

Doctors of Medicine

DOCTORS OF OPHTHALMOLOGY.

The difference of the two doctors is, one will prescribe some preparation called medicine, and thereby trying to cure different kinds of sickness; the other investigates, finds the cause, applies the remedy, and thereby prevents sickness. One treats the EFFECT, the other treats the CAUSE. When the CAUSE has been stopped, then there will be no EFFECTS for medical treatment. EYE STRAIN (Hyperopia) is the cause of about 90 per cent. of the ills prevalent among the people. It should be remembered that there is only ONE remedy for Hyperopia—Properly Fitted Glasses.

To all who love music of the purest quality of tone there comes, earlier or later, the ultimate desire to possess a Chickering Piano. The educated ear that experience brings seeks the most perfect instrument, and if the lack of means does not prevent, the true artist comes eventually to own a Chickering. That great artist, Von Bulow, says: "On others I have to play as the piano permits; on the Chickering I play just as I wish." They express most perfectly that soulful quality the composer seeks to voice, give that delight, the sense of perfect tone imparts—satisfaction that is beyond price. There is nothing above or beyond the Chickering. It gives the supreme satisfaction of showing to the utmost the skill of the musician. No praise of the delightful Chickering tone can exaggerate its beauty. No words can describe its liquid purity. Like the glaze in the china-ware of the old French potter, its imitation has been attempted by hundreds of followers, yet it remains unique, perfect, without a rival, and has held this position for the past seventy-five years. Since nothing but the Chickering will satisfy ultimately, why not have the utmost perfection in the first place? You can buy it to the best advantage at Johnson's Furniture Store.

FRIDAY FACTS.

Business men's meeting tonight—defy the elements and help push Norfolk. Mrs. A. H. Viele entertained her Sunday school class at supper last evening at her home in South Norfolk. The West Side Whist club was pleasantly entertained last night by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hays. There was a good attendance notwithstanding the stormy weather. Seller & Gardner have sold the Parker house on Koenigstein avenue to Mayor D. J. Koenigstein, who expects to take possession about the 15th of April. The consideration was $2,700.

W. W. Roberts will move his insurance office from his present location opposite the postoffice to the office rooms in the Mast block formerly occupied by Dr. Robert Johnson.

The weather has suddenly taken an unwonted and strenuous chill and all spring-like symptoms have disappeared before a driving northern blast intensified with particles of snow—yet it is far from what the old timer would call a blizzard.

B. S. Dinkins who has served the contracting firm of Owen Bros. as bookkeeper for the past three years, died Monday at Leavenworth, Kansas. During his connection with the firm of Owen Bros. Mr. Dinkins spent some time in Norfolk, boarding at the Pacific hotel. He formed a number of pleasant acquaintanceships in Norfolk and his friends will be pained to learn of his death.

The meeting of business men to complete the organization of the commercial club is to be held this evening at the city hall, when the articles are to be passed upon and officers elected. This promises to be a live, energetic club, composed of Norfolk's best business men and well known property holders. All interested, or likely to be, should turn out and launch the club with a spirit that will astonish the weather.

W. O. Toliver writes from Riverside, California, that Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Pritchard of Meadow Grove are there, that Mr. Pritchard's health is very much improved and that they are enjoying life. Mr. Toliver says that everything there is as green as in summer, and strawberries are selling for 15 cents a box. Business is reported good and oranges, grapes and other fruit is bringing good prices the crop not being as large as last year.

Next week is chautauqua week at the M. E. church, when the very excellent program to be given by the Co-Operative Lyceum Bureau of Omaha will be presented. The first number will be a lecture Monday evening by Robert Parker Miles of New York, his subject being "Tallow Dips." Those who heard Dr. Engene May here will recognize the talent that the lyceum has at hand and next week should be one of crowded houses at the church.

