WILL VISIT FACTORY FRIDAY.

A Number of Delegates Now Here and More are Expected-Addresses of General Interest Tonight and Tomorrow Night.

From Wednesday's Daily

The Presbyterian ladies of Nebraska are holding the first meeting of the 26th annual session of the Woman's Missionary society in the M. E. church of this city this afternoon. A number of officers and delegates arrived in the city last night and others have been arriving during the day to attend the session. It is not expected that all will be here before tonight, but by that time it is anticipated that there will be a large attendence of delegates and visitors.

General interest centers in the program for tonight's session when Dr. J. W. McKean of Cheng Mai, Laos, will speak on the subject, "The Pearl of Asia."

Friday morning it has been arranged to take the delegates [and visitors for a visit to the sugar factory. Superintendent Reynolds of the F. E. & M. V., will provide a special train to carry the visitors to the factory and Manager J. N. Bundick will take care of them at the factory and explain its workings to them. The time for the trip is set at 9:80.

Thursday's program opens with a devotional meeting at 9 o'clock, led by Mrs. Knickerbocker. This is followed by reports of synodical officers, follows:

Secretary of literature, Mrs. Henry Fox, Nelson.

Special object secretary, Miss Q. Grainger, Palmyra.

Treasurer contingent fund, Mrs. M. L. Stone, Hastings.

Must Submit to a Legal Hanging or be Hanged.

A Norfolk young woman, when she heard from pierce this morning that Neigenfind was all right, exclaimed, "Oh, pshaw! I thought surely something would occurred to him last night." She was disappointed that nothing unusual had happened. She is evidently more impatient than the Pierce people.

The murderer arrived there safely from Lincoln yesterday in charge of Sheriff Jones. There was a large crowd at the depot, but there was no attempt on its part to interfere with the criminal, although there were some who shouted for vengeance. His preliminary hearing has been set for Monday.

The story comes from there that if Neigenfind will plead guilty to the crime of murdering his wife and his father-in-law the law will be permitted to take its course, but if he employs an attorney, and pleads not guilty and attempts to prove self-defense or try an insanity dodge his neck will not be worth a farthing. An enraged people will break down the jail if need be and lynch the prisoner.

the attacking force, which endeavored to cut off and cripple the train, was under direction of Captain T. R. Rivers of the Fourth cavalry. At the end of the maneuvers it was estimated that Captain Rivers had crippled about 35 to 40 per cent of the wagons, but he had suffered a heavy loss in accomplishing that much of his task. He had in his command eight companies of cavalry, and besides the usual losses incident to long range rifle and artillery fire, three of his eight companies were wiped off the map of the maneuvers by attempting to charge a strong line of infantry in position.

A Persian Dinner.

A traveler in Persia thus describes a dinner served in the household of a wealthy Persian: "The chief dish consists of a fowl boiled to rags, surrounded by a toothsome mass of rice, hard bolled eggs, fried onions, almonds and raisins. There is a Shiraz wine, clear, golden red liquid that has traveled over the mountain passes on muleback in a huge glass carboy. Among the dessert manna has a conspicuous place. This delicacy is somewhat akin to nougat; it is studded with walnuts and almonds and is jaw sticking to the last degree. Like the mango, it is best eaten in private, for it renders the masticator speechless. It is made of gum that exudes from a tree and is said to be engendered by a worm."-Chicago News.
