The Fremont Herald has recently been very much improved in appearance with a new dress, new makeup, and now has every appearance of a prosperity publication.

Farmers should put their hay in a safety deposit vault. Stuff that is worth $7 a ton now and will undoubtedly be worth much more should not be left lying carelessly around.

Attorney General Knox should evidently be succeeded by Constantine J. Smythe of Nebraska fame. He has a record for smashing trusts, with the assistance of Mr. Bryan, that is conspicuous.

Iowa and Holt county are in line, now to wait for is the national convention to learn that he is still the idol of the common people. In order to be certain he had best wait for the latter.

Anyway the Iewa democrats insist that the fight be made on state issues actually sometimes known to construe and undoubtedly anticipate that they the abbreviation affix designating their will have time to decide, before 1904, whether or not they have made a mistake in putting another hypodermic injection in the free silver issue.

His latest investment is in the Wyoming oil fields, where he hopes to acquire another gusher that will be as famous as the one of national reputation. If a large majority of the "common people" could afford to invest in so many prop erties they would find it impossible to sing calamity and hard times.

The democrats of Iowa indicate their adherence to demagogic principles when they "cordially invite all honest men of the state to unite" with them. They wish it to be understood that the support of dishonest men will not be welcome when they know that they would fall over themselves to secure the sapport of any man without inquiring into his honesty. They likewise insinuate that the haven of dishonest men will be in the republican ranks, when they know that there are more honest republicans in Iowa than there are democrats all told in that state. That one article of faith is sufficient to indicate that the democrats of Iowa could not do otherwise than support the Kansas City

The anti-trust people seek to drive the trusts out of business. If this were possible thousands more men would be driven out of employment and they would then have ample provocation to time Mr. Gillian would leave his ofcry hard times and calamity. The trusts may be deplorable from general principles but they can do nothing without the aid of labor and when their labor is not employed there is trouble for all. The steel strikers are injuring the business of that corporation but it cannot be denied that they are likewise losing large sums of money which would be theirs if they were at work. Attorney General Knox or anyone else could do no more reprehensible thing than to force the corporations out of years. business unless they could raise up in their places companies or firms that could employ the same number of men at as good wages.
