AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinknam's Vegetable Compound

my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relielf you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

THE FARMER AND PROTECTIVE TARIFF

AND THE PEOPLE PAY!

HERE IS EXCELLENT SAMPLE OF PROTECTION RUN MAD.

Provisions of Aldrich-Payne Law Are Responsible if Paper-Manufacturing Business Is Driven Out of the Country.

The paper-manufacturing business has been in much greater danger of being driven out of the United States by the provisions of the Aldrich-Payne law, for which the paper manufacturers themselves were responsible, Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at than by Canadian reciprocity. A house committee, after a most exhaustive investigation, reported that a rate of $2 a ton on print paper would afford ample protection. The paper men resisted and succeeded in having the rate fixed at $3.75 for the most common grade. In addition to that they caused certain retaliatory provisions to be inserted which, when enforced, have made the duty actually higher than it was under the Payne-Aldrich law.

While these duties were under discussion it was well known that the province of Quebec was threatening to prohibit altogether the exportation of pulp wood cut from Crown lands. It was not openly stated that the consideration which Quebec would require for withholding this prohibition would be the free importation of paper to the United States, but that was the manifest and well-understood purpose of the Canadian action. As soon as the Payne-Aldrich law was enacted the Quebec prohibition was ordered.

The American paper manufacturers had invested large sums-$12,000,000 it was said-in an attempt to get control of the Canadian pulp supply. The export prohibition meant that they could not use the timber they had bought except by moving their mills into Canada. By their short-sighted policy they had cut themselves off from their best supply of raw material. By humoring them, the United States congress had taken action which could have no other eventual effect than to drive the greater part of the industry out of this country.

And that was called protection! It was protection only for a few mills which were getting their timber supply from Maine or other sources not affected by the Quebec prohibition. In its broader features it was destruc-

The paper manufacturers tried to induce the government to help them out by declaring a general tariff war against Canada. President Taft wisely refused to enter upon a tariff war. A temporary agreement was patched up at a meeting between him and the Canadian finance minister at Albany. A condition of that truce was that negotiations for a more complete and just reciprocity should be hurried forward as rapidly as possible. The result is the agreement announced last month.—Buffalo Express (Rep.).

"Protection."

In its savage and reckless attack on American securities, the Berlin Tages Zeitung discloses the fear which American competition awakens in the minds of our German friends.

"At a time when the German steel industry has to compete with America as its strongest rival in South America and the far east, it would amount to treason to our own interests if we allowed ourselves to be made the dumping ground for billions of worthless bonds and railway

Now glance at the facts the other way around. If America is the "strongest rival in South America and the far east" for the German steel industry, why should America be taxed $3.50 a ton on ingots and steel rails and $6 a ton on structural steel? If our steelmakers can undersell Germany in the open markets of the world, need they fear that Germany, or any other nation, will undersell them in our own markets? In the light of such facts is not "protection" a humbug?

DIRECT ELECTION IS SURE

Reactionary Senators Will in Vain Stand Against the Will of the People.

The Democratic-insurgent victory in the senate with reference to the "place" of the resolution for the submission of the direct senatorial elections amendment is full of cheer and inspiration. It means the early submission of the amendment. The senate is yielding and responding to public opinion. The Lorimer scandal, the deadlocks, the machine-made candidacies, the lame and unsatisfactory expedients being resorted to by progressive states-all these things are having their effect.

Direct election of senators is coming. If the senate should fail to pass the resolution the result would be indignant and prompt action by the states that have so far failed to make "proper" application to congress for the calling of a convention to propose the amendment. Why, then, should not the senate discreetly anticipate events and gain credit for liberalism and progressive views?

The resolution should be approved at this session. It has the right of way and should be voted on. The handful of standpatters may as well bow to the inevitable. No filibuster should be necessary. The next congress is sure to vote for the amendment, and the obstructionists can secure nothing save a little further

The logic of events and the spirit of the age are fighting for the reform, and they are irresistible.

The Democrats and Reciprocity.

