Kidding Worse Than Cutting.
Talk about making good with your friends, a New Orleans man told everybody he knew that he was going to Philadelphia for the dual purpose of seeing the world's baseball series and having a slight surgical operation performed. Reaching this city, he consulted a specialist, and was told that an operation was not necessary. "But, doctor," the New Orleans party urgently interposed, "it must be done."
"Why must it?" wonderingly queried the surgeon.
"Because," was the startling rejoinder of the southern man, "I told all the boys at home that I was going to have an operation performed, and if I don't make good they will kid the life out of me."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Got Out of the Habit.
"I see you have got a young man stenographer?"
"Yes."
"Don't you think a pretty girl stenographer adds a great deal to the attractiveness of an office?"
"I suppose she does, but I can't dictate to a woman somehow. I suppose it's because I have been married so long."

"What's the sweetest kind of success?"
"That which you achieve by acting contrary to the advice of your friends."

HEALTH AND INCOME

Both Kept Up on Scientific Food.

Good sturdy health helps one a lot to make money.
With the loss of health one's income is liable to shrink, if not entirely dwindle away.
When a young lady has to make her own living, good health is her best asset.
"I am alone in the world," writes a Chicago girl, "dependent on my own efforts for my living. I am a clerk, and about two years ago through close application to work and a boarding-house diet, I became a nervous invalid, and got so bad off it was almost impossible for me to stay in the office a half day at a time."
"A friend suggested to me the idea of trying Grape-Nuts food which I did, making it a large part of at least two meals a day.
"Today, I am free from brain-tire, dyspepsia, and all the ills of an overworked and improperly nourished brain and body. To Grape-Nuts I owe the recovery of my health, and the ability to retain my position and income.

USE OLD FINERIES

LACE WAISTS AND SILK SKIRTS FOR NEW BLOUSES.

Practical Woman Can Make Good Use of Ancient Materials—Everything Can Go into Bodice Nowadays.

The woman who has old lace waists on hand, or a skirt or two in figured or plain silk, may now find use for these dilapidated fineries. A little study of the shop models in both elegant and practical blouses for winter wear will demonstrate how these ancient materials can be used up, for everything can go into a bodice nowadays, and veiling one stuff with another is the madness of the moment.

Granted there must be a little good lace for the yoke and sleeve bottoms, all the rest that goes into a corsage, made after the present styles, may be patched to any extent. As for silk, all that is necessary is for it to be of a rich color, for the sheen of red, blue, orange, or violet must be visible

LACE BAG LATEST NOVELTY

Great Saving of Time and Lace Effected by Country Woman's System.

A morning visitor at a country house found her hostess busy with mysterious little dainty bags, that were about ten inches square and fastened with a draw string. In answer to her query she was told that these were "lace bags," and that samples of the kind of laces they contained would be sewed on the edges like tags. She was furthermore told that although the proceeding might seem fussy, it was a great saving of time as well as of lace, for these fragile bits of trimming get tangled and torn if put in a box, even if folded at first. After a few hours for a particular piece the loosened ends seem possessed to knot together, and it requires great patience to undo them without tearing the edges. The samples show just what kinds of lace are bundled and safely pinned at ends, and just the one bag need be opened. All the bags are put in a large box, labeled "lace," and this has a particular space in the sewing room closet.

Cracks in Furniture.

Cracks in furniture can be filled in with beeswax so that the marks will scarcely show at all.
First of all, slightly soften the beeswax until it becomes like putty, then press it firmly and neatly into the cracks and smooth the surface over with a thin knife. Next sandpaper the wood surrounding the crack and work some of the dust into the beeswax.
This gives the work a finished look, and when it is varnished the cracks will have disappeared.
Putty is sometimes used for this purpose, but it is apt to dry and fall out, while beeswax will remain in practically forever.

To Cleanse Tatting.

Tatting can not be properly washed to look as good as new, for it is almost impossible to restore the picots to their natural shape. Soak the pieces in gasoline and while wet dust them with cornstarch. Wrap them in a clean towel and leave them for several hours. Beat the towel lightly, lift out the lace and shake it free of starch. Press the picots into shape and iron lightly on the wrong side.

through the covering of veiling, marquisette or chiffon. A summer foulard in black and white—since these materials wash like rags—would be invaluable, for this combination is stylish under a veiling of any sort in any color.

