

WITH THE LEGISLATURE.

Correspondent Tells of Work Being Done.

NORFOLK ASYLUM FAVORED.

Appropriations for it and the Penitentiary Not Ruled Out by Sears Resolution—Getting at Means for Increasing the Revenues.

Lincoln, Jan. 19, (Special Correspondence): The first two weeks of the legislative session, as usual, has been devoted to preliminary work. The organization, the formation of committees, and the printing of the early bills, as usual has held the attention of both houses. In the work so far done there is little to indicate the strength or energy of the individual members.

One feature of the organization which has attracted favorable attention is the movement to cut off sinecure places, and hold down the number of employees to a reasonable limit. The senate led in this movement, but there is indication that the number of places in the house will be lower than ever before. In the senate eight years ago there were 125 employees. There has been a gradual decrease, until this senate is getting along well with only 59. It is probable that the house will keep almost within the same limit.

A test of the earnestness of the house was seen when the Sears resolution was adopted by a large majority. It provided that no bills should come up for a third reading calling for appropriations for public buildings until after an adequate revenue bill should be formulated to raise sufficient money to get the state out of debt. This resolution was amended so as to permit appropriations for rebuilding or repairing buildings, which would seem to open the way for the completion of the penitentiary and the rebuilding of the Norfolk hospital. It is conceded that these two institutions have the better chance for appropriations in both ends of the legislature, without taking the Sears resolution into consideration. Many doubt the expediency of adding to the other institutions this session, except in cases of great emergency.

In the house there came up a proposition to form a special committee to take in hand the matter of a complete revenue bill. While some doubted the expediency of such a committee, it was acknowledged by all that some move made other than patch up the old revenue law in a haphazard manner. In the senate a move was made to order the revenue committee to report a new measure before February 15, giving it the right of way when it came. This motion was tabled after some debate, but members of the senate freely expressed the opinion that a joint committee of both houses for the purpose of formulating revenue bills would be the proper way to get at the matter. There is also much talk about a revenue committee to prepare a bill for presentation to the next legislature, or to be acted upon in special session next winter.

Not the least interesting among the propositions already up is the proposal to amend the Omaha charter so as to permit that city to assess railroad property locally, instead of distributing the money among the counties along the lines. Those who favor the measure argue that the valuable terminals located in Omaha now pay only a small tax to the city, in proportion to other property. Those who oppose the proposed amendment argue that to take these taxes for local purposes would mean a corresponding reduction in the amount now received by the rural counties. It is certain that the proposition will provide much discussion before the end of the session.

The Omaha delegations will come before the legislature with several other propositions which will increase the stir in the session. One is to change the date of the city election to later in the year; one to limit the service of any man for mayor to two terms; and one is to permit the annexation of South Omaha. On these propositions there is much division of sentiment in Douglas county, and several of the "advance guard" are already on the ground boosting for or against these amendments.

Those who have made a study of Nebraska legislators concede that the membership this session is made up of better material than ever before. It has often been remarked that more than usual care was exercised in the nominations, and fewer of the professional politician class were elected than in former years. With this good material and the overwhelming republican majority in both houses there is reason to expect the best of results.

WANT BETTER OIL.

Inspector Says People Don't Clean Their Lamps.

The quality of oil being furnished by the oil monopoly to the people of Nebraska is cause for general complaint and it is hoped that the present administration may provide relief of some character. It is now alleged that the present oil inspection law does not provide for a test as to purity and that as a consequence oil that is ruled out in other states is brought to Nebraska and sold. The present law provides that the oil shall be safe and that there shall be no risk from explosions with its ordinary use. The more impurities there are in the oil, the less likely will it be to explode and the monopoly evidently believes in getting on the safe side of the law, and is furnishing a quality of oil that it would be difficult to explode under almost any conditions. If this is the situation, the legislature should certainly provide for an oil that will conform to both tests—that will be inflammable enough to burn, but that will not be liable to explode under ordinary intelligent use.