The attendance at the Blind Boone concert in the Auditorium last night was not large but those attending were well entertained as is usual with Boone's concerts. Having been blind almost since birth, Boone's natural talent for music appears to have acquired additional keenness from the loss of that sense and his performance on the piano is prodigious for one who is not being able to see what he is doing. The other features of the program were equally acceptable with Boone's playing.

Considerable spirit has been shown during the closing hours of the Anzeiger voting contest for the most popular business man which ends this afternoon. The demand for coupons on the part of friends of the contestants has been large, each determined to carry off the prize. It is announced that the judges completed the count of the vote about 2 o'clock and found the following results among the leading contestants: Oscar Uhle, 2,647; H. W. Winter, 2,176; August Brummond, 886. To the winner, Mr. Uhle, was awarded the handsome gold headed cane provided by the Anzeiger publisher.

The Enderly Dry Goods company of Riverside, California, are up-to-date advertisers and bring their business to the attention of patrons in a manner bound to attract attention. They celebrated the birthday anniversary of the father of American patriotism by inaugurating a "Patriotic American Manufacturers' Outlet Sale" on the 22nd, to continue for six days. In their ad they say that they have "cream of American factories" and that "foreign goods must go way back and sit down during the sale." They close by inviting the people to "come and see what progress the American mills have made this year, whether you wish to buy or not."

The fire department was called to respond to an alarm from the Junction this morning about 11 o'clock and one hose cart and the hook and ladder truck were on its way south in a few moments after the alarm was sounded. The fire was in the house next door to the Clifton hotel, occupied by the family of A. F. Clark. The excitement was occasioned by a gasoline stove explosion and damages to the amount of $150 or $200 was occasioned to the house and its contents. By the time the uptown firemen arrived the trouble had been handled by the Junction hose team although they experienced considerable difficulty in getting water on the fire owing to the tendency of the water to freeze in the hose and the difficulty of moving the cart over the rough and frozen streets. With the fierce and cold north wind blowing it was a day to test the mettle of the firemen and one that threatened disaster should the fire once again headway.

ODD FELLOWS ENTERTAIN.

Pleasant Social Feature Enjoyed By Members and Their Families.

The Odd Fellows' social entertainment last evening was successful in every detail despite the inclement weather and many of the committees' plans being interfered with by sickness and other causes. The hall was handsomely decorated with mottoes, banners and festoons and the guests with badges indicating their rank. Each number of the program was executed with precision and commanded the enthusiastic attention of the audience. A Sturgeon piano and company of musicians was an interesting feature.

After a violin solo by G. A. Marquardt with piano accompaniment by Miss Florence Gaylord, the chairman of the meeting, S. R. McFarland, conducted the following program:

Piano solo, Emma Schoregge. A short address, "Our Guests"—Past Grand Master Geo. N. Beels. Piano duet, Clara Berner, Florence Gaylord. Recitation, Roxie Sturgeon. Song, Maude Clark. Recitation, Walter McFarland. Piano solo, Florence Gaylord. Recitation, Clara Law. Piano solo, Emma Schoregge. Comic song, W. H. Clark. Address, Rev. F. M. Sisson.

Then followed a grand march and all walked around to the music when all were again seated and regaled with light refreshments.

Compliments were unanimously voted to the "Camp" subordinate and Rebekah lodges for the royal reception, unequalled in the history of the order at Norfolk.

A Season of Improvement. This is to be a year of improvement and the season for beginning such improvement is now at hand. Business houses and residences and their surroundings are to be repaired and improved and there will be improvement all along the line and in every walk and condition of life. With this spirit prevailing men should not neglect their personal appearance, which can best be improved by getting a neat fitting, tailor made suit such as is made by Krahn, the tailor. He will see to it that your personal appearance is up to date and stylish to accord with your surroundings. This cannot be done with ill-fitting custom made clothes, nor will that suit which has served you for years answer the purpose. You will need something new and stylish, and now is the time to get it.

