School District. For members of the Board of Education.....DR. P. H. SALTER

Councilman. First ward.....W. H. WIDAMAN Second ward.....R. W. MILLER Third ward.....M. D. TYLER Fourth ward.....J. C. SPELMAN

If the republicans of the state want to engage in a clean and gentlemanly campaign let them place W. M. Robertson's name at the head of the ticket.

To judge by the opposition press the republicans never did anything and did it right. Somehow the people have fallen into the habit of looking at things quite differently.

The Nebraska hen is making a strenuous effort to supply the demand for Easter eggs and it is probable that no rabbit will lack that which is necessary to make those Easter nests look natural.

The ants do not consider General Funston nearly as great a hero as he has been painted and many of them heartily wish that they could retract some of the nice things they have said about the gallant Kansan.

A college has been established at Atwood, Tenn., the object of which is to instruct in the art of love making. Almost any one could pick out a few individuals who would seem to be perfectly qualified for positions on the faculty of such a college.

An eastern exchange thinks the democrats can never again make a winning gun of free trade as long as it is a muzzle loader and charged with free soup. The greatest fault with the weapon is that it is untrustworthy and as likely to explode from the rear as it is from the other end.

The Burlington route proposes to encourage education by exacting a knowledge on common studies from its employees in the future. The educational test for railroad service is a new one, but the Burlington sign "No illiterate person need apply," may in time be generally employed by other lines of railway.

An exchange has found an excellent argument in favor of the Sunday school boy in the following: "A study of the 500 inmates of the Jeffersonville, Ind., reformatory, all young men between the ages of sixteen and thirty, show that fifty-seven per cent of these criminals have never attended Sunday school. Eighty-one per cent have no trade, $12 used liquor and 404 used tobacco in some form."

A week from Tuesday is election day, when the people of Norfolk will be expected to make a choice of city officers as well as members of the board of education. Without entering into a discussion of the merits of the opposition ticket, the republicans wish to assert that they have placed a ticket in the field of clean, capable men and one deserving the support of every member of their party as well as those who have no particular political choice in a municipal election.

It seems that ensuing events have determined that the Tillman-McLauren incident was really very fashionable, for surely nothing could occur in the British parliament but that which is very proper, and although no blood flowed, and no blows were exchanged, Colonial Secretary Joseph Chamberlain was, in no evasive language, called a "damned liar" by John Dillon, the noted Irish nationalist during Thursday's session. The gentleman of inelegant epithets was at once suspended by a vote of 248 to 48.

Now don't any of you calamities jump up on your hind feet and howl that, because Mr. Bryan has moved into a barn, it is proof positive that hard times and disaster are abroad in the land and have seized in relentless grasp the late leader of the democratic hosts. A good many of the common people would feel very thankful if they could move into a house as elegant as that barn aforesaid, and then it is but for temporary, while the mansion of the former free silver champion is receiving its plutocratic finishing touches.

What is needed in the executive office of Nebraska is a man possessing good, sound judgment, with a dignity of deportment that has not been known there recently; a man with sterling character who would not be swayed by the whims and caprices of politicians and one whom the people could trust to honor the position in every way. Such a man is W. M. Robertson and now that he has consented to accept the nomination there should be no question concerning the action of the delegates to the state convention and he should be placed on the ticket without an effort on his part and elected unanimously.

The democrats in congress are preparing to make urgent appeals to that body on behalf of the Boers, knowing full well that the only thing this country could do in their behalf would incur the bitter enmity of England, if not precipitate a terrible and expensive war. Their object is therefore solely to embarrass the republican administration, hoping for no benefit to the struggling people of South Africa, but desiring through their cause to make themselves some cheap political thunder. Were they in the majority, with a president in harmony, it is safe to say that the Boer cause would not be mentioned.

It is quite evident that in order to have a clutch on business it will be necessary for the trusts to grow tentacles long enough to encircle the globe. Argument to this end is furnished by the fact that the American and British tobacco combines are at war. The American trust had invaded British markets to the extent that the latter offered large bonuses to its customers who would undertake not to sell American goods for a term of years. The Americans have come back with a notice of their intentions to devote $200,000 yearly, for the next four years, as a bonus to their customers. It is easy to believe that this offer has completely "stumped" the Britishers. The Americans generally do not take kindly to trusts, but it may be expected that their patriotism will prompt them to wish success to the American combination in this contest.

LIVING IN LONDON.

It is Not a Good Place For a Man of Small Income.

An American who in the classical language of his country is at present "located" in London wants to know whether any city in the world is quite so niggardly as our town. He has been going the round of the London restaurants and has encountered in the management of them a spirit which distresses him. "There is, to begin with," he says, "a charge of from two pence to sixpence for guarding your hat and coat in the cloakroom, and a tip in addition is expected. You want to wash your hands—another twopence or another sixpence and another tip. You take up the menu, and behold, there is an intimation that a charge of threepence each person will be made under the guise of 'table money'." The charge varies according to the nature of the place. Threepence is the lowest and sixpence perhaps the average. At a great many restaurants it is 1 shilling and in at least two that I have visited is 6d. The only difference is that in the lower priced restaurants it is called 'table money' and in the higher priced ones placed under the captivating heading of 'couvert.' To my mind, an entrance fee frankly demanded at the door would be much less offensive than to find yourself asked at the end of a dinner to pay for the trouble and expense of cleaning up the cutlery you have used."