A business man, speaking on the question of oil quality said this morning: "Mr. Hayes, the state oil inspector, has informed the people of the state that the oil they have been trying to burn for the past six months is really a pure article, and the whole fault is that the people do not properly care for their lamps. Mr. Hayes does not stop to explain how it happens that everybody in the state of Nebraska suddenly and at the same time began to neglect their lamps, and complain about the oil. Now, if Mr. Hayes was an inquiring turn of mind he would take down any lamp that has burned much oil for the last six months, and he would find in the bottom of that lamp a yellow and viscid substance, and if he should wash the oil out of it and then throw it in the fire he would see that it would fry and sputter instead of burn. And then if Mr. Hayes should sit down and take a rest and try to think, he would most likely decide that that substance was oil impurity, and that it was in the oil when he inspected it, and that it settled to the bottom when the oil burned, and that it was taken up by the wick and made the lamp sputter and smoke. Then if he would go to any oil dealer and inquire about it he would find that the oil he had been selling at retail for 15 cents a gallon was universally condemned, but now he has another grade of oil he sells at 18 cents, and there is still another grade that sells at 25 cents. Then if Mr. Hayes would go to any sharp commercial man and ask about the oil business, anybody but one of his own deputy inspectors, the commercial man would smile and say: why, of course, that is one of the tricks of the trade. The Standard oil company sent out impure oil that would not burn, and when people could not stand it any longer the company sent out a better grade to sell at an advance of 20 per cent, or 40 per cent, and the people had to buy it. Of course the pious Mr. Rockefeller had to make up the millions he gave to the Chicago university."

Those who will take part in the junior play are: Edith Vele, Louise Whippis, Ethel Long, Oliver Uter, Ralph Birchard and Will Stafford. W. S. Hitzman of Lincoln, president of the state teachers' association, was here Monday and addressed the high school, giving a pleasing short talk. The high school orchestra held a meeting last Friday night with Clyde Bullock for the purpose of providing for the payment of bills that are due and transacting other business. A portion of the seventh grade library books have been received and the balance have been ordered. The books received are neatly and firmly bound and will make a foundation for a nice library. If other pupils realized how embarrassing it is to have someone giggle and laugh when they are taking part in general exercises they would undoubtedly observe the golden rule and maintain better decorum. It has been noticed that none of the freshmen are taking part in the general exercises, presumably because the faculty considers that they are not capable of attempting such exalted work. They need not fear. Their time is coming. Those in the neighborhood of the Lincoln school not familiar with the new ringing of the bell were frightened the other day and rushed over to see if a fire had broken out or something else unusual happened. Since the ringing mechanism has been disabled the clapper has been tossed against the bell by an arrangement that produces something resembling a fire alarm. One of Norfolk's prominent attorneys said the other day: "If the pupils of the public schools fully realized the benefits to be derived from taking part in the general exercises provided there would be no lack for those to take part. After years will develop the wisdom of just such training as these exercises provide. It is a golden opportunity that should not be slighted."

KANE AS TRUANT OFFICER.

Arrests a Quartette of Boys at Jane Johnson's.

BOYS WERE WELL FRIGHTENED.

They Had Been Playing "Hookie" and the Parents Complained to the Chief of Police Who Undertook to Give Them a Lesson.

Yesterday afternoon Marshal Kane gave a quartette of boys a fright that will perhaps last them for some time. Their names are Massie, Brady, Baldwin and Pratt. They are precocious youngsters of 12 to 15 years old and they have been in the habit of playing "hookie" when they were supposed to be in school. The Massie boy's mother had complained to the marshal that her boy was roaming the streets and requested that he be located and locked up, and the same request had come from the Brady boy's father. The marshal learned that the Massie boy was at the Junction and went down to find him. He finally traced him to the home of Jane Johnson, a colored woman who is better known in town as "Old Jane". When he inquired for the boys, Jane looked him in the eye and told him she didn't know "nothin' 'bout no boys." The marshal believed she was lying, however, and pushed through the room to a door leading into her bed room. There he saw a suspicious pair of heels sticking out from under the bed, and it only took a short time to find others. When he finished his roundup he had the four boys named, some of whom were found under the bed and others behind the door.

The boys were brought up town, and two of them, Massie and Brady, were locked up pursuant to the request of their parents, while the other two were turned loose and warned not to be caught again under similar circumstances. After keeping the two about an hour, the Massie and Brady boys were delivered to their parents.

While the boys had committed no crime greater than playing truant they were all in bad company, and unless they mend their ways they soon all will be on the way to the reform school.

It seems strange in this day when only those men who have something in the way of education can succeed in the close competition with the world, that any boy would deliberately fritter away the advantages offered by the free public school system of this country, and yet such is the perversity of human nature that opportunities are not appreciated until they have passed beyond recall.

THURSDAY TIDINGS.

John Kiewitter of Wisner visited with Norfolk friends yesterday.

Geo. D. Smith has purchased the Dell Barnes 20 acres west of J. W. Bovee's farm.

Herman Cleus of Battle Creek is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Ecker, and other Norfolk friends.

Chas. Wehrer, who has been clerking in the Davenport shoe store, has resigned to accept a position behind the counters of the Star clothing store.

Norfolk merchants report yesterday as an especially dull day. However, that is expected at this season of the year and most of them are patiently awaiting the opening up of spring trade.

