

BILL TO ADMIT CUBA

Joint Resolution Inviting Cubans to Accept Annexation.

IS INTRODUCED BY NEWLANDS.

Measure Recommends Twenty-Five Per Cent Reduction of Sugar Tariff in Consideration of Preferential Rates to United States.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Representative Newlands of Nevada, who was the author of the resolution annexing Hawaii, yesterday introduced a joint resolution, inviting the Republic of Cuba to become a part of the United States, first as a territory and then as a state of the Union, to be called the state of Cuba, also authorizing a 25 per cent reduction of duty on the present crop of Cuban sugar, in consideration of Cuba's granting preferential rates to the United States.

Mr. Newlands in explanation of his resolution said: "All those who have appeared to voice Cuba's needs and requirements have indicated that an invitation to Cuba of annexation would be accepted. Annexation by force would not be justified. It must be accomplished, if at all, by the free act of the Cuban people. At present there is no machinery in Cuba by which the popular will can be tested, but the Cuban constitution has been adopted. The Cuban congress will meet in February, a Cuban government will be organized and the United States will then leave the government and control of the island to its people. Cuba then will be in a position to express her will and it is only necessary to tide over the present emergency by a temporary measure, such as I have introduced, reducing the duty on Cuban sugar one-fourth for one year and inviting Cuba to become a part of the United States under a territorial form of government, under the constitution, her people to be citizens, not subjects, with the ultimate result of statehood."

NOYES CASE AGAIN IN SENATE.

McCumber Assails the Circuit Court Judges Who Condemned Him.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Throughout yesterday's session the senate had under consideration the urgency deficiency bill and just before adjournment passed it substantially in the shape in which it was reported to the senate by the committee. During the early part of the session, the case of Judge Arthur H. Noyes of the district court of Alaska and Alexander McKenzie and others was discussed. McCumber (N. D.) delivered an elaborate speech in defense of Judge Noyes and Mr. McKenzie. He paid a high personal tribute to both men, characterizing them as men of fine character, eminent ability and sterling integrity, incapable of doing the things with which they had been charged. Incidentally, he criticized the circuit court of appeals of San Francisco for permitting itself to be influenced by prejudice and bias. He became involved in a colloquy with Tillman, who said he appeared in the novel attitude of a defender of the United States judiciary. The South Carolina senator had intimated that he would deliver a speech on the Noyes case, but at the conclusion of McCumber's speech he contented himself practically with putting into the Congressional Record the decision of the circuit court of appeals in San Francisco in the case of contempt against Noyes and McKenzie. In a brief speech Stewart reviewed the case, speaking strongly against Judge Noyes and his actions in Alaska.

ROBBERS KILL SHERIFF

Shoot Officer Who Attempts to Intercept Their Flight.

ROB ARKANSAS BANK OF $2,000.

Officer Alone Aroused by Report of Explosion and Fights a Battle Single-Handed—Gang Escapes, Leaving Trail of Blood Behind.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 6.—The town of Clarksville is greatly excited over a bold and successful bank robbery, which occurred about 3 a. m. Sheriff John H. Powers was shot and killed by the robbers. The exact amount secured by the thieves is not known, but it is supposed to be between $1,000 and $2,000.

Sheriff Powers, who roomed in a building adjoining that of the Bank of Clarksville, was awakened shortly before 3 o'clock by a terrible explosion in the bank. Seizing a pistol in each hand, he rushed to the bank. The robbers, who numbered five or six, were evidently prepared for him, as they opened fire the moment he appeared. The officer was wounded at the first volley, but he stood his ground and returned the fire, sending half a dozen bullets at the robbers. The wounded sheriff managed to get back to his room, where he died within 20 minutes. When hastily aroused citizens began arriving at the scene Sheriff Powers was dead and the robbers had vanished.

The interior of the bank presented a wrecked appearance, the men having used dynamite to break open the vault door. A trail of blood leading from the bank indicated that Powers injured one or more of the robbers. He was shot three times himself and any one of the wounds would have proven fatal.

Considers Relations of Civil and Military Authorities in Philippines.

Washington, Feb. 6.—In his statement before the senate committee on the Philippines yesterday Governor Taft dealt especially with the question of the relationship of the civil and military authorities in the Philippines and his explanation was received with much interest by the members of the committee.

