PARISH

There are people in the world who are afraid to patronize a high grade store, because they infer that prices are higher than in stores which are operated on the hit and miss plan—sometimes satisfaction, more often disappointment. Norfolk people are becoming educated out of this way of thinking. Parish's policy of selling the highest grade of goods is having a good effect, and the quality of groceries used is steadily improving. People have come to know that it's money saving to buy goods where an absolute guaranty goes with every purchase.

THE SELECTION of a piano is a very important transaction. It is the selection of a home companion for life. If it is good and responsive it means harmony and happiness. If poor it means constant discord.

AS IN LIFE, there are affinities, some people attracting while others repel, so with pianos. In certain pianos there is a sympathetic tone, action quality that is charming. You are aware of the fascination every time the keys are pressed. You may not be able to explain it, but you know it.

YOU INSTINCTIVELY love the Chickering piano. Everybody does. They possess a power, richness and delicacy of tone and action that is simply irresistible.

WE LIKE TO SELL these pianos because we can honestly recommend them to our best friends, not only believing, but because we know there is nothing better made, they always give entire satisfaction, we have been selling them for 10 years and the first one sold is as good today as the day we delivered it.

WE WANT YOU to become acquainted with these beautiful instruments. It is like meeting good people. It makes you better, exalts your ideals of life and its possibilities. Should you become the owner of one, you will enjoy it and some day thank us that we led you to it. Many customers about to buy cheap grade pianos from competitors at fictitious prices have saved from $100 to $250 consulting with us, why not you?

FRIDAY FACTS.

A party of young folks from South Norfolk thoroughly enjoyed a picnic at Taft's grove yesterday afternoon.

A jolly crowd of friends assisted Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Kiesau observe their first or cotton wedding anniversary last evening at their home on South Eighth street. The evening was passed most enjoyably, with delightful music as one of the pleasures. A piano solo by little Rueben, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kiesau, was especially enjoyed.

A week from today is the Fourth of July and arrangements for Norfolk's monster celebration are going steadily forward with the indication that such celebration will be far beyond anything heretofore attempted in this part of the state. Those who have not yet decided to come to Norfolk should not delay in making arrangements to spend the day in this city.

Judge F. D. Fales of Ponca, who has been appointed by Hon. J. J. McCarthy as chairman of the congressional central committee, is in the city and will make Norfolk his headquarters during the campaign. W. W. Cooper has been appointed deputy county judge of Dixon county and will look after the business of that office while Judge Fales is attending to the business of the campaign.

Another of those showers, this time of 16-100 of an inch, fell this morning, with promise of more before another 24 hours. These showers are quite the regular thing and are not unwelcome to most people. They interfere somewhat with the cultivation of crops, ball games and picnics, but these things will be given a chance when the showers cease, as they are almost certain to do in Nebraska during the coming two months.

Chief of Police Martin Kane was in Stanton yesterday attending the preliminary hearing of the Carson gang, charged with having burglarized the store of the Scott Mercantile company at that place something more than a week ago. The prisoners have secured the services of W. W. Young in their defense and are making a hard fight. They were about half through with the preliminary hearing when Mr. Kane left and he is of the opinion that at least two of the prisoners will be bound over to district court for trial.

Two young Oakdale boys wrote an unsigned letter to C. H. Torpin of the Torpin Grain company, demanding that he bury a $50 roll in a designated place and threatening, on his failure to comply with the demand, to kidnap his child and "end your life with a bullet." A dummy package was placed as directed and a watch set, with the result that the two boys, one aged 17 and the other 14, were caught and are now under arrest with the probability that they will be sent to the reform school. Both are sons of respectable parents but have long been beyond parental control.

The city improvement committee, having in charge the awarding of prizes for fine lawns, flower and vegetable gardens have not yet been able to make their first examination of premises on account of the weather and other causes that have interfered with their making a tour of the city. They find that they will have a considerable task on hand to make the necessary visitation and have decided to request the property owners to assist them. They will accordingly leave at this office a book in which will be registered the names of those desiring to compete for any of the prizes. Names should be brought or sent in before the Fourth of July, after which the committee will visit the property of those who have registered their names. Anyone having a lawn, flower or vegetable garden deserving a prize should therefore see to it that their names are registered at this office before next Friday. The committee has arranged for a display of the prizes in the windows of the various merchants making the contributions.

Forger Winn Induced Companions to Sign Warrants.

PRELIMINARY TRIAL TOMORROW

President Bucholz Unsuccessful in Locating Alleged Confederate at Omaha.—Prisoner Making the Best of it Behind the Bars.

The preliminary hearing of Winn, the forger whose bogus school warrants were so deceptive and who was arrested yesterday, will be held tomorrow morning before Judge Hayes. Meanwhile the prisoner reads the papers, remains silent and eats heartily in his cell at the city jail.