The united stand of the Democrats of the house in favor of the Canadian reciprocity agreement makes the dilemna of the Republicans even more trying than it was before. The Democrats have done the only thing they consistently could do. They have come to the support of the first measure proposed to give the country a measure of relief from the burdens of the Payne-Aldrich law, which they have so justly and mercilessly de-

The Republicans, who are responsible for that law, and are being held to account by the country for it, can just as ill afford to reject this reciprocity proposition. It is especially incumbent on the progressive Republicans to rally to its support. These Republicans did all they could in the tariff session to make a better law. Most of them are on record in favor of revising the tariff by schedules, or otherwise by piecemeal.

The Canadian agreement would not go far, but it goes far enough to present a test of good faith on the part of tariff reformers. It proposes a step in the right direction. It will let the country see who are sincere reformers and who are not.

The Tariff and Labor Cost. In its issue of December 3 The Out look says:

"The present theory of protection maintained by the Republican party is that the tariff is to protect American labor and that the protective duties should equal the differential between foreign labor cost and American labor cost."

This, though The Outlook may not be unaware of it, is as much as to say that protective duties should average not exceeding 10 per cent. ad valorem. This may be shown from the reports of the United States labor bureau in which appears the estimate of Carroll D. Wright that the average labor cost in the United States is 171/2 per cent. of the cost of production, which last is certainly less than the selling value. Many industries in which high wages are paid will show less than 10 per cent, as the labor

The differential between the labor cost here and abroad can hardly average as much as the whole labor cost, but, granting that it does, it follows, according to The Outlook, that the theory of the Republican party is that protective duties should average not over 10 per cent, ad valorem. In practice they average 50 per cent. ad valorem. Where the labor cost is particularly low, as in the textile trades, they are much higher than

The little six-year-old daughter of a well-known club woman was found in her play room the other day dong all kinds of acrobatic stunts and gesticulating wildly and weirdly.

"What are you doing?" asked the child's father. "I'm playing I'm mamma," she answered. Then she made more unique movements with her little arms and said, "There, father, you accept them. That's what they do when mamma makes them."

"What shall I accept?" asked the father, still more mystified, "and what does mamma make? Tell me what you are doing."

"Why," she said, "I'm playing that I am mamma at her club. Whenever mamma goes to her club she makes motions and the others accept them. I heard her say so over the telephone to Mrs. Smith this morning."-Illustrated Magazine.

I have been troubled twenty years with Prairie Dogs; have used many so-called exterminators to no purpose. Not long since I used a poisoned wheat, prepared by an expert who had made it a study for years, but it did no good for me; they at a it but but it did no good for me; they ate it, but chirped for more. The 'Dogs' were eating up a field of corn for me; I was at my wit's end what to do; I could only get the small 15c. size here of Rough on Rats.' I mixed it with corn and applied; many of them chirped no more; I then mixed it with corn meal and placed it on days not windy, near their holes. 'Rough on Rats' is by far the best thing I have tried, but I fancy I am using it unnecessarily strong, or you may suggest a better way than I know to mix or use it. I wish our druggists would have the lower I wish our druggists would keep the largest (75c.) size; could you send me the 75c. size? Wifely Solicitude.

Appealing to the police to find her husband, who went to work and had not returned home at eight o'clock, but requesting that the officers neither arrest nor "talk cross" to him, a woman left a note in the hands of Patrolman Hickerson at Sixth and Edmond streets containing information concerning the missing husband.

The note in addition to giving a description of the missing man read that the wife "was worried nearly sick because it was the first time that he had done this."

"I don't want you to arrest him," continued the note. "Tell the police to please not talk cross to him."-St. Joseph Gazette.

A Frequent Speaker.

A member from a northern constituency, who was one day reproached by a disappointed supporter for never opening his mouth in the house, repudiated the accusation with indignation. Not a day passed, he declared, but that he said something; and it was reported in the papers, too. In confirmation of his statement he produced the report of the last debate, and pointed triumphantly to the "Hear, hears," with which certain speeches were punctuated. "That's me," he said .- Tit-Bits.