His conclusion of the whole matter is that "London lives by imposing a fixed tariff on the accessories that in every other city I have ever been to are thrown in gratis," and he thinks that being a gentleman is one of the most expensive professions an Englishman can have. He declares it to be an utter delusion that London is a cheap place to live in. "For the poor man," he says, "the man whose income is less than £800 a year, there is no city where less can be had in the way of comforts and even the necessities of life. In New York it is only the luxuries that cost. The expenses of everyday living may be as great as or as small as one cares to make them. New York, in fact, is laid out for the poor man. From the transportation system to the price of such fundamental charges on the household treasury as coal, ice, fuel, meat, bread, milk and fruit, almost everything conspires to bring him in a good return for a very small outlay. All these things are cheaper in New York than in London."—London Chronicle.

His Propensity. "I never forget a joke that I once heard," remarked Borem. "No," rejoined Guyer, "and you don't give any of your acquaintances a chance to."—Chicago News.

The specter of unpaid bills never haunts those who buy only what they can afford.

UPRISING IN VENEZUELA

Insurrection Headed by Matos Takes Actual Form.

PRESIDENT CASTRO IN PERIL.

His Government Is Beset by Enemies on Every Side—Revolutionists Display Formidable Strength Against Weak Government.

Willemstad, March 21.—The Venezuelan revolution, headed by General Matos, seems to be taking form. Eight hundred revolutionists, under General Penaloza, are besieging Carupano, a seaport town, and the revolutionists under General Monagas have surrounded Barcelona, the capital of the state of Bermudez.

General Plera, who escaped the pursuit of the Venezuelan government troops near Cumarebo, in the state of Falcon, is marching in the direction of Tucacas, a seaport town in the state of Lara, which place is to be attacked on land by his troops and from the sea by the revolutionary steamer Bolivar, also known as the Libertador.

The Venezuelan government is sending troops to El Hacha to intercept General Plera and prevent the junction of his troops with the revolutionists in the Barquisimeto district. The situation is said to be critical for President Castro. The Venezuelan fleet is not in condition to pursue the Bolivar and the plans of President Castro to capture her have failed.

DUMONT TO VISIT ST. LOUIS.

Will Confer With Exposition Officials in Reference to Proposed Contests.

Paris, March 21.—M. Santos-Dumont, the aeronaut, in an interview here with the representative of the Associated Press, appeared very enthusiastic concerning his approaching trip to the United States, whither he will go on his own initiative. M. Santos-Dumont said: "Yes, after some negotiations, I have decided to go to St. Louis and assist in drawing up the rules for the aerial contests of 1903. I will be accompanied by my secretary and my chief mechanic. I will take with me as far as New York the 45-horse power motor, the frame work and the two propellers of my balloon No. 7. From New York I shall proceed to St. Louis to confer with the exposition authorities regarding the contests."

JOHN DILLON IS SUSPENDED.

Noted Irish Leader Calls Joseph Chamberlain a Liar.

London, March 21.—John Dillon, Irish nationalist, was suspended in the house of commons for calling the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, a "d-d liar."

The ejection of Mr. Dillon did not serve to clear the atmosphere, and the remainder of the debate was followed with personal allusions and unpleasant exchanges, the nature of which would have excited comment had they not been discounted by the first explosion.

Receiver for Tontine Concern.

Minneapolis, March 21.—Judge McGee, in an order filed yesterday, dissolved the Tontine Savings association. The charter and articles of incorporation are declared forfeited. George P. Flannery, attorney, has been appointed receiver and directed to take charge of the company's effects and convert them into cash. From Judge McGee's memorandum it appears that the five directors of the association, on a paid up capital of only $2,750, received in 1901 the sum of $89,000 in dividends and $25,000 in the same way in the first 32 days of 1902.

Wireless System on Lakes.

Cleveland, March 21.—Failure of the first attempt to use wireless telegraphy on the lakes has been followed by success on the second trial. The steamer City of Detroit was towed to a slip near the lake front, where there were no intervening masts or buildings and the experiments repeated. J. V. Tollif, representative of the originator of the system, says that one of the code words agreed upon had been sent to and received from Detroit.

Gilbert Still Leads.

Indianapolis, March 21.—Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., gave another remarkable exhibition of marksmanship at the Limited Gun club tournament yesterday. He broke 75 straight and missed but two targets out of a possible 165. Eleven 15-bird races were shot. Heikes of Dayton was again second gun and the other experts, Tripp, Budd, McMurphy, Neal and Marshall, were up in the first and second moneys in nearly all events.

Mgr. Sbarretti's Mission.

Paris, March 21.—A dispatch from Rome to the Paris edition of the New York Herald says that the pope, when speaking to a cardinal, said he had given Mgr. Sbarretti full power to negotiate the Philippine question at Washington, and that the pontiff expressed the opinion that an agreement satisfactory to all parties would be reached, although Washington insisted upon not recognizing the monastic orders in the Philippines.

Raise Blockade of Roads.

St. Paul, March 21.—Business on the three transcontinental lines which cross the state of North Dakota has about resumed normal conditions, now that nearly a full week has passed since the beginning of the great March blizzard, although a few minor branch lines remain to be cleared of snow.

Notice to Bridge Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that sealed bids will be received at the county clerk's office at Madison, Madison county, Nebraska, until 12 o'clock at noon, standard time, April 22, 1902, for the erection and completion, and furnishing of material and labor, for all pile and iron bridges ordered for a period of one year from date of contract.

All bidders are required to accompany their bids with plans and specifications of their work and a certified check of $500.00 to be forfeited if contractor fails to make contract or file an acceptable bond within fifteen days from date of letting.
