Land Office Notes.

During the calendar year just ended, the Valentine office allowed seven hundred homestead entries, aggregating 364,804 acres, an average of 521 acres per entry.

The annual report of the commissioner of the general land office discloses the fact that patents were issued for land in this district, during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, aggregating one-half million acres. This is probably the largest amount of land ever patented in this land district in one year.

A few days ago there were nine hundred and fifty patents remaining uncalled for in the local office. Just that many tracts of land in this district are being held without any evidence of actual title from the government. They should be called for and placed on record in the various counties.

An important change in the regulations for the sale of isolated tracts, and the sale thereof, has just been made. Hereafter a tract will not be subject to application for sale unless it shall have been vacant and surrounded by land entered or otherwise disposed of, for at least two years prior to application. But one tract may be included in each application for sale. If the application is allowable, the chief of field division, special agents, will be asked to report on the value of the land, and if it appears that the value of the land is more than $1.25 per acre, it will not be sold for less than the value so fixed. These regulations will apply to all applications for sale filed since January 1st, but whether they will be applied to applications filed before that time, but not yet acted upon, the local office is not informed. They will not apply to cases in which sale has already been ordered.

With all the space gone and automobile dealers clamoring for more, the promoters of the Automobile show which will be held in Omaha February 19 to 24, are facing a serious situation. They want to accommodate every one who desire to exhibit in the Nebraska event. Plans for a large addition to the Auditorium are being considered by the officers of the association. In this manner they hope to be able to provide for the demand.

Many interesting exhibits will be shown. Electric current will be used to show the workings of a motor car. The motors will be in operation day and night, running at full speed. The exhibition will be an educational one, affording visitors a chance to see how automobiles are operated.

Nebraskans are noted for their progressiveness and their activity along automobile development is no less marked than in other lines, which have put Nebraska to the front as a commercial state as well as an agricultural state.
