Barton, is gentlemanly and accommodating, and has a corps of assistants who are deserving of the popularity they are enjoying. If you have not yet treated the children to a ride you should lose no time in doing so.

RAID ON MOONSHINERS.

Tennessee Posse Attempt Capture With Disastrous Results.

Nashville, Tenn., July 22.—Reports from Monterey, Tenn., near which place an internal revenue raiding party was ambushed by "moonshiners" Saturday, say excitement in that district is at a high pitch. The natives seem to have generally sided with the moonshiners and Collector Bell deemed it advisable to take his posse to Cookeville to await the reinforcements which leave here today. Every deputy collector and deputy marshal in the district has been summoned to join in the raid which is contemplated.

The "moonshiners" have boasted they will not be taken alive and as they are well armed and fortified in the mountains, a serious conflict is expected.

Collector Bell reports that one of the moonshiners, Frank Whittaker, has died of wounds received in Saturday's fight and that another, Will Patt, had his leg amputated as a result of a wound received in the same affair.

Thomas Prince, the wounded deputy marshal, has been taken to his home in Sparta, while Corder Mackay, the wounded posseman, is at Cookeville, and is reported to be in a critical condition.

United States Marshal John Overall will head the reinforcements leaving here today. Colonel Chapman, revenue agent of this district, will also accompany the force, which will invade a wild country, inhabited by hardy and desperate people, almost universally hostile to the "revenue men" on general principles.

The bodies were found in the cabin of the Venitza when she was raised yesterday. So far the bodies of only the two daughters have been found, leaving those of Mr. Colburn, Captain Flint and a sailor known as Frank still to be located.

An enterprising citizen has suggested that it would be a proper thing for the people of Norfolk to secure the right from Burr Taft and erect a bath house or two at his grove on the Elkhorn. The News failed to mention the concert given by the Norfolk band last Friday evening, but it was not because it was not deserving of mention, but merely on account of an oversight on the part of the writer. The concert was given on Main street in front of Ahlman's bicycle store and a large number of people were attracted down town to hear the music. After the concert the band was given several rides on the merry-go-round and their music was substituted for that of the hand organ. They likewise entertained the harvest festival enthusiasts at the city hall with several selections.
