A good game of ball was played between the Norfolk club and the Omaha originals which was won by the latter by a score of 6 to 2. In addition to this there were the usual sports. There were no arrests, no drunkenness, and only one accident during the entire day.

Congressman John S. Robinson was renominated at Columbus yesterday by morbus and dysentery are overcome by both the democratic and populist convention. It did not take long for the democrats to renominate him by acclamations. The populists were not quite so swift. On the first ballot they gave Tawney of Pierce 110 votes and Robinson 117; the second ballot resulted in the full vote being cast for Tawney, and then he declined to run; the third ballot was all for Robinson, and harmony and fusion were again supreme. The conventions were both over and the delegates were ready to go home by 5 o'clock in the afternoon.
