About

Cheese!

It's a dairy product and varies greatly in quality, depending upon many conditions. Certain localties seem to produce much finer goods than others, even where the process of making and curing is much the same. In this country, New York state produces the besttwo or three countiesnotably Herkimes, which makes a white, rich cheese that is famous the world over. Wisconsin full c: eam is liked by many, being a milder cheese than the Herkimes. We have them both. Nothing finer. Price 20c.

ROLLER SKATING.

Revival of a Former Amusement by

Hollingsworth & Spear a Success. The opening of Hollingsworth & Spear's roller skating rink in the Olney building at the corner of Main and First streets, last night was a gratifying success to the owners. One hundred and thirty-eight people responded to the invitations that had been sent out and found that the upper story of the Olney block had been converted into an ideal amusement hall. The place is 110 by 34 feet, was brilliantly lighted and has one of the best hardpine floors to be found

Music was furnished by the Italian orchestra and dancing was enjoyed until 10:30, when the floor was chalked and a rush was made for the skates. Having been waxed for dancing the floor was not quite right for skating even after the chalk had been applied, but it is considered that after a few days' use it will be in fine condition. All the skates were used except two pair, and many former lovers of the amusement found that they had not forgotten the art of sailing about on rollers and that the amusement was as enjoyable as when first introduced years ago. James Wolfkiel was the first gentleman to try the skates and Miss May Barrett was the first lady to put them on. The skating was kept up until the small hours of the morning.

The skates are all new and up to date, with hermicide rollers, adjustable to any size shoe, and there are a limited number of nickel plated, ball bearing skates with solid rubber rollers for fancy

It is the intention of Messrs, Hollings worth & Spear to cater to good people, keep a first class place and bar out all rowdyism and rowdies. Their opening was a winner and fortells a successful re- introduction of an amusement at one time highly popular.

Smiles and tears, mingled with laugh ter, is in store for those who visit the Auditorium when the justly celebrated rural comedy drama, "Si Perkins," will be presented. It is safe to say that no plays of the modern school appeal so strongly to American hearts as those of the "Si Perkins" order. Like "The Old Homestead" and "Shore Acres," "Si Perkins" has stood the test of time. And like Denman Thomas in the former and James Herne in "Shore Acres," Sam Burton has gained an enviable reputation as a Yankee dialect comedian and character actor. Seven years ago he originated the part of "Si Perkins," and has impersonated the role almost continuously since the first production. He is ably supported by Miss Lillie Coleman and a carefully selected meyer.

Some members of the football team tnink they have discovered a sufficient reason why the Randolph team should play such a good game. They are supported by the business men of Randolph in the amount of about $60 a month, while in Norfolk, a town of twice that size, it has been impossible to raise anywhere near a like sum.

Chris Anderson has returned to school and resumed the junior work. He has been working for the railroad a couple of years and it speaks well for his common sense and desire for knowledge that he should return after that time and take up the work where he left off while his companions have advanced that much ahead of him.

John Dingman probably carries the most scars as a result of the Randolph game, but Perry and Elseffer likewise wear mementos of the battle. Some of the marks would indicate foul tackling on the part of their opponents, as a
