Order Received to Issue Beet Contracts for 1902.

SAME PRICE AS LAST YEAR.

Manager Bundick is Pleased that the War with the Sugar Trust Does Not Result in Closing the Norfolk Fac-

Geo. Kreitman, road overseer district

From Thursday's Daily

Manager Bundick of the Norfolk beet ugar factory received instructions by wire last evening to issue beet contracts, offering the same price and using practically the same form as last season. The wording of the contract is to be identical with that of last year with the exception of a proviso that in case of fire or other accident to the factory, if the company is compelled to take advantage of the clause allowing the payment of $15 an acre for beets, the company is to pay the $15 and the grower may retain the crop. This is an advantage to the grower, as he retains the crop besides receiving $15 an agre for it, in case the factory is incapacitated for using the beets through fire or ac cident.

To say that Manager Bundick was delighted when he received orders to have contracts prepared, expresses it very mildly. Usually the blanks have been ready for signature in October or November, and the long delay in the issuance of the contracts had led him to fear that theatened congressional action would prevent the company from making them until the question of duty on raw imported sugar from Cuba is finally settled in Washington, which might be now admits that he was more fearful of sugar trust has been waging against the beet sugar industry than he has at any time stated. The order, however, shows that the American Beet Sugar company is still in the fight and that it will remain in the game at least another

The manner in which Manager Bundick moved upon receipt of the telegram is significant of his style of doing business. The message was telephoned to evening, and by 8 o'clock he had printers at work placing the form of contract in ing everything else in the printing office. Proof was ready for him by will be ready to talk to farmers concerning the crop of 1902.

As before stated the prices for beets remain the same as they were last year, as follows: All beets containing 14 per Lynch to Spencer, then to this point cent of sugar or less, $4 per ton, and an additional 25 cents per ton for each and every one per cent of sugar above 14 per cent, fractions in proportion. An additional sum of 20 cents per ton will be been surveyed from Fairfax seven miles paid for beets siloed when delivered at the factory after November 15. This has been conceded to be the best contract for the farmer that has ever been issued by the Norfolk factory. With these prices prevailing last year, the whole crop delivered at the factory averaged something over $4.50 per ton, while many of the growers received $5 per ton and more. These prices made big profits for farmers, and there are very few who raised beets last year that are not now ready to contract an increased acreage for the coming season. As it is already late to undertake to handle all the contracts that will be needed, business men who are vitally interested in the success of the beet sugar industry could lend a little assistance to the management at no inconvienence to themselves, but in a way that would prove beneficial and helpful. It should be the aim of every business man in Norfolk, as well as the manage ment, to see that the largest acreage of beets is planted in 1902 in the history of the industry at this place.