President Bucholz returned at noon today from Omaha, where he went to investigate the alleged Sawyer, to whom, the swindler claimed, the money had been sent. No Sawyer was found to exist at the address given, however, and the play was undoubtedly made by the imposter with the hope that he would be taken to Omaha and thus have an opportunity for escape.

A new point developed in the chain of evidence this morning which will probably be useful. The place has been found where the forging was done and three women, who were present at the time, have explained how they, by one way and another, were induced to aid the crook in his fraudulent work, not knowing or realizing what they did. Winn, it seems has been in and about Norfolk for some weeks, and has not been an infrequent visitor at this resort. A rather handsome fellow to look upon, well dressed and willing to spend what money he had, it was little trouble for the crafty grafter to persuade the merry dames to help him out. By putting up a hard 'con' of having lost valuable papers and with ruin staring him in the face unless they could be replaced, the sympathetic feelings of femininity were touched and the women, after a few hours of practice, were ready to put any old name to the warrants which the skillful expert filled out before them. As they executed his orders, the fellow stood over with instructions to "Write heavy" and to "cut out those fine lines," and thus the characteristics which must, to a greater or less extent, creep into one individual's every letter, were eliminated by bringing into service three different hands. Even a handwriting expert would have been up against a proposition to give testimony in that case.

Last night the prisoner was searched, for some trace of the missing money. Every seam was carefully overhauled and not a copper was found until the little watch pocket in his trousers was reached. There, nestling close under the folds of the cloth were $15.00 in bills, but that was all. As to the rest, not a word could be gotten from him. When confronted with the Omaha fake, he closed up like a clam.

Winn has every mark of fine breeding. His clothing is of the best and neatly brushed. His teeth are clean and nicely kept, his face smooth shaven and his hair closely cropped. His language, when he does talk, is of the choicest variety and his every word is weighed with the care of a scholar. Physically, he is as fine a specimen of manhood as one would wish to see. He looks like a college athlete, with a well proportioned body, a broad chest and muscles of steel.

Death of A. J. Weber.

A. J. Weber, one of Fullerton's best known citizens, died at his home one mile south of town Friday, June 13. He was a leading contractor and builder in this end of the county—he was industrious, honest and reliable. He has been a sufferer many months with lymphatic leukaemia, which it is believed was brought on by overwork, and death has been expected for some weeks. Mr. Weber moved here several years ago and has done much to build up the town. He leaves a widow, and two daughters, Mrs. H. McDermont and Mrs. Wm. Dixon, to mourn the loss.

He was 58 years of age and a prominent member of the Methodist church.

The funeral of A. J. Weber was held Sunday 2 p. m. at the Methodist church, being conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. C. Gowan. The church service was largely attended, after which nearly forty buggies and carriages, bearing friends of the family, followed the body to Anaheim cemetery.—Fullerton (Cal.) Tribune.

LOCALS WIN A GAME.

In a Pretty Contest Yesterday Wausa Was Defeated by a Score of 2 to 1.

The locals captured the first game from the Reds of Wausa yesterday afternoon in as pretty a contest as has been seen here this season, by a score of 2 to 1. The day was a trifle cool, the crowd fairly large and the play especially fast.

The first man up for the home club made a score. It was Woods. He drew four balls and walked. A passed ball moved him to second, a sacrifice by Johnson put him up another notch and a safe hit by Davy completed the run. In the next Wilkins got around and finished the scoring. The first two men at bat flew out. Then Joe made first on an error, took second on another was pushed to third by four balls and crossed the rubber just before the third man struck out.

The visitors made their only tally in the second when Stevens went one sack on Agan's error, drew another on Hamer's hit and went home on the strength of Roger's liner.

The Rogers did good work in the box for the visitors, striking out nine men, and holding them down to four hits. He allowed three men to walk, however. Galaska threw a very much improved ball and pitched an admirably steady game all through. He struck out four men, was found safely but five times and gave not a single base on balls. Galaska is the man who stays up for thirteen inning games and he can always be depended upon to keep in good form and to do his best all the while.

The game occupied just an hour and twenty-three minutes, there were but nine hits throughout and an not earned run by either side. Two errors are chalked up against the Wilkins' family and five for the men in crimson.

In the sixth inning O'Brian had his fingers badly split and was relieved by Spaulding. In the eighth Wilkins received an ugly cut in the head from a foul tip on the mask.

Johnson was back at his old position on third and made a great tear with the fans. Wilkins is catching in form again and Davy is hitting the ball. Fred Spaulding umpired the game.

Another game is on this afternoon. The home team will go to Columbus for Saturday and Sunday.
