Valentine

Fred Cumboy shipped cattle to Omaha Monday.

Theo. Tillson of Penbrook was in town Monday.

H. B. Clapp of Simeon was in town the first of the week.

G. A. Chapman returned from his eastern trip Saturday night.

J. T. Galloway shipped eight cars of cattle from Kilgore Monday.

Wallace McDonald visited Crookston last Saturday on business.

Will Leonard has gone up on the reservation to work for several weeks.

George Veach went down to Arabia Monday for two or three days' hunting.

Henry and Walter Wilson went down to Omaha Monday with J. T. Galloway.

Wm. Cohee was in town Monday getting a load of coal and other winter supplies.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Bishop and daughter came down from Gordon Monday night.

One of the new conditions noted in Valentine Monday was two Sioux Indians in town each marketing a load of hay.

Kate Helzer came down from her school at Cody last Friday night and spent Saturday and Sunday at home.

A large number of people in western Cherry county attended the Gordon fair last week and report a big time.

George Roberts went up to Merriman and Gordon on business last week, and this week went to Norfolk on land business.

There will be services in St. John's church both morning and evening on Sunday Oct. 1. Choir rehearsal on Saturday evening.

Fred Jones came down from Cody on the local Monday morning and visited friends around town and went to Omaha on the night train.

Will Cassman and John Brown with their families and Mrs. Foster were in Valentine Monday. They came from near Draper, S. D., and have taken homesteads south of here.

George W. Hamaker of Wood Lake and Miss Eva Pearl Hamilton of Johnstown were married by Judge Potter in the county court room Monday forenoon.—Ainsworth Star-Journal.

Walter Brown, who has been working on the telephone system between Stuart and Long Pine for several years, resigned his position last week and came to Valentine to assist his father, J. G. Brown, in the auto business.

Henry Wilber and wife returned Saturday night from Hot Springs to spend the winter with their son, Carl and wife. Mr. Wilber has been at a sanitarium where he underwent a surgical operation and is now in pretty fair health.

I. M. Rice spent Friday and Saturday at Merriman and upon his return saw Senator O'Rourke on the train going to Rochester, Minn., where he is going to consult the Mayo doctors for stomach trouble from which he has been ailing for several weeks.

F. M. Walcott and G. M. Gaskill went up to Rushville last Thursday night. Friday morning Mr. Walcott attended to some legal business and Mr. Gaskill made the acquaintance of Editor Cooper of the Recorder and Editor Mays of the Standard.

White Clay Precinct.

Several heavy frosts visited this section recently.

Mr. Aubert was doing some trading in town on Saturday.

John Clark went to Rushville Monday morning on horseback.

Miss Phoebe Jacobs visited at White Clay Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Clarence Clark visited with Mrs. Humphrey on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey were among those in the city on Saturday the 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Abolt and children came out from Rushville Tuesday to spend a few days on the farm.

School District No. 44 now has an enrollment of ten pupils. Several more will enroll after the fall work is done.

Mrs. J. O. Aplan returned to Rushville Sunday after spending a week out on the ranch. Mr. Aplan is erecting a new house.

The Sheridan County Fair at Gordon last week drew large crowds each day. Thursday was the biggest day of all, a special train was run from Chadron to accommodate the people living between that town and Gordon.

The produce and livestock exhibit were at the fair grounds. The display of produce was excellent but it did not excel in any way the showing made by Cherry county at the recent corn show.

The races held every afternoon at the fair ground track were interesting but rather slow. The Anderson horse "Buck Thomas" of Cody easily won first in every race entered.

Several Valentine people went up to see the sights, among them were Dr. Noyes, F. M. Walcott, W. F. A. Meltendorf, J. C. Scott, George Roberts and G. M. Gaskill.

A Useful Mineral.

Fluorspar, one of the lesser minerals and one of which many people have probably never heard, has come to occupy a comparatively important place in every day affairs. It is used in the manufacture of glass, of enameled and sanitary ware, in refining antimony and lead, in the production of aluminum, and as a flux in blast furnaces and in the manufacture of steel in basic open-hearth furnaces. The production of open-hearth steel alone in 1910 was over 15,000,000 long tons. The production of fluorspar, according to Ernest F. Barchard, of the United States Geological Survey, in a report on fluorspar and cryolite just issued, increased from 18,450 short tons in 1900, valued at $94,500, to 69,427 tons in 1910, valued at $430,196. The deposits which have been exploited are in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, and New Hampshire. Illinois is much the heaviest producer.

Cryolite is one of the comparatively few useful minerals which has not yet been discovered in commercial deposits in the United States, at least not in deposits such as can compete with those furnishing the imported product. In fact, there is but one important known deposit in the world, namely; at Ivigtut, an Eskimo hamlet on the southern coast of Greenland. Even this deposit is only about three acres in extent. Cryolite is used principally in the manufacture of opaque glass, for enameling of iron ware, in the metallurgy of aluminum, and as a flux in the manufacture of white Portland cement.
