Boy Scouts Organized.

The Boy Scout troupe that is being organized here is being pushed through as rapidly as possible; F. M. Walcott, Clyde Rosseter and John Stonecker have consented to act as Scout Council for the organization, while H. C. Jennings will be Scout Master with H. W. Davenport as his Adjutant. Already about thirty-six names have been handed to the Scout Master, of boys who desire to join and as soon as he hears from headquarters the boys will be given their examinations and the oath of the Boy Scouts will be administered to them. The idea of the Boy Scout movement is to make better boys in every way as it learns them to be capable and able to do many things that will come in handy to them in later life as well as putting them on their honor at all times. After they pass the first examination and take the oath they are known as tenderfoots, then they will work to take the next step which will make them second degree scouts, and then the last degree which makes them first degree scouts. There is lots for each boy to learn before he can pass either of the last degrees and there are very few men in the city who could pass the last one without a deal of study, so the movement is an educational one as well as the out-door training and healthful exercise. There are no fire-arms allowed as each boy simply has a staff and simple things necessary for camp life. It is hoped that the citizens of Valentine will encourage the boys all that they can. There are now over 300,000 Boy Scouts in the United States and the movement is growing very rapidly.

Improvement Club Meeting.

The Women's Improvement club will meet at the court house Thursday Oct. 15 at 3 p. m. sharp. All women interested in the moral and material welfare of the city are invited to be present. Those who are unable to attend are requested to send their names to the secretary, Mrs. W. Kincaid. The object of the Club is the bettering material and moral conditions, and promoting a kindly feeling of mutual interest.

The dues have been fixed at 10 cents a month. At the last meeting ridding the town of sandbars was taken up and a public drinking fountain was discussed.

Encouragement.

I used to work for Mr. Knox, a farmer who had lots of rocks. I left my couch at break of day and toiled until the dusk was gray. And when the evening meal was o'er I had to do chore after chore; I had to feed a million sows, and milk about a million cows. And never once did Mr. Knox remark to me: "Well done, old Sox!" He never cheered my dismal days by handing out a word of praise. What wonder, then, that in my ire, I set his house and barn on fire, and swiped a wagonload of straw, and carried off his mother-in-law. I went to work for Mr. Deans, and plowed his corn and hoed his beans and when I came in from my toil, all plastered o'er with sweat and soil, he always had some kindly word; he called me a looloo, peach and bird. And so my labor was delight, and though fagged out and worn at night, I trotted blithely out of doors and gaily did a million chores. If all employers only knew how much a word of praise will do, the sullen workmen that we see would do their little stunts with glee.—Walt Mason.

El. L. Heath of Cody was here on business Monday.
