Kiesau Drug Co.

Boston, Mass., Apr. 23, 1901.—Mr. H. A. Pasewalk, Norfolk, Neb.—Dear Sir: We are just making a shipment of two very fine, style F, dark mahogany pianofortes to our representative, Mr. C. H. Johnson, of Norfolk, and he has mentioned your name as a possible customer, explaining that you have unfortunately been interviewed by a good many piano salesmen who have left a rather confused impression, especially of our house, in your mind, so we take the liberty of writing you. We realize that our enormous success as piano makers since the establishment of our house by Jonas Chickering in 1823 has caused many competitors to use every possible means to lessen the esteem of their customers the value of our instruments. Tales of various kinds come to our ears from time to time of the most extraordinary conditions concerning our house, which are so far from the truth as to be more amusing than anything else. We realize, however, that many customers hearing these statements are somewhat confused and find it difficult to pick out the truth from the very large amount of poisonous piano information which is poured in upon them. We shall be pleased, should you care to write us, to answer any questions which you may ask concerning our product, but take this opportunity of saying that never in the course of our seventy-eight years of continuous manufacture have we made an instrument the equal of that we are producing today. We should be glad to learn that you had examined carefully the two fine pianos we are just sending to Mr. Johnson, as they represent fully the superior qualities possessed by our pianofortes.

Yours very truly,
CHICKERING & SONS.

FRIDAY FACTS.

There will be preaching in the Presbyterian church next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock.

J. Miers of Emerson has sold the Wagner livery barn on North Third street to Clint Smith of Madison.

The business meeting of the Epworth league which was to have been held this evening has been postponed until Friday evening of next week.

The three-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Selling who live on South Third street, was taken with convulsions yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock and died about 6 o'clock.

There will be an informal reception tendered Bishop Williams at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reynolds, after the services this evening, to which all the parish and friends of the parish are cordially invited.

Bishop Williams will be at Trinity church this evening and will preach, and afterwards confirm a number of persons. He will also set apart to sacred uses the beautiful baptismal font which the Trinity Social guild has given to the church. Services will begin at 8 o'clock.

The past few days, if ever, has been a time when Norfolk needed a street sprinkler to lay the dust. The heavy south wind has sent the dust scurrying along in clouds and gave merchandise in some of the stores the appearance of second-hand or shop worn goods. If there is to be street sprinkling this summer it should begin at once unless nature's sprinkler can be better depended upon.

Yesterday was the first anniversary of Trinity Social guild and last night at 8 o'clock the members of the society met at the home of Miss Myrtle Waldron where they donned their gingham aprons and dusting caps and proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Juneman where they assisted in hanging curtains, laying carpets and altogether making themselves useful in settling the new home.

The whistle on the round house at the Junction sounded a fire alarm yesterday afternoon and was soon joined in by the sea lion on the pumping station. The fire department responded with alacrity and made a flying trip to the scene of the fire, which proved to be a pile of ties between the division headquarters and the round house. The blaze had been extinguished by the people down there before the firemen arrived.

Word has been definitely received from Mr. Willis and Mr. Tibbs of Omaha and they will be in for the dinner tonight, which the board of directors of the Y. M. C. L. are giving to the friends of that organization. The supper that is being provided is just the kind that will please a crowd of men such as are expected to be present tonight. Bohner's full orchestra will give some of their best selections and without question help make one of the most delightful evenings ever enjoyed by the men of Norfolk.

Nice strawberries, nice boxes, at Schoregge's.

There will be a meeting of the alumni this evening at the High school room, at 8 o'clock, to decide about the banquet for the graduating class. All members are urgently requested to be present.

LILLIAN LUKART,
President.

BATTLE CREEK.

Howell Avery went up to Tilden on business Wednesday.

Little Golden Wilberger is quite sick with fever at this writing.

Born, on April 25, to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hagemeyer, a daughter.

Rev. Daman of Meadow Grove attended the Masons here Friday.

D. A. Ommerman of Valley precinct was transacting business here Tuesday.

Steve Overton and Rudy Blatt of Norfolk were up here Tuesday on business.

Ernest F. Hans and Sam Schneider had some business at Norfolk Thursday.

John S. Craig, of near Norfolk, was here Tuesday on some real estate business.

W. B. Vail, one of Norfolk's jewelry men was transacting business here Tuesday.

Attorney W. E. Reed and T. F. Memminger of Madison had some business here Monday.

Rev. J. L. Dunn of Meadow Grove occupied the pulpit at the Baptist church Sunday.

Hon. P. F. Zimmerman went down to Omaha Sunday on business. He returned the next day.

A. Collins, of near Elgin, was visiting here Monday with F. J. Hale and other friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lovelace were the guests of the Pearson family in Schoolcraft precinct Sunday.

Attorney Dan Koenigstein of Norfolk was up here Thursday in the interest of the Krug Brewing Co. of Omaha.

Maas & Brechler branded about 250 head of cattle Monday, which they will drive up to their ranch near Inman this week.

Fred Fuerst, sr., Mrs. Edward Fuerst and Miss Bertha Rodemayer drove down to Norfolk Tuesday, for a visit with friends.

Monday L. Lyons of Madison started to grade the First East street, from the hotel corner north to the Valley township line.

Claus Neuwirk departed Wednesday for Long Pine to do some business on the Owen O'Neill cattle ranch near that place.

Walske Bros. were shelling 3,000 bushels of corn for L. B. Baker Friday, and about 1,000 bushels for J. L. Kneisel the next day.

W. A. Barnes is still in business, but he has sold very near everything. Something very new will be in his building soon.

Ed. Warne, who is foreman on Owen O'Neill's ranch near Long Pine, came down here Sunday to stay about five days on business.

Contractor Chas. Werner is very sick in bed at this writing. The men had to quit working on Thomsen's dwelling Wednesday on that account.

W. J. Stavely's grocery store looks like a flower garden at present. He had received a lot of potted flowers of many kinds from a Council Bluffs hot house.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Whitla, two daughters and young David, returned Sunday from a four months' visit to the Pacific coast. All feel much improved in health.

H. J. Murphy, aged about 70 years, died here Friday morning at 4 o'clock. The remains were taken Saturday afternoon to the Jackson cemetery, in Deer Creek precinct, for interment.

Mrs. Herman Eucker and two little children went to Clearwater Monday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Haman. Joseph Maas went along too, those people being his grandparents.

M. L. Thomsen spent most of his time at Tilden this week. We learned he sold his hardware store at that place to the Bradford Lumber Co., and he will make different arrangements with his general store there. His employees seem to be on the strike.

The officials of the village appointed a committee to investigate the docket of justices of the peace in Battle Creek. Judge Neuwirk told them that his docket was open to the public any time. Some justices often make entries afterwards, in order to hide the fees.

Herman Hogrefe's new residence is getting away up in the air at this writing and we believe he is going to beat everything built in that line in Battle Creek yet. Why not? Live and let live. We had a banker here once and he always said: "We are the people and we must be rejected." They were rejected afterwards.

Today, Wednesday, only one saloon is open, the place of Ernest F. Hans. Last night the village board met on a remonstrance case against Sam Schneider and P. H. Ingoldsbey. The remonstrance was signed by a man named Phipps, a bar tender in Hohnek's saloon. Judge J. B. Barnes of Norfolk and Attorney H. H. Kilburn of Battle Creek were here for defense and M. C. Hazen of Norfolk for the plaintiff. They agreed to continue the case till next Wednesday, May 8. Hans' saloon has an immense business and he is going to get even with them now for when they kept him out of business about four months last year. Now, you see, the devil fights his own brothers. What do we care? It is a brewery fight anyhow.
