It is now positively known that the democrats who have assisted in the fusion movement all these years have been nothing but populists. Ex-Governor Poynter has said so and he thas not served the state for a term in the chief "The populist organization must and a loan and in paying off the entire de shall be maintained, for if the democrats should go back to the original must have a party left for those] who still stand for the rights of the people."

Northern Pacific stock did a star performance in Wall street yesterday that of a similar character. The stock at the opening was quoted at 170 and at 11:05 had reached the 550 mark. Before 11:30 it was selling at $1,000 cash per share. It is a season of great excitement among railway manipulators but the flurry in Northern Pacific was most sensational and the shorts were squeezed very effectually. It is to be hoped that the speculators will not continue their mad actions until they effect general markets disastrously.

congress will be held in Colorado the court. Springs in July and it promises to be one of the most enthusiastic and interesting sessions of the body yet held. Friends of irrigation in the west are impressed with the necessity of agitating the question between now and the time the national congress assembles in December. It is only by keeping the matter before the people of the interested west and convincing eastern friends of the value of the movement that the question may receive final and satisfactory settlement. Should the movement fail it will be largely due to the inactivity of the people of the west. An exchange gives the following. . More farming land for the west, more money for the east, and less water for the south! This may be said to be a summing up of the results of a comprehensive irrigation policy which would place 75,000,000 acres of now arid western land under close cultivation, and and second class, was 20,434, as against Creek. thus create an immense home market for the manufacturing interests of the east, and at the same time largely prevent the floods of the Mississippi valley."

Helping Your Town.

It is not the site of a town but it character that makes it a desirable place to live. A live and prosperous town is a desirable one, and a town may live and prosper and yet be small. Every citizen of a town should be interested in its prosperity.

One of the ways to help a town is to always speak well of it. It is true patriotism to stand by your town and self-interest as well. As a man who speaks ill of his own family lowers both himself and his family, too, in the estimation of others, so does a man who cares little for his town and community seldom care much for his country. The man who is respected by others respects himself and his neighbors, and patriotism begins at home.

Another way to help your town is to your own property all you can and then do all you can to help beautify the streets. Be friendly to everybody and courteons to strangers. Your civility will help to make good impressions and will be carried away and cherished. Never forget that you are a part of the town and your deportment helps to make up the stranger's estimate of the Sell all you can and buy all you can at home. Every dollar that is sent or carried away from the town makes it that much poorer. If you have the means invest in something that will give somebody employment. Always cheer on the man who goes in for improvement. Do not kick against a proposed improvement simply because it is not at your door. A town that is improving is also spreading itself ont. If him. If a poor man starts help him.

Don't be afraid to thrust your hand down in your pocket to help a public enterprise. More towns have been killed by such refusals than in any other way. The citizens of any prosperous town are always public spirited and nnited.

Stand together. Work together for the interest of the whole town, always stand ready to do your part. Don't that part of the state. gramble and spend your time in prophesying failures, but help to make every enterprise a success. Every man owes something to the community for his own success be it great or small. Be energetic, be enterprising and your 'example will be imitated .- Shelton Clipper. governor.