Krahn has just received a larger, better and more stylish stock of spring goods than ever before and his prices are lower than ever. He has the latest style goods and patterns and will fit you out in a manner that will be satisfactory. He has an especially fine stock of pant goods that he will make up at a very low and saving figure.

Call at his place of business, learn his prices and examine his goods. You are welcome and he is there to please.

That Jackson Coal Find.

A mining expert from Des Moines arrived at Jackson, Neb., today, went to the wells north of town, and next Monday will begin sinking a shaft on the farm of G. H. Goodfellow, four miles north of Jackson, to determine whether there is a coal supply at hand that will justify opening a mine.

This farm is a portion of the thousand acres of land leased by the Sioux Beet Syrup and Preserving company for prospecting for coal mines. The company is anxious to secure its own fuel in this way and is willing to go the expense of developing the territory in order to secure the benefit of the great economy.

It was three years ago that, in digging wells, coal veins were found on the Riley and McBride farms, three miles north of Jackson. One vein—of six feet—was discovered at a depth of 160 feet; and another of three feet 110 feet down.

Geological experts have hooted at the idea of mining coal in Dakota county, but practical business men seem disposed to learn for themselves. Geological experts have, on occasions, been mistaken, and coal actually found which proves of good quality.

If the efforts of this company develop the presence of coal in such quantities as to justify its being mined it will be more important to Sioux City's future as a manufacturing center than any incident in its history. It would give manufacturers and packers a cheap fuel that would enable them to compete with any city in the United States—Sioux City Tribune.

THE LEAD EXTENSION.

Remarkable Feat of Engineering at the West End of the F. E. & M. V.

Two and a half miles of grade on the Lead extension of the Elkhorn railroad has been completed, and the line is clear for that distance, over which it would be possible to drive in a carriage but for the trestles, says a special to the State Journal. The contractors are finishing as few deep cuts, and will have the remaining quarter of a mile of the line opened by the early part of March.

When completed the extension will be one of the most remarkable pieces of railroad construction in the Black Hills, and will afford to the traveler glimpses of the most beautiful scenery in the region. It skirts a mountain from the time it leaves the main line, a short distance above Deadwood, until it enters Lead, gradually ascending until it is almost on the crown. It is a two and a half per cent grade on an average and in order to make it the road forms a loop and crosses itself in one place.

Built as it is along a steep and rugged hillside, there are numerous deep cuts and heavy fills, where the road goes through ridges and dikes of slate sandstone and porphyry, and where it crosses and heads off a succession of gulches. Several of the deepest cuts are so marked that in going through them it is necessary to look towards the zenith to see the sky. The line gives a commanding view of the town of Deadwood, as it winds around the crest of the mountain above, and a few miles further to the northeast and east may be seen the prairie region, which on clear days may be studied to the sky line. As Lead is approached it looks like almost a sheer drop to the station of Pluma, on the Burlington, where the Horseshoe Mining company has its chlorination plant.

The new line is built almost in the shape of a horseshoe, with some irregularities. The railroad company expects to have the ties and rails laid by the first of April, and to have standard gauge trains running into Lead. It is expected that Lead will then be made the terminus of the road, and will be headquarters for the division passenger and freight agents.

At Glasgow the Sousa band was the sensation of the International exhibition, where the greatest musical organizations of England and the continent were also heard, and two special diplomas were awarded to the American conductor and the American band, at the close of the fair. In the British provinces the succession was no less remarkable, all records being broken at the Sousa concerts at Newcastle, Liverpool, Birmingham, Brighton, Oxford, Bath, etc. Sousa is now making his customary winter tour of America in the course of which he will give a grand concert here on the afternoon of March 5 at the Auditorium. Accompanying the band on this, its twentieth semi-annual tour, are soloists, are Maude Reese-Davies, soprano; Dorothy Hoyle, violinist, and Arthur Pryor, trombone, who also shared in the British triumphs.
