Did it Rain Sunday?

Ask any one of the occupants of the three auto's that started to Crookston Sunday afternoon and they will say "rr drr". Valentine was to play Crookston on the latter's diamond and started for that town about two o'clock. When about half way they ran into the storm and had to return to Valentine.

The following is a letter received by Mr. Meltendorff from E. Shelly, who is with the Rainey hunting expedition in British East Africa.

Forest Glen, Nairobi, British East Africa, June 30, 1911. My dear Meltendorff—We returned from our first safari, June 12. Mr. Rainey has taken Forest Glen here for a year. He left for the north a few days ago and left me here to look after the place. He will be gone about three months after elephant. When he returns we are going on another lion hunt. We have thirty-three more dogs due at the coast July 12, and I am going to Mombasa, to meet them. We had a great time and broke all records killing lions.

I may not return to America with the others, am thinking of building a tannery and going into that business. It looks like a good thing.

Mr. Rainey has instructed me to send you a lion skin with his compliments. I will try and put in something with it in the way of a trophy.

Am sending some pictures under separate cover. Will let you know when the lion skin starts.

With best wishes to Mrs. Meltendorff and the girls, I am,
Very truly,
E. Shelly.

Mr. Shelley sent several pictures of hunting scenes, wounded game, etc., which are now on exhibit at Chapman's. One picture shows the hunting party and nine lions. Eight of them had been killed in thirty minutes, a big record for even that big game country. Mr. Meltendorff supplied the party with several dogs and horses, and at the present time has ten head of horses in reserve for Mr. Rainey.
