Hagell Stancliff was a Madison visitor in town yesterday. S. L. Gardner made a business trip to Pierce yesterday. Chas. M. Hall of Creighton is a business visitor in town today. C. R. days he walked 75 miles and his feet were terribly blistered, when found. The Presbytery of Niobrara will meet at Wayne next week to dissolve the pastoral relation between Rev. D. O. Montgomery and the Wayne church. Mr. Montgomery will sail shortly for Manila where he has been appointed superintendent of public instruction. Norfolk Odd Fellows are to receive a visit from a distinguished member of the order tomorrow, being no less a personage than the grand master, P. C. Johnson of Holmsville. He will arrive from the west at noon and will remain until evening, when he will meet Norfolk lodge in regular session at I. O. O. F. hall. C. F. W. Marquardt returned last evening from an extended visit through the northwest. He was gone about five weeks, most of the time being spent in Oregon and Washington. His first impressions of that country were very favorable, but after the novelty began to wear off he did not like it nearly so well. The Pacific coast region is different in climate, soil and conditions from anything to be found elsewhere in the United States, and the softness of the atmosphere with the perennial green of the foliage is certainly very attractive to a stranger, but Mr. Marquardt remained long enough to discover some of the disagreeable features and was well pleased to take the train for home. The rain of this morning was accompanied by considerable wind. The breeze developed at about 3 o'clock and continued for a short time only. The path seems to have been along the North Fork and the east. The principal damage was done to one of the Schwenk ice houses, east of the city, where a strip of roof 35 feet long was torn off. At the home of Dan Metcalf, near Main street bridge, a chicken coop was utterly demolished, several trees were blown down and things in general badly shaken up. At the home of W. A. Moldenhauer and in that neighborhood limbs of trees were broken to a slight extent. The telephone company reports a few lines tangled but nothing of a serious nature. The report that the town of Foster was under water is not true.

Bell is in Beatrice this week, attending the convention of the State Funeral Directors' association, of which he is president. Mr. and Mrs. Gobleman of Madison were in the city yesterday. Their son has been in quarantine for smallpox here, but is now convalescent. Ed. Walters of Humphrey was in the city over night and took the morning train for Wakefield, where he was called by the illness of his mother. Miss Metta Koenigstein entertained a few young lady friends last evening at a farewell for her guest, Miss Winnie Owen, who left for Omaha today. Ch—er up boys! Ch—erries are ripe. And it is an unusually good crop, too. The birds seem to have done less than ordinary damage to the fruit. Mrs. John R. Hays will return tomorrow from Iowa City, Ia., where she went to be present at the graduation of her son, Charles, from the law school of the Iowa state university. The examination for state professional certificates will take place tomorrow and Saturday. Thus far C. W. Wallace of Madison is the only one who has signified his intention of taking it. Miss Hanna Boeck, who has been visiting relatives in the city, returned to Omaha today. She was accompanied by Mrs. Geo. Dudley, who will go on to Harlan, Ia., to visit her sister, Mrs. Taber. The opening game of the Junior league series for Norfolk is scheduled between the home team and Madison for next Monday, June 17. The contest will take place on the diamond east of the city. J. C. Stitt is preparing plans for a store and office building at Madison, to be built by Frank Prince. The structure will be of buff pressed brick, 36x60, and one of the finest of its kind in the county seat. Mrs. Sally Saunders and Mrs. Ida May Davis, who have been visiting at the home of Col. E. G. Mason and wife on Brasch avenue, went to Sioux City yesterday to join the C. C. Clarr Minstrel troupe. He proposes to put forth every effort to rid the city entirely of such characters. Word is received from Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Whitney of Omaha, that they left yesterday for an eastern trip. They will go to Cleveland, O., first, and thence by the lake route to Buffalo. They will visit New York City before returning. The following party went to Plainview at noon today, to spend the afternoon with Mrs. H. G. Correll: Mesdames McBride, C. H. Reynolds, A. J. Durland and C. B. Durland, and Misses May Durland, Laura Durland, Annie McBride, Jane Durland and Helen Reynolds. The members of the Baptist Sunday school started out early this morning, with baskets brim full of good things to eat, and will spend the day at Taft's grove. During the afternoon they will witness a ball game between the Junior league team and the West Side boys. G. M. Thompson is preparing to make a change in location. He will go to Kansas next month with that end in view. The household goods are being stored. Mrs. Thompson and daughter, Agnes, will leave early next week for Boston, where they will remain for several weeks. The naval cadetship examinations are still in progress at the High school building. There are eight entered instead of six as stated last evening. The two omitted are Jerome Langer of West Point and Louis Edens of Petersburg. The physical examination was held yesterday afternoon but the results have not been given out. Several office changes are to be made in the city. On July 1 W. J. Gow & Bro. will remove to the office now occupied by the Plano Manufacturing company and Ransom & Clements. The Plano people will have quarters in their new warehouse and Ransom & Clements will occupy rooms in the Bishop block. The office vacated by Gow Bros. will be taken by the Singer Sewing Machine company. Dan McCarrigan was brought up before his honor, Judge Hayes, this morning on the charge of "drunk and disorderly conduct, using obscene language and resisting an officer." He pleaded guilty and was touched up to the tune of $18.10. McCarrigan is an old offender and well known in the police court. When an attempt was made to arrest him last night, he put up a vicious fight and was only lauded in a cell at jail after a hard tussle with four men. "An' you might say on my own personal account," continued Col. Mason, as he tore off a few yards of rag time with his shoe brush, "that they is a good many lazy good-for-nothin' nigger tramps layin' roun' this town what won't labor when they git a chance. Why this very day I tempted to git two or three niggas to take posishuns a washin' windows an' do you think they'd cept? Not on your tin type. They absolutely refused. They order be run out o' town." Norfolk avenue is to be improved. "As soon as the street is cleared of the building materials, rubbish, etc.," said Mayor Koenigstein, this morning, "it will be graded up from the sides in good shape. Then we will pass an ordinance to prohibit tying teams on Main street and provide additional hitching posts and chains on the side streets. Other towns, smaller than Norfolk, are doing this and there is no reason why we can't. We will make Norfolk avenue something to be proud of." A report from Omaha says that a movement is on foot to consolidate a number of small creameries in the north Platte country. It is proposed to make skimming stations of them from which milk will be shipped to a central plant, which will probably be located in Omaha. Creameries interested in this movement are located at West Point, Columbus, Bazile Mills, Norfolk, Albion, Atkinson, Tilden and Newport. A meeting was held in Omaha yesterday to consider the matter. The plan is to consolidate interests and send the cream to one central station, where it can be converted into butter at a less cost than at the individual plants. Miss Amanda Wille will leave tomorrow for Chicago. While there, she will attend the commencement exercises of the Chicago Conservatory of Music, where her sister, Miss Bertha Wille will graduate. The latter has completed a two years' course in one term and finishes with especially high honors. In the final examination, she with two other young ladies, passed perfectly, for which they each received a gold medal. A spell-down was held between these three, in which Miss Wille received the highest grade and was awarded a diamond medal. She has many friends in Norfolk who will feel a personal pride in her excellent success. Lost—On road between Pierce and Norfolk June 12, a dark brown leather grip.
