View of the high prices of beef steak and pork it is not astonishing that fishing is an exceedingly popular pastime this spring. It is almost time for the pessimists to begin complaining of the drought. It hasn't rained in this portion of Nebraska for almost a week.

If the prices of cattle and hogs continue to go skyward the farmer and stockman will soon be compelled to construct dynamite-proof pig stys and corals to prevent the people with a meat appetite from appropriating their fattened animals.

It is fortunate for the democrats that they have that old and thread bare tariff issue to fall back on, otherwise they might be left without any issue whatever when the presidential campaign of 1904 rolls around. Their other paramouries have not been made to stick worth a cent.

The European countries will soon begin to look upon a visit from Morgan as portending more evil to their commerce, and will be ready to join with the populists at home in condemning the American plutocrat and the octopus presided by him. He is an American and the kind of financier that will make the Rothschilds and other leading European financiers look like pygmies in their dealings.

If there is a windmill trust it must have been responsible for furnishing that overdose of motive power last week, and as a consequence the factories are now flooded with a surfeit of orders for new mills and repairs. One of the leading factories claims to have orders for about a thousand mills and is several weeks behind. The trust took a mean advantage of the farmers' prosperity by having the calamity scheduled to take place in their busy season and compel them to pump water for the stock when they should be growing corn to fatten the animals.

Omaha officials, while convinced that a death sentence is none to good for dogs whose owners have not paid the license tax, have decided that such a sentence should be executed with the least possible fuss and pain to the animals. They have therefore constructed an airtight chamber in which 25 dogs may be dispatched at a clatter by the use of charcoal gas. The new arrangement has the approval of the humane society and was given its first trial Wednesday. Perhaps the better way would have been to institute a painless method of extracting the tax from the pocket of the dogs' masters. Such an arrangement would certainly have been more satisfactory to the city treasury.

The Lincoln politicians are flattering themselves that they have succeeded in disconcerting the rank and file of the party by having Governor Savage withdraw from the race at this time and that they will yet be successful in naming a candidate who will follow in the governor's footsteps and do their bidding. They should be in no hurry to celebrate what they believe to be a shrewd political maneuver. While the governor is out of their way, he is also removed from the consideration of his opponents and they will, instead of devoting their energies toward defeating Governor Savage, have an opportunity to concentrate on some good man and go to the convention enthusiastically united in his support. Their scheme is quite shrewd but this is the year that the voters of the party are awake and they will undertake to see to it that a candidate suitable to them and not to the old ring of politicians is named. There are a number of good men of this character and W. M. Robertson of this city is among them.

Senator Culberson Declares Majority Party is Seeking to Cover Up the Truth—Foraker, McComas and Burton Prompt in Denial.

Washington, May 2.—Aguinaldo was the special subject of discussion in the senate yesterday. As soon as the Philippine government bill was taken up Carmack resumed his criticism of the Philippine committee because of its refusal to call Aguinaldo and other Filipinos as witnesses. He maintained that as reflections by witnesses had been cast on the character of Aguinaldo he ought to be permitted in all decency to defend himself.

DROWNED IN A JAR.

Baby of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler of Warnerville Meets a Peculiar Fate.

Ethel, the one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wheeler of Warnerville precinct suffered death by drowning in a five-gallon jar of water about noon yesterday.

It is understood that the father of the little one was away from home at the time of the accident and that the mother was engaged in doing her washing. She was out of the house a short time, leaving the baby inside. When she returned she discovered that the little one had fallen head first into the large jar of water which had been left standing on the floor. She employed every means she could think of to restore the little one to life but her efforts were unavailing and the funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Wheeler is a niece of W. H. Law of this city. The bereaved parents have the sincere sympathy of all their neighbors and acquaintances in their affliction.