The veiled waists, especially if they have three-quarter sleeves, are shown principally for dressy uses, but the style is too useful for the home dress-maker to ignore when making over old textures, and if trimmings and models are sufficiently simple, such designs are suitable for the plainest tailor gowns.

The veiled bodice with lace under part, commonly begins with a complete blouse made with a high stock of an all-over lace. A plain or patterned silk, or a Persian gauze foundation, which is very stylish, will stop at the line where the jumper is to cover it and be filled in there with a stock in appropriate materials. The jumper, which is of gauzy veiling in the dress color, is the easiest thing in the world to make. The kimono model is the favorite for this over-bodice, and is fitted with one or more Gibson pleats at the shoulders, or else tucked back and front, or across the shoulders only. One strikingly effective device with such waists is a broad band of some rich trimming going around the foundation at the bust point, and showing richly through the thin outer material. Narrow velvet ribbon, or plain satin bands, trims the white stocks and undersleeves of these bodices effectively, while the blouse itself may have quite another trimming.

Persian silk and Indian cottons in a blur of rich color shape the more practical waists, those intended strictly for the plainer tailor gowns; but when these gaudy textures are veiled with something else, they at once become things for dressy use.

Our illustration displays a blouse of a simple all-over lace in a rich cream, covered with a kimono jumper of king's blue marquisette. A lace in blue and black encircles the round neck, with a stole drop at the front. The same lace edges the sleeves of the jumper and forms cuffs for the gathered undersleeves.

This bodice, like all the others, is adapted to simpler materials. If a gray dress on hand must be fitted out with a waist, use any colored silk—blue, old rose, violet, green or white—for the foundation, and then get a veiling in the dress color for the top. Moire or silk in a matching color could be employed instead of the lace here used. A well-made waist in this style would be suited to a handsome tailor suit, and if liked the jumper part alone might be employed as a model for a collarless short-sleeved house effect. In fact, there is no end to the possibilities of this jumper, for it is adapted equally to plain and dressy uses.

TASTY DRESS FOR A GIRL

Navy Blue Serge Is Most Attractive of Materials for Misses' Costumes.

No material is nicer for girls' costumes than navy blue serge. The one we show here is in a thick make of this. The skirt is a plain gored shape, turned up with a deep hem at foot. The semi-fitting Norfolk is cut three-quarter length, and has material straps taken over shoulders to lower edge back and front. They are left unsewn at waist, where a band is taken and fastened in front.

Hat of coarse straw trimmed with black satin bows.
Materials required: 6 yards 48 inches wide, 2 yards screen for lining skirt, 4 yards silk for lining coat.

HUMOR IN THESE VERDICTS

Quaint Ideas and Expressions Recorded as Having Been Rendered by Coroner's Juries.

Referring to a verdict recently given by a coroner's jury that death was "caused by the medical evidence," the British Medical Journal says: "This verdict may be added to those cited in the report of the select committee on death certification, where Dr. Ogle is quoted as saying: 'One verdict came before me a little time ago which was this: "A man died from stone in the kidney, which stone he swallowed when laying on a gravel path in a state of drunkenness." That was given as a verdict. I thought some joke had been played, and I wrote down about it, and found it was an absolute fact. Another one is like this: "Child three months old, found dead, but no evidence whether born alive." These novel judgments recall that an up-state newspaper not long ago spoke of taking a murdered man's "post-mortem" statement.

All in Good Time.

Seven-year-old William had become the proud owner of a pet pig, and insisted upon having all the care of it himself. After a few weeks, as the pig did not seem to thrive, his father said to him:
"William, I'm afraid you are not feeding your pig enough. It does not seem to be fattening at all."
"I don't want him to fatten yet," William replied, knowingly. "I'm waiting until he gets to be as long as I want him, then I'll begin to widen him out."—Tit-Bits.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subdues inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult us by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.
If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of wrapping and mailing only, and we will send you a free copy of Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in handsome French cloth binding.