Today is the 71st anniversary of the birth of Mrs. J. Madsen and a large number of friends and neighbors have contributed toward purchasing her a suitable present to remind her of the occasion.

The Wisner bowling team came up last night and defeated a Norfolk team by winning two out of three games, the highest team score being 846. Malshart of Wisner rolled the highest individual score, 215.

Protection lodge, No. 101, Degree of Honor, has changed its place of meeting from Odd Fellows hall to the Railway hall at South Norfolk, where the first meeting will be held this evening. A large number of the members live at South Norfolk and the change is made to accommodate them.

A porter in one of Norfolk's barber shops has evidently missed his calling. He should be an ad-writer for some progressive mercantile house if the sign he displays may be taken as evidence of his ability in that direction. The card reads: "Pedal ligaments artistically lubricated and well illuminated for the infinitesimal remuneration of 5 and 10 cents per operation."

Commissioner H. W. Winter of this city, who has been vice president of the state association of commissioners and supervisors, was honored by being elected president of the association at yesterday's meeting in Omaha. The association has given its endorsement to the bill now before the legislature providing that the terms of county officers shall be extended and that the number of elections shall be reduced.

A McKinley birthday celebration will be held in the M. E. church on the evening of January 29, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Woman's Relief Corps, at which there will be appropriate exercises, including music, an address by Hon. W. M. Robertson and a lecture on the Philippine islands by Captain J. H. Culver, the new adjutant general of Nebraska, and an officer in the Philippine army. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

Sunday Lincoln Journal: An approaching event which will be of great interest to society folk in Lincoln, and to university people throughout the state, is the junior prom, which will be held at the Lincoln hotel Friday evening, February 6. The junior prom. is always the most elaborate function in university social circles during the year and its prestige places it easily above similar affairs in Nebraska. It is an independent institution, as old as the university, and a great many alumni return for the dance every year, to renew acquaintances and keep in touch with the life. University society people make it a point to never miss the junior prom. for it is by far the best night on the season's calendar. Prospects at present, but little more than two weeks ahead of the dance, indicate that the affair this year will be the most elaborate in the history of the institution. A large committee is doing everything possible to make the event a success. Edgar F. Davis is chairman and Norris A. Huse is master of ceremonies.

HOUSE TALKS OF COINAGE.

Minority Wish American Currency Extended to Philippine Islands.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The house spent yesterday in debate on the Philippine coinage bill. The minority offered a substitute providing for the introduction of the American currency system into the island and it received powerful support from Hill (Rep. Conn.), who declared on the floor that the proposition for the extension of the American system had the support of Secretary Shaw and other high officials of the treasury department. Those who participated in the debate were Cooper (Wis.), Jones (Va.), Maddox (Ga.), Patterson (Tenn.), Shafroth (Colo.), Crumpacker (Ind.), Williams (Ill.), Hill (Conn.), Cannon (Ill.), Robinson (Ind.) and Williams (Mass.).

President Signs Militia Bill.

Washington, Jan. 22.—President Roosevelt yesterday signed the militia bill, recently passed by congress. The final act in the making of the new law was attended by a pretty ceremony. Gathered around the table as the president appended his signature to the measure were Secretary Root, Secretary Shaw, the members of the house committee on military affairs and General M. H. Byers, adjutant general of Iowa. After the president had signed the bill, Secretary Root delivered a brief speech of congratulation to the committee on the enactment of so excellent a measure.

Want Secret Inquiry Abolished.

St. Louis, Jan. 22.—During yesterday's session of the biennial council of the American Hebrew congregations, the committee on relations with foreign governments submitted a report criticizing the bureau of immigration for inquiring of Russian immigrants whether they were Jews, and then in its reports stating the number of Russian Jews in a separate class from the other Russians. It expressed a desire to have the bureau abolish the secret inquiry at the port of entry. The report was adopted.

Anti-Trust Bill is Ready.

Washington, Jan. 22.—A meeting of the full sub-committee of the house judiciary committee was held yesterday and an anti-trust bill adopted. The Democratic members of the committee reserved the right to offer such amendments as they might desire when the bill comes before the house. The bill will be reported to the full committee tomorrow.

Fulton Gains Three Votes.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 22.—C. W. Fulton gained three votes in the balloting for United States senator yesterday and it is understood that at least three of the Multnomah county delegation will be found voting for him before many more ballots are taken. With these Fulton will be only twelve short of election. Ex-Governor Geer lost two votes to Fulton.

Deadlock in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 22.—Six ballots were taken last night by the Democratic senatorial caucus without breaking the deadlock. Overman is still in the lead.
