Clyde Carpenter is very sick with lead poisoning.

C. S. Reece was in from his ranch Wednesday after a new base burner and a load of hard coal.

Geo. E. Hornby came up from his farm near Johnstown last Friday night and returned Sunday night.

The Epworth League gave a Halloween social in the basement of the Methodist parsonage Tuesday night.

Lee Stilwell came in from the ranch last week. He and Douglas Garrett are talking of taking an eastern trip.

There will be services in St. John's church on Sunday Nov. 5, both morning and evening. Choir rehearsal Saturday evening.

Mrs. Harry Schosser was down from Crookston Tuesday. She was accompanied by her father, D. L. McLane of White River.

Mrs. Frank Kelly who has been visiting the past month with her sister, Mrs. Neil Provost and family, went to her home in Lyons, Nebr., Monday night.

The regular meeting of the school board was held in W. E. Haley's office Monday night. Several bills were passed upon and other routine matters attended to.

G. A. Gregory, state inspector of normal training schools, was here Tuesday. Mr. Gregory always finds a warm welcome here among his friends, and the pupils never tire of his talks to them.

Newell Humphrey received a telegram from a brother Wednesday morning saying his sister was dead. He went to the old home at Wooster, Iowa, that night for the funeral. Mr. Humphrey had not seen his sister for several years.

The fourth and fifth grades of the Valentine school went out to the Carlson place last Thursday night to a party. They were hauled out in a hay rack and had a dandy time. Miss Stuckey and Miss Van Orsdoll their teachers went with them.

A few friends of Alta and Lottie Jones gathered at the Provost home Tuesday night and aside from having a most delightful time enjoyed a feast of noodle soup. The Jones girls will leave Valentine soon and accompany their parents to Bancroft, Nebr., where they have a farm. The following friends and schoolmates were present: Bertha Helzer, Marjorie Garrett, Gussie Graef, Melissa and Gertrude Shelbourn, Ilene Provost, Mary House, Belle Hobson, May Goodrich, Fae Pettigrew and Ruth Quigley.

Doc Grooms returned from San Francisco last Friday night. Mr. Grooms captured Arthur Roach, a deserter from the navy, and was instructed to deliver his prisoner to the authorities on board the retired battleship Independence, now used as a training ship, at the Mare Island navy yards. While he was there the battleship Maryland was in dry dock undergoing repairs; about 500 men were employed on this work. Mr. Grooms rode from Mare Island to San Francisco on board the battleship Cincinnati which was bound for China. He was treated royally by the officers of Uncle Sam's navy and is keeping his eyes open for another man who has tired of the routine of navy life so that he may again enjoy the hospitality of Mare Island officials. Mr. Grooms has caught several deserters from the army but this is his first naval deserter.

Telephone Office Robbed.

The office of The Cherry County Telephone Co., was entered by a lone robber about 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Entrance was gained by removing a storm sash and raising a window opening on the back porch. There are three rooms in the suite. The robber entered the back room and made his way to the office. The cash register was ransacked and about $40, mostly silver and pennies, was taken. In going from the back room to the office the man passed by two of the operators, Miss Mabel Alderman and Miss Alma Nelson, who were sleeping on a couch in the middle room. Miss Alderman is a light sleeper and cannot understand how anyone could pass through the room and open the register without making enough noise to awaken her. The girls room was lighted by a 4 candle power lamp but the other rooms were dark. About 3 o'clock both girls were awake and as it was very warm they opened the door leading into the back room. On the way out of the office the man again passed within arms reach of their bed and Miss Nelson was awakened by his hand or coat brushing her face. The frightened girl screamed and the robber disappeared through the door, closing it after him. They phoned to the bakery for help and the night man there went up and searched for the intruder but no trace of him could be found. He went out the back door and down the steps to the alley. Miss Nelson had only a passing glance at the man and her description is meager. He wore a black overcoat and had a white handkerchief over the lower part of his face, and appeared to be stooping or bending over when she caught sight of him.

Crookston.

Dr. Vanden returned from Omaha Sunday night.

A lighting plant has been installed in the stone building.
