

THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT.

I. M. Rice, Editor and Proprietor

VALENTINE, NEBR., THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1911.

Volume 26, No. 3

YOU are cordially invited to examine the big array of all wool Taylor fabrics whether you intend to buy or not. ALL we want is an opportunity to show you their beauty and to give you some idea of the masterly way in which Taylor Clothes are modelled. We would like also to show you how popular the prices are and how it is possible for the most fastidious man to dress ideally at small cost. Accept our invitation, please, and see for yourself what Taylor tailoring stands for.

C. S. Reece and wife of Simeon are rejoicing over the arrival of another daughter in their home, born Thursday, Jan. 19.

Dr. F. M. Meer, dentist, of Valentine, will be a Wood Lake first Monday and Tuesday of every month. Office at Wood Lake hotel. 3

The county commissioners have resumed their work this week and will finish checking up the county officers and other duties of the January meeting.

Miss Myrtle Saunders of York came up Tuesday of last week to accept a position in the Valentine State Bank, but owing to a cold was confined to her room for several days after arriving.

The U. S. land office will adopt 16 new rules of procedure after Feb. 1, mostly relating to contests. Only persons desiring to file on land may file contest under the new rules and such persons must show that they are qualified to enter land. Ask to have your contest notice published in THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT.

Elias Stillwell returned Tuesday night from Omaha where he has spent the winter. From here he will go up to J. C. Rounds' in South Dakota and get his wife who has been visiting there with their daughter, and return in a few weeks to their home on Hackberry lake in time for duck season.

J. C. Salmon came up from Brunswick Tuesday on some land business. He tells us that his stepfather, E. E. Hollenbeck, died in Howard county, Iowa, near Cresco, about a week after New Year of heart trouble. Mr. Hollenbeck and wife and Charley Salmon had gone there to dispose of a hundred acres of land that they owned, and having done so Charley returned to Brunswick, when he received a message announcing his stepfather's death.

Notice the big advertisement of S. A. Mock, special agent of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, assisted by J. S. Howard, who have organized classes of music at towns along the line westward to Hay Springs and expect to teach music in this part of the west for the next few months. They teach on any kind of an instrument and have large classes at some of the towns. At Kilgore they are starting a brass band beside some who will take piano lessons. Also Crookston is talking of starting a band. At Nenzel, Cody, Merriam, Gordon and Rushville are also classes.

Rock Springs coal at Fischer's Hardware. 51

J. C. Brown has been in town a couple of weeks working with the ice men.

W. D. Clarkson resumed his ice work last Saturday loading cars, using the railroad ice chute for contracted ice, and also filling his ice house near the mill, and finished last night unless he receives further orders.

John Bullis and daughter, Ines Maurine, came down from Sturgis yesterday morning and his wife comes from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., tonight meeting here for a visit with old friends before returning to Sturgis, where John is in the hardware business. A failure of crops up there last season has been a draw back in business. John notes several changes in Valentine since leaving here and the old town looks good to him.

S. E. Smith was in town Monday and dropped in for a few games of checkers at this office. He and Col. Harrison played about even but ye editor got trimmed a couple of games in a six game bout. Mr. Smith plays a fair game and tells us that he recently returned from Southern Missouri where he went the first of the month on a real estate deal and sold a farm to Robt. McNamee. He played a successful game with a wealthy land owner at Willow Springs, Mo., who afterwards listed 2500 acres of his land for sale with Mr. Smith.

Tuesday Hammond & Bullis received a Standard Oil tank wagon for delivering oil around town to the different stores. It is a fine looking wagon and holds about ten barrels of oil with three compartments for oil, a case for axle grease attached to the back end and brackets on the side for carrying cans. The driver's seat is covered by a brown duck covered top. Running gears red and tank green. The Standard Oil Co. has two large storage tanks east of the depot which will be erected on a foundation and a building built to keep other supplies and a storage room for the wagon when not in use.

James O'Bannon died of pneumonia and heart trouble last Thursday night, Jan 19, while in town taking care of his little boy who had shot a hole through his foot the first of the year. He was brought here and is stopping with his mother, Mrs. Lawless. James O'Bannon was born in Massachusetts in 1857 and came to this part of the country about 13 years ago. He was a large, fleshy man and looked stout and healthy. He owned some land down in Keya Paha county. Several children survive him. His funeral was held Saturday afternoon at the M. E. church, and the remains laid to rest in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Tuesday afternoon was tried a case in the county court in which Edmund Gerber had sued Frank Higgin for damage to corn fodder by the defendant's hogs and some hay in the shock by defendant's cattle. Mr. Higgin offered on offset of this claim by hay sold to plaintiff for which he had received no compensation and also some hay eaten and destroyed by plaintiff's stock. The trial was by jury and a number of witnesses were examined, attorneys C. A. Ruby representing the complainant and A. M. Morrissey the defendant. The trial occupied nearly the whole afternoon, after which the attorneys briefly reviewed the case before the jury. A verdict was reached about an hour later awarding the defendant one dollar. This necessitated the assessing of the costs of the suit against the plaintiff.
