

The Eyes Feed the Brain.

Parents who neglect their children's eyes are more cruel than the Chinese, who encase the feet of their little ones. One dwarfs the feet—the other stunts the mind. When we adjust glasses study becomes a pleasure.

FRIDAY FACTS.

The West Side Whist club met with Dr. and Mrs. Bear last evening, who entertained the members in a royal manner. Services were held in St. Paul's and Christ Lutheran churches this morning. Services are to be held in these churches every Friday morning during Lent. Four miles of grading has just been let at South Omaha by the F. E. & M. V. railroad company. The grade is to be wide enough to accommodate 10 tracks. The cost of the improvement will be $25,000. It was Mrs. R. W. Williams whose horse ran away yesterday, and not Mrs. L. A. Williams, as stated. While at first she thought she was not injured, today she is considerably lame from the effects of her fall.

This being a legal holiday, no weather forecast was received this morning. The thermometer dropped to one degree below zero this morning, which seemed colder than it really was on account of the stiff north breeze blowing.

Mosaic lodge, No. 55, A. F. & A. M., conferred the third degree last evening, using the stereopticon. There was an unusually large attendance of members. At the close of the work refreshments were served in the banquet room.

The most noticeable observances of Washington's birthday are by the post-office, which is keeping Sunday hours, being open from 11 to 1:30 by the school, which are not in session, and by the banks, which are closed. The closing of the banks today makes many houses short of change with which to do business.

The Ladies aid society of the M. E. church enjoyed a liberal patronage at both the dinner and supper given by them yesterday in G. A. R. hall. They served fine meals both noon and evening, the only criticism that could be offered being that they were almost too generous in what they served. The proceeds of the entertainment netted them about $50.

Madison's new electric light plant is now in operation and is giving good satisfaction to the people of that town. The streets are lighted by nine arc lights and 45 32-candle power incandescents, which makes it one of the best lighted towns in the state, considering the size of the place. The plant is owned by the city and is run in connection with the waterworks.

This is the sixteenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Huntington, which they celebrated today by giving an old fashioned turkey dinner to 14 ladies, the invited guests being Mesdames Morrow, McMullen, Birchard, Hazen, C. H. Reynolds, McBride, Mount, Stafford, Seymour, Baker, Snyder, Stitt, R. H. Reynolds and Maynard. The ladies went at 10 o'clock this morning attired in Martha Washington costume, and will spend the day. They presented their hostess some handsome pieces of china. The affair was very informal and consequently very pleasant.

The men of the Congregational church are giving an entertainment in the parlors of the church this evening, which is strictly a male affair. Oysters and coffee, with the various accompaniments, are to be served, the whole to be in charge of the men. The line up of efficient help this afternoon seems to be about as follows, although there may be some changes: Bert Mapes is to be head cook, and he will season the oysters with a few legal opinions, C. C. Gow and C. B. Durland will wash dishes and wipe them with insurance policies, R. A. Stewart, A. H. Allison and W. Z. King will polish the silver with butter ladies, Geo. Reckard will clean the skillets with a jack plane, Robert Utter will carry wood and water on a book, while as waiters will appear John R. Hays at a table of congressional returns, E. O. Mount at the telegraphers' table, Prof. O'Connor at the multiplication table and J. K. Boas at the side board. Each one of the force will wear hats of the time of Geo. Washington, and conduct themselves in keeping with colonial times. It will be worth traveling miles to partake of the hospitality of these gentlemen, at a quarter a partake, even in the cold weather which is promised for tonight.