Governor Taft said that originally the civil and military control of the islands had been in the hands of the military and that naturally there had been some difference of opinion between the military authorities and the commission as to the method of proceeding. This difference had arisen with General MacArthur and there had been more or less correspondence on the subject.

The general had contended that authority over the islands was vested in the military and the representatives of the chief executive, because the islands were in a state of war. In this view the commission did not concur. This difference did not extend to the control of the municipalities.

Glanders, too, he said, was an imported disease and he suggested that it might also be well to exclude foreign horses from the American markets. Secretary Wilson spoke against the sentiment that we must have fresh blood from Europe to maintain the standard of American herds, and he gave it as his belief that the sentiment had no other foundation than tradition and personal interest.

The delegates affirm that they possess plenary powers still in force, and declare that the reply of Great Britain to the Dutch note proves that the only object of the former country is the extermination of the Boer nation and is a further obstacle to any idea on the part of the delegation of applying to the British government for safe conducts or anything else.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS 13

Two Buildings in Chicago are Suddenly Shattered.

MANHOLES THROWN IN THE AIR.

Fire Follows and Spreads to Adjoining Structures—Disaster Comes Without Time for Warning, Causing Heavy Loss of Life—Ten Bodies Taken Out.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—Thirteen lives were lost, many people slightly injured, two buildings at 372 and 374 Twenty-second street were wrecked and $50,000 damage was done by an explosion of gas last night at the intersection of Twenty-second street and Archer avenue. Following are the dead: Otto Trostel, Mrs. Otto Trostel, Otto Trostel, Jr., Lena Trostel, Anna Trostel, Mamie Trostel, Fred Trostel, Sophie Knight, Mary Rosenthal, Mrs. M. Kaufert, Edward Kaufert, Mamie Kaufert, Andrew Kolb.

The injured: Timothy Moynihan, fireman, hands badly burned; P. E. Donohue, fireman, left arm cut with ax; Peter Danusand, cut by glass; J. P. Collins, street car conductor, blown through car, cut and slight internal injuries; A. Barnes, street car conductor, blown from car into street, badly bruised.

The list of injured might be increased to 25 or more, as there were many people in the neighborhood who sustained slight injuries from flying glass or slight bruises caused by falls. Ten of the bodies have been recovered. All that is known of the fate of the other dead are that they are thought to have been in the demolished houses and since the accident no trace of them has been found.

Cause of Explosion is Unknown.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, and has not yet been determined whether it was sewer gas or illuminating gas. Mains filled with the latter were instantly ablaze after the explosion and a succession of explosions followed, the flames shooting up through the manholes in the street. It would be difficult to ascertain whether the illuminating gas exploded or whether the mains were broken by the explosion of sewer gas. Many people living in the vicinity believe that the first explosion was in a main at Twenty-second street and Archer avenue. Then the manhole, half a block south on Archer avenue, was thrown into the air by a loud explosion. Flames leaped high from the hole. The fire spread below the street and other manholes were blown into the air. The flames from the first gas main shot high into the air and reached, with the aid of the wind, the Trostel butcher shop. The building was a three-story frame structure and it had been weakened and nearly wrecked by the shock. It is supposed that the occupants of the building were knocked unconscious or were too panic stricken to rush from the place. The flames caught the weather worn timbers. The dry and rotting wood was food for the fire and in an instant the flames enveloped the structure. With a roar the building collapsed and the occupants, with one exception, were carried with it to the basement. The adjoining building, a two-story structure, flared up, the next building was wrapped in flame and then another structure caught fire. It seemed that the whole block would be wiped out before the firemen could bring the blaze under control. A fire wall of a brick building at Archer avenue and Twenty-second street held the fire in that direction. On the west of the burning buildings were two small one-story cottages. They were a few feet from the burning buildings and that gave the firemen an opportunity of heading off the fire. Window glass throughout the neighborhood was broken and bottles and glassware in the dwellings and stores were thrown to the floor and broken. Many persons in buildings near the explosions were knocked down. Scores of men and women, many of them carrying children, rushed to the streets. They were greeted by the glare of the fire from the manholes. Fearing further explosions, the people rushed down the streets, many of the women screaming with fear. On several street cars near the place the windows were smashed and the passengers severely shaken up.
