate men asked us this question which we pass on to the public. "If farmer Anton Fisher who lives north of Crookston, this county, raises twenty acres of potatoes that goes one hundred bushels per acre and sells at sixty cents per bushel, which he has done this summer, therefore clearing sixty dollars per acre, what country can beat it?"

Wm. Franke and Mr. Perine, commonly known as Ted, one of the older and most prominent commission salesmen in the yards of South Omaha, returned Saturday last from a trip through the southwestern portion of the county, where the latter gentleman purchased the Black Poll herd of cattle belonging to Mr. P. Sanford, one hundred and fifty head of which will be shipped this week to Omaha.

Mr. Erickson returned from Canada two weeks ago, and his son Gilbert returned a couple of weeks before. Mr. Erickson fell off a road scraper he was driving a few weeks ago and fractured three ribs, but is getting along fine though pretty rough on a child of a king. He says the season has been very dry where he was, and we think he will be back here to make his home in Cherry county sometime, though he may return in the spring to the northwest.

The Lincoln Boosters visited Valentine last Friday, and a jolly bunch they were. They had the warm smile and glad hand for everybody, and many of the boys openly boasted that they were all for Dahlman and proud of the fact that Lincoln had saved the day at the primaries and would be there with the goods again in November. He further stated that he had polled the train between Wood Lake and this place and found that it stood 76 for Dahlman, 6 for Aldrich and 8 noncommittal.

Last Friday we left our home near Kennedy about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, starting to town and the roads being heavy and progression slow we arrived at J. M. Ralya's place after dusk. Finding a social gathering there of about fifty young people and being able to convince the host and hostess that we were friendly indians and our team being put up for the night, we took up our position in a remote corner of the room. Here we sat and listened to sweet strains of music by the Ralya orchestra, which has become famous in this section of the country, and feasted our eyes on the beautiful faces and figures until about half past twelve o'clock when a sumptuous lap supper was served. Owing to some fractured ribs we had refrained from taking part in the dance, but we were now willing to chance a full break and a fracture of our remaining good slats on the feast that was brought out which included a full quart of coffee. Here, let me explain to those who are uninformed that J. M. Ralya, in addition to being a splendid musician, is an expert at making coffee. After supper the music and dancing continued fast and furious until about 4 o'clock when we took up our journey toward town with happy recollections of a pleasant evening, feeling amply compensated for the sleep we lost. I've traveled some the past year and of all the social functions I have had the pleasure to attend I have nowhere seen people enjoy them selves anymore than on this occasion at J. M. Ralya's on the snake.
